FLOOD KILLS 1,000 JAPANESE

30,000 ATTEND AS 'STREAMLINE REVIVAL' STARTS

Gear Teachings to 20th Century.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The National Preaching mission yesterday began in Chicago a four day modernistic evangelistic program which was hailed by the city's Protestantism as the greatest effort ever made to reach the people with a message in tune with life as it is lived in the twentieth century. It is a "streamlined revival," declared its leaders, who estimated that more than 30,000 persons attended loop meetings during the day and ten community meetings last night.

DR. E. STANLEY JONES.

"There never has been anything like it," declared William R. King of New York, speaking before the ministers' luncheon at Central Y. M. C. A., 19 South La Salle street. "It heralds a new kind of ministry for Protestantism in this country. We have taken evangelism out of the hands of the 'queer' folks and have given it back into the hands of solid leadership in local churches."

No More Sawdust Trail.

Gone is the "sawdust trail" and gone is the old-time traveling evangelist. But convictions yesterday ran deep—possibly much deeper than they did when emotions were loosed from reason. Heaven was not mentioned by yesterday's speakers—nor hell. The church was plied with questions. Can it measure up to demands of the modern temper?

This was the query of Dr. Oscar F. Blackwelder, pastor of a Lutheran church which is within a stone's throw of the new United States Supreme Court building in Washington, D. C., as he spoke before 1,000 pastors during the ministers' luncheon. His subject was, "Can the church win?"

"No institution will be taken for granted from now on," Dr. Blackwelder warned, and specified toppling historic sanctions ranging from economic orders to freedom of press and religion. "The church is being required to render an account of her stewardship and show just cause for her continued maintenance through contributions, clerical discounts, and various exemptions.

Need Larger Formula.

"We must find a larger working formula for an expanding universe and a greater faith in Christ. Who knows Christ knows all. That is the major thesis of evangelical Christianity. All else is subhead and method."

Dr. Blackwelder asked the pastors to compare history's two "most influential figures," Christ and Karl Marx.

"Christ had insights and clews without which economic solutions will not be permanent," he said. "Marx was destructive; Christ constructive. Marx built on vengeance; Christ built on love. Marx built on revolution; Christ on evolution. Marx used a club; Christ a cross. Marx used rules; Christ principles."

Urges Practice of Confession.

More than 1,000 Protestant women were exhorted to practice confession yesterday by Dr. E. Stanley Jones, English missionary and author of "Christ of the Indian Road," at a women's luncheon in the Hotel Sherman. The meeting was in connection with the National Preaching mission.

"Tell some friend about the things that worry you," he said. "It can be in the presence of God or not, as you like."

Dr. Jones said he would thus release them from "fear and inhibitions" and make them "free to express a true Christian life." He told of a man who recently came to him. The man was losing his mind, he said, and confessed to Dr. Jones that he had been unfaithful to his wife. The minister called in the wife, urged her not to be shocked and to be forgiving, and the husband confessed his breach of conduct. "He went out cured," said Dr. Jones.

"Why should people run to the divorce courts at the first touch of difficulty?" he asked. "Why not emu-

TROOPS CALLED IN HEARING OF BEAUTY'S DEATH

Defense Loses Plea to See Evidence.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on Back Page.)

New Castle, Ky., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—A troop of state police and a dozen sharpshooting deputy sherifs arrived here tonight as an advance guard to prevent any violence tomorrow when Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt is arraigned for the murder of Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor, beautiful La Grange, Ky., widow. These extraordinary precautions are being taken because the passions of the countryside have been aroused against the general since his fiancée was shot to death on Nov. 6.

"Because of the intense feeling against the general and the murmuring that some of Mrs. Taylor's kinfolk were preparing for any emergency," said Evan Harrod, 6 foot 5 inch sherif of Henry county, tonight, "we are going to be ready to repel any attempt against the general's life."

Assure Early Action.

The examining trial here before Judge A. S. Morgan was assured today when the Court of Appeals, Kentucky's highest court, denied a petition for a writ of prohibition filed by Denhardt's lawyers who sought an order overruling the refusal of Judge Morgan to allow them access to articles of clothing, the death revolver, official reports on the midnight autopsy conducted on Mrs. Taylor's body, and other items of evidence held by the state.

In its opinion, the Appeals court, which consists of five associate justices and Chief Justice William Rogers Clay, said that the defense has no right to any of these articles held by the state until after they are placed in evidence.

If the items are placed in evidence, the decision stated, the defense then has the right to examine them and also has the right to a continuance of the hearing in order to allow ballistics experts and chemists time to make the same tests as made by the state.

Will Allow Postponement.

Although this does not grant the immediate delay sought by the general's legal staf, it does provide loopholes through which they will be able to postpone the hearing if the prosecution is willing to bare its findings. The defense lawyers, headed by John Marshall Barry of this village and Rodes K. Myers of Bowling Green, also disclosed tonight that Gen. Denhardt ultimately will take the witness stand to tell his own story and give an entirely different view of his relationship with Mrs. Taylor.

"The prosecution has said from the beginning that Gen. Denhardt shot Mrs. Taylor when she told him she could not go through with their marriage as planned," said one of the lawyers who refused to allow his name to be used.

"Begging" for Marriage.

"The truth of the matter was that Mrs. Taylor was begging the general to marry her. He will tell the truth about this when the day of his trial comes. Until he is forced to do so, however, he does not want to say anything which might reflect upon Mrs. Taylor."

Such testimony would constitute a direct contradiction of the theory of the slaying as outlined by the prosecuting lawyers, H. B. Kinsolving, commonwealth attorney; J. Wirt Turner of this village, and County Attorney James Thomas. They assert that all available evidence tends to prove that Mrs. Taylor's two daughters, Frances, 17 years old, and Mary-Pryor, 22 years old, and other members of her family had violently opposed her match with the soldier-politician. They say the killing came after she acceded to their protests and so informed him.

Girls Ready to Testify.

"Both the daughters will be here tomorrow," said Coroner D. L. Ricketts, who has been in direct charge of the investigation into the tragedy. "They are prepared to testify that their mother told them the general had threatened her several times when she tried to break off their affair.

"The Taylor daughters will say that the general told their mother: 'If you don't marry me you won't marry any one.'"

The coroner today also confirmed

Workers Pass Third Night in Bendix Plant

BY WILLIAM O'NEIL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Hundreds of workers in the Bendix Products corporation plant here prepared tonight to spend the third night of their self-imprisonment in an attempt to secure 100 per cent unionization of the factory as company officials and committee for industrial organization representatives ended an all-day conference without reaching a settlement. The conference is scheduled to reopen at 11 o'clock in the morning.

President Vincent Bendix, who did not attend the conference, said that he had no comment to make. Yesterday he said the plant never would be unionized. Robert C. Fox and Edward C. McDonald, federal conciliation commissioners, said they hoped for an early and peaceful settlement of the strike, which threatens to tie up the rush season production of new cars through inability of the manufacturers to obtain the necessary parts for their new models.

Speak for Company.

John P. Mahoney, vice president in charge of production, headed the Bendix group, which included George Weber, personnel director; William Pueschel, production superintendent, and E. S. Cassels, the company's attorney.

Homer Martin, international president of the United Automobile Workers of America; Thomas J. Jeffers, local president, and his executive committee: Adolph Germer of Detroit, and Leo Krzycki of Chicago, both C. I. O. organizers, were among those on the union side of the table in a downtown hotel.

L. W. Beman, regional director of the national labor relations board from Chicago, arrived here today.

Seeks Labor Vote.

Beman said his chief interest in the present difficulty is in connection with the federal circuit court hearing set for Dec. 10 in Chicago when Beman's organization will attempt to have lifted an injunction obtained by the Bendix company a year ago to stop a labor vote at the plant.

Martin denied reports from Atlanta, Ga., that he had told United Auto strikers in the General Motors plants there that he would close all the G. M. C. plants in the country to help them win their strike.

"Are you planning to call a country-wide General Motors strike?" he was asked.

"I wouldn't tell you if I was, now, would I?" he replied with a grin. "I don't want to say anything about that."

Union men inside the plant were beginning today to take something of a bitter attitude against the company for their stay in the plant. Those in the tool shop, where there appeared to be more than a hundred men walking up and down the ailes to keep warm, said that there had been no heat in their section of the plant since Tuesday morning.

"We nearly froze last night, but the heat's on now so I'm getting all of it I can," one woman yelled from the carburetor division window.

COMMUNIST FLAG IS SHOT DOWN ON BELOIT CAMPUS

Beloit, Wis., Nov. 19.—(AP)—A communist flag, fluttering from a flagpole on the Beloit college campus, was shot down late today by Detective Lieutenant Daniel G. Torresi of the city police department.

For hours college authorities attempted to find a way to lower the flag, which had a white sickle and hammer on a scarlet background. It was impossible to haul it down in the usual manner, because the ropes had been cut.

After repeated attempts to snare it with an arrow and by climbing the pole failed, Torresi was called upon. He cut the ropes after several shots.

Hangs by Foot 120 Feet Up 2 Hours; Saved

East St. Louis, Ill., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Saved from death in a heroic rescue after dangling 120 feet in the air for two hours, Bob Verieter, St. Louis steeplejack, was in St. Mary's hospital here tonight with a broken leg.

Verieter was working at the top of a 200 foot smokestack at a Granite City brewery today when he heard the lunch hour whistle blow. He began to lower himself toward the ground. The rope holding the painter's seat on which he sat slipped and he fell. As he plunged, his foot became entangled in the rope holding the seat. He dropped eighty feet and then stopped with a jerk; his foot caught in the rope.

Firemen Bring Ladders.

Several persons who saw his fall summoned the Granite City fire department. When a ladder company arrived the firemen found their longest ladder was many feet too short to reach the dangling man.

The East St. Louis fire department was called and a second ladder company, with a longer ladder, sped to the scene. Meanwhile, Verieter dangled and banged against the side of the smokestack. When the East St. Louis firemen arrived and ran up their ladder they found that it failed by five feet to reach the steeplejack.

Phone calls were made to the St. Louis fire department for a third and still longer ladder. While they waited, however, East St. Louis firemen threw a rope around the smokestack 120 feet in the air. Then, using that rope, two firemen slowly inched themselves up the five foot gap.

Slip Would Mean Death.

When the two firemen reached Verieter, other firemen scampered up the ladder. The two firemen beside the steeplejack braced themselves with their feet, tied another rope around the dangling man, and then cut the rope which held his foot. A slip would have plunged all three men 120 feet to their deaths.

Finally, with Verieter secured by the new rope, the firemen began to lower him inch by inch. At last the steeplejack was within grasp of the firemen on the ladder. One of the two firemen perched on the side of the smokestack took off his hat, let it fall, reached into his pocket for a handkerchief and wiped his head. The two rescuers then began lowering themselves to the top of the ladder. By the time they reached it Verieter was on his way to the hospital.

Dam Bursts, Wrecks Homes in Five Towns

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Nov. 20 [Friday].—Police reported that 1,000 persons were drowned in a flood following the bursting of a reservoir dam above the Osaruzawa copper mines in Akita prefecture of northern Japan at 3 a. m. today.

Three hundred bodies were recovered from the Yoneshiro river several hours after the dam's collapse. Other bodies were recovered from villages and towns in the path of the flood. It is feared the death toll may rise to 1,200.

Hundreds Are Missing.

Several hundred persons were missing. There were only eighteen known survivors. Many miners' houses were destroyed by the raging torrent and sleeping miners, their wives and children swept to death.

As the dam broke the stored up water, normally used for washing copper ore, roared down the valley. The muddy torrent contained a poisonous copper sulphite solution.

The flood hit the mining towns of Nakanozawa, Harukizawa, Uribata, Shinbori, and Nishiobizuguchi, situated just below the dam. The wall of water passed into the Yoneshiro river, carrying with it the débris of destruction.

Only last month Japan was hit by another disaster, this in the form of a typhoon. The typhoon swept over Japan and Corea, destroyed nearly 700 houses, wrecked hundreds of others, sank hundreds of fishing boats, and took about 250 lives. For a time Tokio was periled, but fortunately the typhoon veered eastward and into the Pacific. Hokkaido, northernmost of the main islands, suffered worst. There eight persons alone were killed by a landslide.

Typhoons Japan's Greatest Peril.

Except for occasional quakes, typhoons are Japan's greatest and most consistent perils. There has been at least one of major proportions yearly during the last few years. In May and July, 1930, typhoons struck, and also in October, 1931; November, 1932; September, 1933; September, 1934, and August, 1935.

The 1934 typhoon was particularly disastrous, streaking across the sea of Japan and northward to the island of Sakhalin, and leaving more than 2,000 dead, 13,000 injured, and 300 missing in its 300 mile wide swath.

RESCUE 5 WOMEN AND MAN TRAPPED IN FLATS BY FIRE

Using ladders, firemen early today rescued five women and one man who were trapped by fire and smoke in their apartments on the second and third floors of the apartment building at 711 North Dearborn street. Twenty other residents were escorted to safety.

The fire, supposedly started by a cigaret butt, broke out on the second floor. The flames spread so rapidly that escape for most of the residents on that floor and the third was cut off. When first fire companies arrived they found men and women at the windows calling for help.

Under direction of Lieut. Thomas Bradbury of hook and ladder company No. 3 and Lieut. Timothy Sheely of truck No. 9 ladders were raised at the front and rear of the building. Firemen quickly climbed to the aid of the besieged. From the third floor they carried down Mrs. Helen Vavrick, 50 years old, and her two daughters, Mary, 23, and Helen, 20. From the second floor front they brought down Miss Wilma Richards, 44, and her sister, Miss Dora Richards, about the same age. From the second floor rear the rescuers carried James Darr, 76, to safety.

COPS A-CHASE FOR BEAR; FIND SELVES CHASED

Arlington, W. Va., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Policeman Bob Black and Deputy Sherif Cecil Blumfield, afield for bear, saw two cubs playing in a hole. Just the thing for children's pets, they agreed, dropping their rifles and advancing into the pit.

An old bear lumbered over a hill and charged. They sprinted for a tree with a very slight lead.

The old bear circled the tree for an hour, then finally went home to its cubs, releasing Black and Blumfield.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Both the French and British governments, according to a source close to the French foreign office, are frightened and undecided in the face of Gen. Francisco Franco's threat to blockade Barcelona, strong supporter of the Spanish loyalist régime. The first question in their minds is, with what ships will the Spanish rebel chief blockade the big Catalan port? Franco possesses only two cruisers and a few smaller craft armed mainly with machine guns.

French officials assume the blockading will be done by Italian and German warships camouflaged to resemble Spanish Fascist ships. In other words, the Spanish war may be further complicated by sea fights between Russian, Italian, and German ships.

Britain to Let Franco Alone.

Immediately on receiving news of the blockade threat, the British and French foreign offices communicated by telephone to try to reach an accord.

The British attitude seems to be to let Gen. Franco do what he likes, provided he sets aside a safety zone for British ships and does not interfere with British shipping. The French government is less disinterested and, on good authority, is said to have proposed to Britain to send warships along with merchant ships to protect them against the Barcelona blockade. But one thing is certain, France will not act without Britain.

BRITAIN TO GUARD SHIPS

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Great Britain and France replied today to the evergrowing threat of general European hostilities over the Spanish civil war by taking precautionary measures in the Mediterranean, and especially off Barcelona. This Catalonian port has been announced as the objective of a Spanish rebel blockade designed to prevent Russian war supplies from reaching the Madrid loyalist government.

British Policy Unchanged.

Capt. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, after conferring with Andre Charles Corbin, French ambassador, told the house of commons that the policy of nonintervention in the Spanish civil war is unchanged by Italo-German recognition of Gen. Francisco Franco's Fascist régime. It was disclosed tonight, however, that the gravest anxiety exists both in London and Paris over potential, clash-provoking incidents in the Mediterranean.

The dapper foreign chief engaged in a heated skirmish with the communist, Willie Gallacher, during the parliamentary session. Italy and Germany had been mentioned amid cries of shame when Eden shouted at Gallacher, "As far as breaches of neutrality are concerned, other governments [referring apparently to soviet Russia] are more to blame than either Germany or Italy."

Defends Fascist States.

"It is possible to pursue a policy of nonintervention while recognizing the government of one side or the other," the foreign chief said.

The British government, it was learned tonight, is in communication with rebel junta authorities at Burgos, Spain, about details of their blockade warning of yesterday. Presumably the exchanges with Burgos are to insist that Franco must be able actually to make his blockade effective and also provide safe anchorage for neutral shipping in case of bombardment.

Gen. Franco informed the British admiralty today that the safety of neutral ships along the Spanish Mediterranean coast is assured only in certain areas off Valencia, Tarragona, Alicante, and Cartagena. No safety zone is specified for Barcelona, as demanded by Britain.

Replying to a question in the commons as to whether British ships will still be protected "if they are taking goods to Barcelona," Eden said:

"The rules which normally govern international action in these matters will be pursued by his majesty's ships in the defense of legitimate British interests."

No disclosures were made here as to exactly what preliminary precautions were taken by the British and French in the Mediterranean. France has two warships at Barcelona. The British have the cruiser Arethusa and several destroyers there.

Evades Questioning.

Although Eden tonight evaded close questioning on the subject, it was made clear the Burgos plan to blockade and bombard Barcelona was sent out two days ago to all the powers. Mussolini and Hitler immediately recognized Gen. Franco in order to facilitate requirements of international law, and no doubt exists here that both will now augment their supplies of arms to the rebels.

One reason for the precipitate Italo-German action, it appears, is that an important shipment of Russian war materials is en route to Barcelona and recognition of the rebels will facilitate interception by Franco's ships.

Two Russian vessels recently were held up and compelled to unload their cargoes at rebel ports, it is reported. The lack of forcible protests from Moscow is regarded as significant.

Dismayed at Conflict.

British anxiety over the Mediterranean situation was augmented by dismay over what is seen to have widened the gulf between the two European blocs which have grown out of the Spanish war—namely, the Fascist countries and France, Russia and their allies.

Both the British and French appear more convinced that the anti-Red agreement between Germany and Italy is only to conceal the grouping of further nationalistic aims on the Spanish peninsula. Observers are becoming more certain here that the Fascist countries' real aim is to gain sufficient foothold in Spain and the Balearic islands to close Gibraltar to the British fleet and make the Mediterranean an Italian lake.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, the German ambassador, called at the foreign office today apparently in response to the resentment and anger caused here by announcement of the German-Japanese alliance. The reaction led to violent outbursts in the press which apparently has caused some concern in Germany.

Plan Neutrality Meeting.

Meanwhile British diplomacy is busy tonight trying to keep the machinery of the Spanish nonintervention committee from being scrapped. The subcommittee has a meeting scheduled for Monday to discuss whether observers for arms embargo control are to be stationed in about forty points along the Spanish frontier and in Spanish ports at a cost of $5,000,000.

It remains to be seen whether the nonintervention committee survives the action of Hitler and Mussolini yesterday and whether Monday's meeting does not serve to increase irritation between the rival groups rather than act as a shock absorber.

Although it has long been apparent that both sides in Spain have been receiving material aid from foreign sources, none of the nations adhering to the nonintervention agreement appears to be prepared at the moment to incur international odium by openly breaking it. The British government, it is understood, received assurances that Germany and Italy intend to remain on the committee at present.

Democratic countries' spokesmen appeared considerably disconcerted over the swiftness of the moves this week of their Fascist opponents. The dictators pulled their coups in fast succession: First, Germany repudiated part 12 of the Versailles treaty on river control; second, agreements between Germany, Japan and Italy were disclosed, and third, Mussolini and Hitler recognized Gen. Franco.

Some diplomats thought tonight that Germany and Italy might lift their arms embargo to Gen. Franco openly, which would confront France and Britain with grave decisions. Many think the dictators are seeking to force events to an issue before the British armament program is complete.

Meanwhile the Italians are furiously angry again at the British, and the newly hatched Italo-British entente over the Mediterranean appears to be suffering from the effects of mutual press abuse over the new situation.

Goes Layette Shopping; Gets Child and Clothes

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 19.—(AP)—A mother went shopping for baby clothes and returned with the baby and its layette. The baby, a 5½ pound girl, was born to Mrs. Mary Mazula, 23, in a doctor's office where she stopped to rest after the shopping trip.

20,000 Germans to Help Franco Make Spain Fascist

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 19.—Agramonte y Cortijo, Gen. Francisco Franco's ambassador to Berlin, today started a registration of all Spaniards living in Germany to provide with new passports those who meet with his approval. A number of Spaniards who feared Franco and his Spanish junta might brand them as "Marxists" have left Germany.

Official German circles are preparing to send large groups of Germans to Spain "to help reconstruct the country" as soon as he has seized the territory still in the hands of the Madrid government. They estimate that from 20,000 to 25,000 Germans will be able to find jobs in Spain.

"Third Member of Union."

Nazi officials assert "democratic countries believe big sums of money are needed to reconstruct the country. Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany know how to use national man power to surmount difficulties and do not need big financial aid to achieve their aims. We shall teach Spain, the third member of our union, how to do it."

More than 3,000 war refugees from Spain, it was announced today, are being distributed among towns and villages of the Rhine valley for the winter. The Nazi "strength through joy" movement organized a special department to care for the refugees.

Though newspapers of all countries surrounding Germany have published long reports of a German-Italian-Japanese accord against communism, the matter is ignored by the German press.

The Austrian foreign minister, Dr. Guido Schmidt, conferred with Reichsfuehrer Hitler today and attended formal receptions in his honor. Discussion centered on economic cooperation between Germany and Austria.

Duce Rushes Italian Arming.

ROME, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini and his Fascist grand council today ordered speeding of air and naval armaments in case Italian and German recognition of the Spanish Fascist insurgents should bring serious international complications.

The accredited Italian chargé d'affaires, Filippo de Ciutiis, tonight was en route aboard an Italian warship to the seat of the provisional government of the insurgent general, Francisco Franco.

As Mussolini's foreign office gathered in foreign reaction to the German and Italian recognition of Franco yesterday, the Fascist grand council declared "the military preparations of Italy in this special moment must be accelerated, above all in the aerial and naval fields."

Scout Report of Aid for Rebels.

The Spanish situation, official circles were agreed, was the proper interpretation of the "special moment" phrase.

European fears that Italy and Germany might send direct aid to the forces of Gen. Franco now that they have approved his government as the legal one in Spain were scouted by competent government sources.

There was no reason to believe, these sources said, that the action in any way would affect Italy's position as a member of the London nonintervention committee.

Expect No Break with Russia.

A source authorized to speak for the government said Italy did not expect a break with soviet Russia, the most strident foreign supporter of the constituted Spanish Madrid government.

There were Italian ships and consuls in ports still held by the Madrid government, he said, and "there has been no order to withdraw them. Italians, however, may be warned to get out because they can no longer be assured of protection."

The Stefani [Italian] News agency reported that Austria and Hungary would formally approve the Spanish Fascist junta soon.

COLD DOWN TO 16 BELOW HITS IN N. ENGLAND

Boston, Mass., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—With morning temperature readings ranging from 16 below zero atop Mount Washington to 14 above in Boston, all cold weather records for the date were shattered throughout New England today. Fires, fought under the handicap of high winds as well as the cold, caused numerous injuries and damage running into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The cold snap, the second of the current week, was moderating rapidly today with still warmer weather predicted for tomorrow.

Most spectacular of the fires was that which destroyed the summer home of Dean Wallace B. Donham of the Harvard law school at Chatham with a loss of $35,000. Several other summer residences in the Pleasant bay colony were damaged as the Chatham firemen fought the flames with the thermometer only 12 above zero.

At Meddybemps, Me., 11 year old Jean Spaulding was burned to death when fire destroyed a ten room lodging house.

FASCIST PLANES WRECK HEART OF SPANISH CAPITAL

Buildings Ripped Apart; Crowds Sliced Down.

MADRID, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Fascist aerial bombs struck in the heart of Madrid again today, partly wrecking the postoffice, the central bank and an ornate palace, once the home of the marquis of Linares.

Crowds in the postoffice were sliced down by shrapnel from the exploding bombs, and unestimated numbers were killed.

The front of the building was ripped apart, and windows were shattered. There was an unconfirmed report that one of the bombs crashed through to the main floor of the building.

Street Cars Jerked in Air.

Two street cars were jerked into the air by the force of the fearful explosions in Cibeles square, near the postoffice. The crowded straphangers in the cars were cut down, and most of them were believed killed.

Diagonally across from the postoffice, the palace of the marquis, more recently used as a government barracks, was partially torn down by another bomb.

A third bomb, apparently aimed at the nearby war ministry, crashed through several floors of the Central bank, formerly the Banco del Rio de la Plata.

[Fascist leaders outside Madrid reported that their forces had wheeled artillery within the city limits of Madrid to reply at closer range to the government shelling.]

Business District in Ruins.

The horror of the two-week bombardment was plainly etched on the faces of wearied Madrilenos as they surveyed the ruins of much of their once beautiful city.

Much of the business district was nothing but a smouldering pile of wreckage. Store fronts were crushed in, apartment houses were sliced in half. Everywhere were begrimed knots of rescuers poking about the ruins for bodies.

The crash of exploding shells and bombs shook almost all the city as refugees from the outlying areas under bombardment flocked into the business sections to seek protection in the supposedly more stable buildings.

Death Carts Common Sight.

Death carts—by now a familiar sight to Madrilenos—rattled to and from the morgue all day. Weeping Madrilenos whose relatives had not been accounted for gathered in groups near the morgue.

It was difficult to estimate the dead in the day's bombardments, but the morgue was stacked high with mutilated bodies of men, women and children. More than 300 persons were reported killed in air raids during the last two days, while some sources set the injured as high as 800.

Five Bombers Chased Away.

Earlier in the day five rebel bombers soared over the city in a reconnoitering trip. They turned and sped away when government ships took the air against them.

Weary firemen continued to fight fires, estimated at slightly less than 500 since the siege began. Not a single member of the Madrid fire department had checked back in at their stations after being on continuous duty since 8 p. m. Tuesday.

The dean of the Madrid faculty of medicine and a committee from the San Carlos hospital protested to the emergency defense council against bombing of the clinical center.

They sent letters to the defense junta, the British and French embassies calling attention to the attack on the hospital, which they said was destroyed with all its equipment. The medical center was the only one in the capital given over to treatment of serious cases necessitating immediate operations.

Diplomats Protest Raids.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

MADRID, Nov. 19.—[Censored.]—Members of the diplomatic corps will bring to the notice of their respective governments the distress caused in Madrid by repeated rebel bombardments. The diplomats today expressed themselves as much disturbed at the serious conditions prevailing, especially the fact that Madrid is a target for artillery and air bombardments that are devastating large areas.

A resolution was unanimously passed that each head of mission or chargé d'affaires should draw the attention of his government to this state of affairs with a view to moving the league of nations or any other appropriate international organization to end or mitigate the civilian population's situation.

21 PLANES IN AIR RAID

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CASA DE CAMPO [west of Madrid], Nov. 19.—The Fascist insurgents celebrated this day of rejoicing—the army got word this morning of the recognition of Gen. Francisco Franco's government by Germany and Italy—by staging a devastating air bombardment of the loyalist lines west of Madrid. The western edge of Madrid probably was subjected to the most destructive punishment known since the airplane became an engine of death and ruin.

Twenty-one bombers took part in the attack, approaching the city from two different directions. Over the loyalist lines the two squadrons twice made interlocking circles with each other and each time they wheeled about each plane dropped two 550 pound bombs. Thus each plane dropped four enormous bombs and together they dropped twenty-one tons of high explosives on the buildings and lines where the loyalists were taking cover.

Hit Near Royal Palace.

From this point just west of Madrid the bombs seemed to be hitting on a line behind the royal palace near the senate, North railway station, and the royal theater. The model prison was avoided on the chance that it may yet contain some Fascist prisoners. The neutral zone for noncombatants also was respected.

Eighteen Fascist planes protecting the bombers accepted the challenge of twelve loyalist pursuit planes and together they wheeled and circled, zoomed, barrel-rolled, and power-dived in efforts to crash each other. Two planes were down, as far as I could see—one Fascist and one loyalist.

The most thrilling episode was the escape of two Fascist planes whose companion in a formation of three had been brought down. They no longer had any object in fighting, the bombing planes having done their work and got away.

Plunge 6,000 Feet.

To shake off three loyalist pursuit planes, the two Fascist planes plunged down 6,000 feet in falling leaf turns, so dizzy the spectators were sure they also were crashing. Suddenly, less than 500 feet from the ground, they straightened out and flashed off toward their base, leaving the loyalist flyers baffled.

Aside from the aerial battle, the Fascists seem to have made little progress today. They evidently will protect the salient they have driven into Madrid before they can make substantial progress. Attacks farther north, toward the Valladolid highway, are expected.

CLOSER U. S.-BRITISH CO-OPERATION URGED BY AMERICAN ENVOY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Closer coöperation between the United States and Great Britain was advocated tonight by Ambassador Robert Worth Bingham of the United States. He spoke at a dinner of the English Speaking union in honor of the union's new chairman, the marquess of Willingdon, former governor general of Canada and later viceroy of India.

Bingham said there never was a time when Anglo-American coöperation was more important or more nearly within reach. He described Willingdon as "the most perfect example he had ever met of steel within a velvet glove."

Willingdon, responding to the toast, pointed to the unguarded 3,000 mile American-Canadian frontier as the finest example in the world.

"I look toward the day when the two great communities will work even more closely together," he said.

FRANCO RECOGNITION PLANNED BY NATIONS OF SOUTH AMERICA

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 19.—Recognition of the rebel Franco government in Spain by Italy and Germany paves the way for similar action by South American countries, according to well informed sources here. The foreign offices of Argentina, Brazil, and Chile are exchanging views on the subject, it is admitted. The Diario Illustrado, publication of the conservative party, reflected opinion in government circles today by urging Latin Americans to follow the example of Italy and Germany.

Rival Politicians Fight in Philippines; 1 Dead, 5 Hurt

MANILA, Nov. 19.—(AP)—One man was killed and five others wounded, including the governor of Ilocos Sur province, in a bolo and gun fight at Bantay, constabulary headquarters here were advised today. The fight culminated an old election row. Gov. Eusebio Paz led one party in the fight. He was slashed by bolos five times about the head and face.

MILITARY DRAFT LOOMS, BRITAIN'S MEN ARE WARNED

War Chief Bemoans Lack of Army Recruits.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Alfred Duff Cooper, secretary of state for war, today practically issued a direct warning that Great Britain must resort to military conscription unless recruiting is improved. He addressed a special "recruiting luncheon" here.

His statement came on the heels of an even franker warning by Lord Stanhope, first commissioner of works, who yesterday told the house of lords, "The voluntary system obviously is in grave danger and voluntary service obviously is a luxury."

Both speeches show the growing concern of cabinet members over the recruiting problem which they feel not only leaves the army weak but gives foreign dictators the impression the British will not fight and therefore they can do as they please.

Pacifists Are Alarmed.

While the government is convinced that drastic action is necessary if British prestige is to be maintained, radicals and pacifists are highly alarmed at the danger of conscription—an unprecedented step in peace time.

"The position is very serious indeed," said Duff Cooper. "I cannot say there has been any improvement in recruiting in recent months. Unless there is an improvement and a very large one in the immediate future, the system [recruiting] will break down."

The war secretary said the army must insure good jobs for all soldiers upon receiving honorable discharge. He pointed to this absence as another reason for lessened recruiting. He disclosed that he intended to extend the use of the smart blue uniforms which were introduced by the territorial army—corresponding to the American National guard—in the hope they would draw recruits better than the customary khaki.

Blue "May Do the Trick."

"A smart blue uniform might do the trick," Duff Cooper said. "Some have purchased blue uniforms for themselves and have been allowed to wear them walking out.

"I hope at the coronation that all soldiers participating in London will be clothed thus at the government expense."

The recruiting figures revealed by Lord Stanhope are striking. Only 850 of the proposed 17,000 men joined the new supplementary reserve, popularly known as the joint army, on approval of the scheme during the first two months of recruiting ending Nov. 1.

The scheme was expected to be popular because it allowed recruits to transfer to the reserve at the end of six months if they did not like regular army life. It has proved a thorough flop since only 5 per cent of the quota was gained in two months.

Eighty-six thousand territorial recruits are needed for the army this year, ending March 31, and 35,300 regulars. According to Lord Stanhope, the best the army expects on the basis of the present rate is 40,000 territorials and 21,500 regulars.

Lord Stanhope attributed the ease with which the navy and Royal Air force obtain recruits to the fact that they offer more useful training and equip men for civilian jobs upon discharge. He said means must be found to make life easier for men leaving the army or others will never join it.

Chosen as State Street Winter Queen

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

She's a Brunette

Miss Sally Smith, brunette, vivacious and 22, was selected "winter queen" of the State Street council yesterday from among 12 comely employés of State street department stores.

Miss Smith, who lives at 6242 Lakewood avenue, is a sales girl and model for Marshall Field & Co. As winter queen, she will be awarded a trip to Hollywood and a screen test by Warner Brothers and will reign over the official opening of State street's toydom this week-end.

The selection was made at a luncheon at the Palmer house in which the twelve Chicago girls were pitted against 12 Hollywood beauties to prove the council's contention that Chicago's young women compare favorably with the best that Hollywood offers. Other Chicago girls participating in the contest were La Verne Schoening, Vivian E. Peterson, Elnora Greenlaw, Florry Fairfield, Angelita Harmes, Virginia Birck, Mary Ellen Bergh, Mary Dunbar, Ruth Forest, Mary Lou Aicher and Gloria Starr.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 19.—The first official confirmation that munition orders are being placed by the British government in Canada was given today. The National Steel Car company announced it had received an order for shells.

3 WOMEN HURT IN FALLS DURING MILL CREEK HUNT

Three Lake Forest women were slightly injured in falls during the regular Thursday hunt at the Mill Creek Hunt club at Milburn yesterday.

Mrs. Merrill Hubbard, 1078 North Edgewood road, was riding sidesaddle when her mount struck a rail on the fourth post and rail jump. The horse rolled over, throwing her clear. She was knocked unconscious, but revived soon afterward.

The mount ridden by Mrs. S. Prentice Porter, 865 South Ridge road, failed to clear a 12 foot leap over a creek. Mrs. Porter was thrown upon the opposite bank and severely shaken.

Mrs. John P. Kellogg, 440 East Walnut road, was thrown to the ground at the start of the race. Out of seventeen starters, only four finished the hunt.

Elapsed time was three hours. The regular flight schedule is four hours.

'Love Slaying,' Smuggling Tangle Theories.

Los Angeles, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Reid Russell was killed by a bullet from a .32 caliber pistol, the same caliber as the weapon clutched in his hand when the body was found, coroner's surgeons reported tonight after examining his exhumed corpse.

The body of the 28 year old automobile salesman was found Sept. 25 in a garden swing at the estate of his friend, Gouverneur Morris, writer. It was taken from its grave today under a court order obtained by district attorney's investigators.

Assistant County Autopsy Surgeon Frank Webb measured the wound and reported the fatal shot was fired at extremely close range.

Abrasion Around Wound.

District attorney's investigator Everett Davis pointed to an apparent abrasion around the entrance to the wound and said the injury appeared too deep to have been caused by ordinary pressure of a pistol barrel against the flesh. He expressed the opinion it must have resulted from the sudden, powerful jamming of a weapon against Russell's head.

Davis said he was not certain the exhumation examination would establish whether Russell killed himself or was slain. Two months ago authorities investigated the case, observing the wound in Russell's head and the pistol in his hand.

First Decision Suicide.

This and other circumstances, including powder burns inside his scalp, had led police, sherif's deputies, the coroner, and autopsy surgeons to decide Russell killed himself, as witnesses said he had threatened to do.

In the reopened inquiry which Russell's mother asked, Chief Investigator Clyde Plummer of the district attorney's office, said he believed Russell may have been the victim of a "love slaying." He would not say how he evolved this theory.

He also said he had new information about Russell's activities before his death, but would not discuss it.

Talked of Arms Smuggling.

He reported Detective Lieutenant Harry Hansen told him he was on a party with Russell and others a week before he was found dead, and Russell told Hansen over champagne glasses he was about to obtain a $300 a month job connected with smuggling of arms and ammunitions either to Mexico or China.

Because no ejected cartridge shell was found near the swing, Plummer had E. C. Crossman, firearms expert, examined the supposed death weapon. He said Crossman reported he was unable to determine positively whether the rusted pistol had been fired in recent months.

CALIFORNIA DUST BLANKET BLOWS STINGING BLASTS

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 19.—[Special.] — The Arizona desert dust blanket which for three weeks has been hanging over the coastal area of southern California, today was whipped into scratching gusts that made eyes water and paint peel off woodwork and automobiles.

The desert winds in San Diego reached a velocity of 35 miles an hour, shrouding the city in a swirl of yellowish gray particles that had thousands gasping and coughing.

In Los Angeles, excessively low humidity continued, while the temperature reached 87, topping 85 for the eighth time this month. Weather experts said the high pressure area in the desert interior would continue to funnel sand, dust, heat, and distress upon Los Angeles for another two or three days,

LINDY FLIES TO DUBLIN ON OCEAN AIR ROUTE PLANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Nov. 19—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh with Juan Trippe and J. C. Cooper, executives of Pan-American Airways, flew here today from London with Wood Humphries, director of Imperial Airways.

The party consulted Free State government chiefs regarding the North Atlantic air route in which the Free State, Great Britain, Canada, Newfoundland and the United States are coöperating under a pact signed at Ottawa.

The airmen continued their flight south to Limerick, inspecting an air base on the river Shannon at Rynana. Col. Lindbergh returned to Dublin for the night.

262 Meetings of Phone Pioneers Linked by Wire

Veteran telephone employés congregated at 262 meetings in 228 cities of the United States and Canada last night heard a program of addresses and entertainment over one of the most extensive telephone wire hookups ever set up. The meetings were held by members of the Telephone Pioneers of America, an organization founded in 1911. One of the largest gatherings was at the Palmer house here, where 1,800 Chicago employés of the Illinois Bell Telephone company attended the annual meeting of the Theodore Vail chapter, No. 1. Another meeting was held at the Hawthorne works of the Western Electric company. Approximately 40,000 attended the meetings in the 228 cities.

WALLY BREAKS IN PRINT AND ENDS REIGN OF CENSOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 19.—For the first time since the routine report of her divorce from Ernest A. Simpson, shipping broker, Mrs. Wallis [Wally] Simpson, intimate friend of King Edward VIII. of England, today broke through the censorship imposed by the London Times. The American woman's name appeared in its august columns in a list of members of the committee for the Russian cabaret ball which is to be held for charity.

The Times simply listed "Mrs. Simpson" among a number of women prominent in English and Russian circles who are acting as the committee. Last Saturday, however, when her name appeared among the guests at a concert at the Jugo-Slav legation published in other newspapers, the Times struck it from its list.

The marchioness of Milford-Haven, wife of the king's second cousin and herself a daughter of the late Grand Duke Michael of Russia, heads the committee. The ball is for the benefit of the "Russian Red Cross society, old organization," which aids the White Russians. It is being held Dec. 17 at the Dorchester hotel.

Admits She Is Stumped.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Peppery Ellen Wilkinson, member of parliament, tonight confessed she could think of no way to bring King Edward's friendship with Mrs. Wallis Simpson directly before parliament, although she would like to do so.

Under parliamentary procedure any question dealing with the monarchy is banned, so Miss Wilkinson admitted "there is nothing for us to do but drop it for the time being."

Miss Wilkinson startled the house a few days ago by demanding to know why certain pages had been ripped out of American magazines.

"I have tried to frame another question which Sir John Simon [home secretary] would have to answer, but the speakers' office would not accept it," she said. "I hate such underhanded censorship and I am going to continue to fight whenever the opportunity offers."

Blue Bloods Perturbed.

Some British aristocrats are debating with gravity the friendship between the king and Mrs. Simpson, an informed peer asserted.

"I would not like to repeat some of the things they are saying," he declared. "I have told them they ought to be ashamed for saying such things about their sovereign."

The aristocracy's principal fear this source said, is the reported possibility of a marriage between the ruler and the former Baltimore debutante.

To the possibility that King Edward—who has achieved a reputation of being strong willed—might abdicate in the face of criticism over the possible marriage, the peers were declared to have replied:

"Then let him abdicate, by all means, and let's get on with the duke and duchess of York."

Seek Palace Austerity.

"The peers make no secret of the fact they would like to have the duke and duchess of York occupy the thrones," the peer declared.

"The quiet, home loving duke of York—with his tidy, little family [he has two daughters] would restore the dignity and austerity to Buckingham palace which has been missing since the death of King George.

"There is little doubt that at present nobody knows King Edward's intentions. Probably he will not know himself until he has fully tested the temper of the working class."

Denies Report of Romance.

New York, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Jacques A. L. Raffray was en route to England today, leaving behind a statement denying press reports which she said had linked her and Ernest Simpson, former husband of the society woman who is a friend of King Edward, has caused wide speculation.

Mrs. Raffray, wife of a New York insurance broker, and house guest several months ago of Mrs. Simpson, sailed last night after issuing a statement through John B. Van Wagoner, lawyer and friend of the family, which her husband described as "correct." It said:

"Mrs. Raffray is sailing to spend the winter in London. She has an apartment there.

"Press reports had linked Mrs. Raffray with Mr. Ernest Simpson, but Mrs. Rayffray wished to point out that she and Mr. Raffray are not divorced, although they have maintained separate residences in New York for the last year."

MINERS PAT KING ON BACK AS HE PLEDGES HIS AID

British Ruler Winds Up Tour in Wales.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CARDIFF, Wales, Nov. 19.—Patted on the back by cheering Welshmen who believe he can do more than his ministers to introduce new industries into their stricken valleys, King Edward VIII. of England concluded his tour of the devastated mining country and returned to London tonight.

"Something will be done about unemployment," the king told ill clad, cap clutching crowds of miners at Bryn Mawr, Abertillery, and Pontypool as they crowded about his car.

The royal visit has been a spot of color in the unending drab existence of thousands of miners, their women and families who have looked on the king's tour with hope that perhaps after all he might be a Santa Claus and keep his promise about work.

Rides Along Valley in Car.

After spending the night on the royal train at Usk and talking late with his dining car dinner guests, Edward began his inspection at the Welsh town of Cwmbran, near Pontypool, continuing along the valley by automobile to Bryn Mawr and thence to Blaina, Abertillery, Crumlin, and Rhymney.

At Cwmbran the king saw H. W. Jenkins wearing a Gallipoli war medal.

"I was out there the other day and saw the beaches," the sovereign told the veteran. "It is better than when you were there."

An unemployed group submitted a petition which said: "We, unemployed of Cwmbran, hope some tangible benefit will result from your visit." At Pontypool, the next town up the dismal valley, some one told the king an open letter had been written to him by the unemployed.

Demands to See Letter.

"Where is it? I want to see it," demanded the king.

A copy of the letter was handed to him. It said:

"We regret that your tour has been planned in such a way that the terrible effects of poverty will not be seen by your majesty.

"Young men up to 25 years old have been denied a chance of ever getting a days' work.

"The bodies of our children are stunted and frail because adequate nourishment cannot be obtained.

"Family life has been shattered by the cruel means test [dole test]. The poorest of the poor now are to be subjected by your government to another vicious attack. We would respectfully ask your majesty how a suffering people can believe the talk of prosperity? Will an impoverished people be able to joyfully celebrate your majesty's coronation?"

King Asks a Question.

When King Edward called at Snatchwood house, Pontypool, on a visit to the instruction center, he asked one of the boys why frosted glass was used for the windows.

"Because that is the girls' side there," one replied.

"O, I see, they want to keep your mind on your work," the king said.

"Can I come in?" the king asked as a Mrs. Morgan wiped her hands on her apron. Mr. Morgan shook hands with the king timidly.

"How long have you been out of work?" the king asked.

Wishes Them Better Luck.

"Seven years, but I've got a part time job at the quarry now," said Morgan.

"Well, better luck to you," said the king while two children looked humbly at him.

"Twelve shillings a week [$3]," Morgan answered.

"Too much!" said Edward.

At Abertillery the king visited the labor exchange and questioned the men lined up before the counter.

"How long have you been out of jobs?" he asked.

"Eleven years," one replied.

"And you?"

"Seven years."

"And you?"

'Twelve years."

"He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

"Twelve years out of work. It is terrible," said Edward.

Minister for Labor Ernest Brown and Minister for Health Sir Kingsley Wood went with the monarch everywhere.

To the clerk of the Blaenevon council, near the end of his excursion, the king said, "My ministers are giving consideration to these areas. They were busy once and should be again."

"Bli'me if it don't look like pay day in old times," commented a pinch faced man commenting on the crowds."

REDS OF FRANCE DEMAND ARREST OF 3 RIGHTISTS

Blame Them for Cabinet Officer's Suicide.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The communist party tonight demanded the arrest of former Premier Andre Tardieu and two other prominent rightists whom the party blamed for the suicide of Minister of the Interior Roger Salengro.

The communists held them responsible for attacks on Salengro's war record which leftists believed caused him to kill himself late Tuesday night.

The political bureau of the communist party urged charges be brought against Tardieu, Horace Carbuccia, editor of the rightist weekly Gringoire and against his son-in-law, Jean Chiappe, former chief of the Paris police.

Charges Revolt Plot.

The demand asked the government for "firm measures against those who organize civil war in France."

Socialist Premier Leon Blum himself directed efforts to prevent mass demonstrations against rightists, while a fresh flurry of strikes brought new worries to the Popular Front government.

Blum ordered a judicial inquiry into the suicide. The premier, assuming temporarily the portfolio of interior, sought to placate the leftist demands for a huge street parade against "Fascism—the assassin which killed Salengro" and gave attention also to the strike situation.

Increased strength of his government was evidenced by an offer from the sometimes critical Radical Socialists to join any demonstration of the organized "People's Front government."

Plan Big Sunday Parade.

The popular assembly, composed of representatives of parties and organizations in the Popular Front, called on the people of Paris to join a gigantic parade to the Place de la Republique and the Place de la Nation Sunday afternoon while Salengro's funeral will be held in Lille.

The ministry of public works announced a 60 per cent reduction of train fares between Paris and Lille Sunday, indicating the government wishes as many persons as possible to attend the funeral.

The government announced it would submit to parliament Tuesday its new press bill designed to abolish defamation of character in newspapers without abridging freedom of the press.

More Workers Strike.

A general walkout of Lille metal workers was called in sympathy with a strike of 2,700 workmen in a factory in protest against discharge of a union delegate.

Twelve hundred coal miners in Bethune struck, protesting refusal of the management to discharge three miners not members of the General Confederation of Labor.

At Bordeaux 2,000 workers participated in a general strike of dockworkers which halted unloading of cargo from ships.

Dry Victories Challenged in 2 South Side Precincts

Two petitions seeking recounts in local option referenda in the south side's 5th ward were filed in County court yesterday. Both asserted that dry victories had been gained illegally. The first petition challenged the vote in the old 61st precinct, bounded by 63d and 62d streets and Ellis and University avenues, where 376 dry and 371 wet ballots were counted. The second chalenge was in the 57th precinct, bounded by 63d and 62d streets and Kenwood and Kimbark avenues, where 292 dry votes were counted against 256 wet.

"My wife left me, I lost my money on the ponies, and I stole the letters, but none had money in them," Gordon said. "I walked here from my home to give myself up." He was held by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker in bond of $500 pending action by the grand jury.

SUES AGAIN

Mrs. Dorothy Patterson Lehmann.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Dorothy Jane Patterson Lehmann, 32 years old, part owner of the Skyrocket, a roadhouse near Glencoe, brought her second suit for divorce yesterday aganst Edward J. Lehmann Jr., former husband of Virginia Pine, film actress. The bill, filed in the Circuit court by Attorney Norman Becker, charges that Lehmann struck her on April 12 and Oct. 23. A previous bill for divorce was filed in the Superior court by Mrs. Lehmann last Aug. 3, but it was later dismissed. The Lehmanns were married on June 20, 1935.

WIFE ENDS LONG SILENCE; CALLS MATE A KILLER

Yonkers, N. Y., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—A woman today broke a fourteen month silence, according to police here, to accuse her husband of murder.

Her statement, police asserted, conflicted sharply with the story told by her husband, Arthur Penzo, an Auburn prison inmate, who had originally revealed the death on the plea that his conscience had bothered him. Penzo said he had shot the victim, Andrew Teborsky, in self-defense.

Mrs. Penzo, formerly Julia Olesnik, who married Penzo July 2, while he was in the county jail for second degree rape, broke down only after protracted questioning at the county jail, where she was held as a material witness.

She said that she, her husband, and Teborsky were riding together in a car on the night of Sept. 16, 1935, when the two men, in the front seat, got into an argument. She saw Teborsky turn his head away, she said, then Penzo, according to the story given out by the police, snatched up a gun and fired.

Firemen Rescue Woman in Apartment House Fire

Mrs. Catherine Loftis, 35 years old, was rescued from her third floor apartment at 808 Tower court yesterday by firemen under the direction of Lieut. Thomas Bradbury of Hook and Ladder company No. 3, after smoke from a minor blaze had filled the building.

FINANCIAL ROCKS AHEAD, COUNTY DEMOCRATS TOLD

Officials Urged to Collect Old Taxes and Save.

Responsibility for averting financial difficulties which threaten the local governments was placed squarely upon the Democratic organization yesterday by John O. Rees, director of the citizens' committee on public expenditures. He spoke at a round table luncheon of the public affairs committee of the Union League club.

Retrenchment, collection of delinquent taxes and reduction of taxes are the ways out, said Mr. Rees. The total of the delinquent tax bill for the years 1928 to 1934, inclusive, is $362,000,000, he declared, adding that nothing is being done by Democratic office holders to bring in even the collectible part of the aggregate.

Taxes Are Relevied.

Instead, these unpaid taxes, which are rolling up huge deferred debts, are being relevied, time and again, through various devious methods of the taxing bodies. This is at the expense of property owners who pay promptly, asserted Mr. Rees, who is known as a tax expert.

"Property owners can't do anything about this," he said, "except become more and more reluctant to pay their taxes as the bills go progressively up just as they did for 1934 and 1935, and as they will for 1936 and 1937. The 1936 rate will be close to $9.40, a record figure.

Officials Hear Criticism.

Among the guests present, who heard themselves criticized, were a number of city and county officials. One was Emmet Whealan, member of the board of tax appeals; another was Robert B. Upham, city controler.

Representatives of the county assessor, the county treasurer, the county clerk, and the state's attorney's office also heard the talk.

SINGER TELLS U. S. SHE WANTS TO BE PLAIN AMERICAN

Some opera stars may seek the glamor of foreign names but Ruth Mills, soprano of the Chicago City Opera company, who has lived under five flags, desires to be a plain American, she told naturalization officials yesterday as she received her second citizenship papers. She was born at Bialystok, Russia, and came to America in 1922. Her maiden name was Raquel Sokolska. In 1931 she married Attorney George Mills, the son of Lieut. Make Mills of the industrial squad of the Chicago police force.

"I lived in my native village under the régimes of five governments, the imperial Russian, German, Polish, and bolshevik rule," Mme. Mills said. "Now that I have my own choice I want to be American."

Lieut. Mills and Francesco Daddi, tenor with the opera company, were her principal witnesses at the proceeding.

BUT YOU SHOULD ORDER NOW!

There's really no substitute for a gift that's monogrammed—it belongs to him and nobody else. If it's monogrammed it shows him that you thought of him and of his gift far enough in advance of Christmas to buy something just for him. Men like monogramming—and Style has put a seal of approval on it. A gift from The Store for Men will be doubly appreciated if it's monogrammed. But we suggest that you come in as soon as possible. Careful, neat monogramming takes time. Orders placed now will be ready for delivery about the middle of December—and will not be charged to you until they are ready. There's nothing to gain by waiting—plenty to gain by placing your order now.

MONOGRAMMED BROADCLOTH SHIRTS $2.50

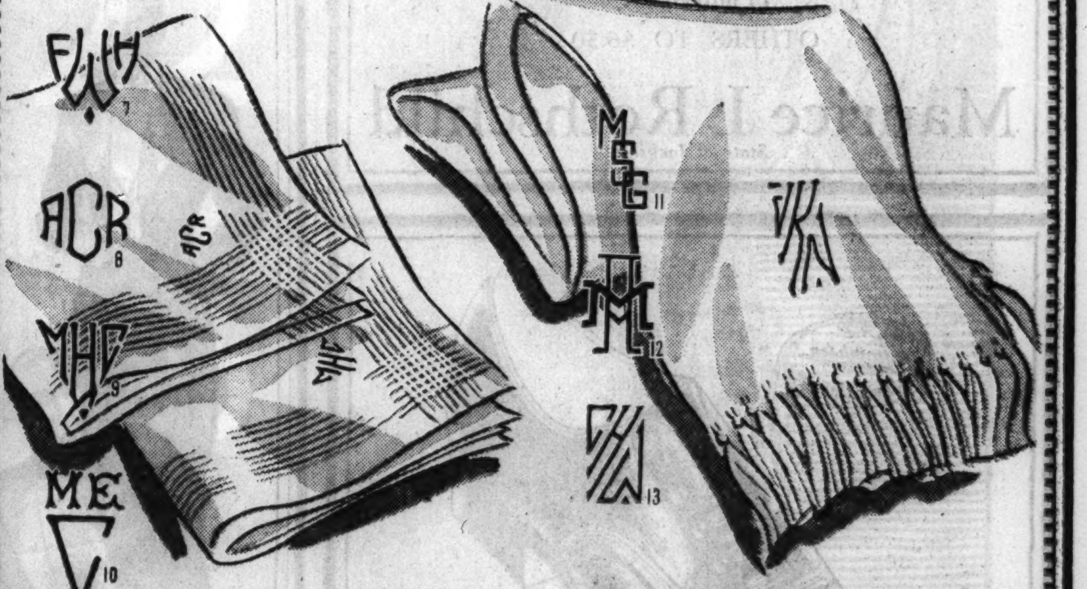
Lustrous broadcloth shirts made to our exacting specifications. In collar-attached or neckband styles. You select a monogram from six different styles, and it will be put on in plain white or any color you choose. Three in a box would make a nice gift.

Other shirts from $2 to $7.50 also monogrammed at no extra charge.

MONOGRAMMED BROADCLOTH PAJAMAS $2.50

There's something about the simple, tailored masculinity of broadcloth pajamas that makes them a perennial favorite with men. Notched collar, low neck or middy styles. You select the monogram from six types offered in either white or in the contrasting color you choose.

Other broadcloth pajamas from $2 to $7.50 monogrammed at no extra cost.



Hand-Monogrammed SHEER LINEN HANDKERCHIEFS 6 for $5

Fine, sheer linen handkerchiefs with hand-rolled hems that are an always-acceptable gift. You have your choice of any of the four styles of monograms shown, in either plain white or in colors. Full size, medium sheer weight.

Two weeks delivery if ordered at once.

Hand-Monogrammed WHITE SILK MUFFLERS $5

There's been no substitute found for the sleek smartness of a white silk muffler, especially when it has a neat silk fringe. We'll put a three-letter monogram on these in black, maroon, midnight blue or white—and give you your choice of three different monogram styles.

YALE HEAD AND BANKER DISCUSS EFFECT OF VOTE

Angell Warns Against 'Reaction Dictator.'

New York, Nov. 19.—[Special.]—The social, economic, and political significance of the recent election was discussed tonight by President James Rowland Angell of Yale university and Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the board of directors of the Chase National bank, at the 168th annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce of the state of New York.

Dr. Angell, speaking on "second thought after the election," stressed the need for replanning the whole program of modern philanthropy, warned against any reactionary policy which might bring on a dictatorship in this country, and declared that if the advantages of a free democracy were to be salvaged, "we must breed a sufficiently vivid form of intelligent social altruism voluntarily to forgo some of the individual prerogatives which in a simpler day we could properly and successfully claim."

Tells Faith in Business.

Mr. Aldrich said that if business is to avoid the danger of prescriptive government regulation, it must guide its activities for the public good. He expressed faith it would do so.

With the reëntering of the government on a large scale into the process of relief, a new situation has developed which requires the most serious and thoughtful study, Dr. Angell said. He declared he did not want to be critical of what the government has done, despite the fact that unhappy blunders may have been made and immense funds may have been wasted and misused.

He said the division of labor and responsibility between the government and private agencies in the matter of philanthropy had to come, with the government assuming the main burden because of the industrial and economic collapse.

He declared that not a few whose opinions carry weight expect relatively permanent programs of public work and probably a large amount of direct government aid. "Several consequences flow from this situation which justly occasions concern for private charitable endeavor," he said.

Warns of Too Heavy Load.

He warned against the belief that the government can take care of all the economic ills through taxation.

"To rob our communities of the element of voluntary giving on the part of the intelligent, generous, and socially minded is to destroy one of the most precious of human values and to substitute cold, mechanical procedures for the warm-hearted outpouring of humane impulse," he went on.

"If we, as private citizens sensitive to the need of our neighbors and fully aware of our own selfish interest in a vigorous healthy community, do not support the agencies that promote all the things which go to the making of such a community, we shall quickly have suffering and misery and disease and crime in increased measure, and to allow this to occur will adversely affect the safety and happiness of every home and the contents of every pocketbook."

SUCCUMBS TO FALL INJURIES.

Alexander Macas, 36 years old, 5540 Shields avenue, died yesterday in Englewood hospital from injuries sustained Wednesday when he fell from the front steps of his home.

RAILWAY STRIKE IN LOUISIANA AND ARKANSAS ENDS

Baton Rouge, La., Nov. 20 [Friday]. —(AP)—Gov. Richard W. Leche announced early today that the Louisiana and Arkansas railroad strike had been settled. He said officials of the railway and representatives of four brotherhoods on strike since Sept. 19, who conferred with him, had "reached an agreement settling all differences."

The governor's statement follows:

"I am happy to announce that the officials of the Louisiana and Arkansas railway and the representatives of the four brotherhoods have reached an agreement settling all differences arising from the strike called Sept. 19.

"Both sides made concessions and the settlement is a tribute to the patriotism and sound judgment of all concerned. I heartily congratulate them."

The strike has been marked by wrecks, bridge burnings, and sniping incidents.

Representatives of the brotherhoods said the 300 strikers would "soon be back at work."

No details of the terms of the settlement were revealed. The men went on strike for higher pay and better working conditions.

MAYWOOD RELIEF CAMPAIGN OPENS —FUNDS PLEDGED

Quick Aid for Families in Great Need.

Maywood village officials and citizens went to work with a will yesterday on a program to carry needy families through the winter without state aid or a relief tax levy. Maywood is in Proviso township, which is without public relief funds as a result of the refusal of its citizens to vote a relief tax.

Every one of the 110 relief families in Maywood was visited yesterday by volunteer workers, in accordance with pledges made at a meeting of business and civic groups Wednesday night. Reports on about one-quarter of the families were on file with the village officials last night. They showed that only half a dozen families were in immediate need.

Advance Relief Funds.

The police department, after planning a dance for February to raise relief funds, advanced $100 to be spent at once for the neediest families. The village board pledged $250 and its employês another $250.

The village hopes to sell 10,000 tickets for a Good Fellow ball on Dec. 12 in the Maywood armory. The Maywood Good Fellow club is the name chosen for the volunteer relief organization.

Curt O. Krausser, president of the village, announced that he would take steps to have the citizens' relief group incorporated, so that a regular setup of officials and board of directors could assure the public that donations would not go astray.

George Miller, chairman of the relief club and manager of the Lido theater, invited radio celebrities to appear at a special midnight show on Dec. 5, which will be another fund raising device.

President Krausser said that only those employable persons who are willing to work will be carried on relief during the present emergency. Citizen investigators are paying special attention to this point in their visits to relief families, he said. Those who profess willingness to work will be given their chance when the village starts a street paving project next week with gasoline tax funds.

GUNMAN ROBS RESTAURANT.

NIGHT CLUB SINGER PLUNGES 4 FLOORS TO DEATH IN LA SALLE

La Salle, Ill., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Dell Reed, 28, night club entertainer and former radio singer, plunged to his death from his fourth floor room in the Miles hotel here last night. Police said apparently he had been despondent since he received a letter from a woman in Chicago on Monday.

Reed was known as the "Dixie tenor" when he sang with orchestras and over a radio network. Officials of the Affiliated Broadcasting company of Chicago said he sang on the air until about three months ago when he took a leave of absence to make personal appearances.

Network officials who knew him said he formerly sang with "Red" Nichols' orchestra and a band formerly conducted jointly by Dan Russo and Ted Fio-Rito. He recently came to La Salle to sing in a night club.

Police said a torn, unmailed letter found in the wastebasket of Reed's room indicated he was despondent. It was addressed to Ewell Redmon, proprietor of the College Studios, 20 East Jackson boulevard, Chicago.

GOLF PRO LEAVES HOSPITAL; SEIZED IN CRASH DEATH

Arrest Thomas Carney of Northmoor Club.

THOMAS CARNEY.

Thomas Carney, assistant golf professional at the Northmoor club, Highland Park, was arrested on a charge of manslaughter yesterday after he arrived at his home, 413 Jackson street, Glencoe, from the Highland Park hospital, where he had been a patient since an automobile collision on Aug. 30.

Edward Peterson, 38 years old, 5142 Huron street, was killed and eight persons injured in the crash, which occurred at the intersection of highways 41 and 22 west of Highwood. Witnesses said Carney sped past a stop sign, crashing into Peterson's car. Since Carney is still seriously ill from his injuries he was permitted to post $5,000 bond without appearing before Justice of the Peace Harry Hoyt of Waukegan.

Another Driver Seized.

William Reuben Douglas, colored, 34 years old, 2212 Maypole avenue, was held last night at the Pekin police station on a charge of manslaughter growing out of the death of Henry Strauss, 40 years old, 22 West Van Buren street. Strauss was struck by a hit and run driver on Oct. 31 at Michigan avenue and 31st street. A bystander took the license number which was traced to Douglas, who disappeared. Sergt. Chris Callaghan, assigned to the case, found Douglas yesterday in Robbins. He admitted driving the car.

Frank Mitchell, 53 years old, 523 West 57th street, was fatally injured by an automobile while walking at 67th street and Normal boulevard yesterday. Cecil Wood, 32 years old, 711 West Garfield boulevard, driver of the car, was held by the Englewood police for the inquest today.

Hitches Ride; Injured.

Richard Kott, 15 years old, 5304 Bloomingdale avenue, a student at Lane Technical High school, was critically injured yesterday when, according to police, he fell off the rear of an automobile while hitching a ride home. The accident occurred at North and Lamont avenues. The driver, John Boyd Jr., 19, living at the Medinah club, a second year student at North Park college, said he did not know Kott was hitching to his car. He was not held. Kott was taken to St. Anne's hospital.

At 4 p. m. the number of persons killed in automobile accidents in Cook county was 898. During the same period 679 were killed and 17,217 were injured in trafic accidents within the city limits of Chicago.

SAFETY DRIVE URGED TO HELP DEAF CHILDREN

The Parker School Deaf Oral Parent-Teacher association yesterday sent to Mayor Kelly, the board of education, and officials of clubs and organizations dealing with the trafic problem a plea for a special drive to protect deaf and hard of hearing children from automobiles and other vehicles.

"The hearing child can hear your automobile if he fails to see it, but the deaf and hard of hearing child depends on his eyes," said the association's message. "Outwardly the deaf child appears no different from any hearing child. You cannot see his handicap. Give him the chance that his ears have deprived him of—hear for him by driving carefully and sanely."

Leopold Has No Visitors at Prison on 32d Birthday

Nathan Leopold, serving a life term in the penitentiary at Stateville for the mutilation murder of Bobby Franks 12 years ago, spent his 32d birthday yesterday at his work in the prison correspondence school. Leopold had no visitors, nor was his birthday otherwise marked.

SEEK TO SELECT LAST 4 ZINTAK JURORS TODAY

Defense Scores in Court Maneuvers.

The second panel of four jurors was sworn in late yesterday afternoon before Judge Robert C. O'Connell in the Criminal court where Frank V. Zintak, ousted clerk of the Superior court and Democratic committeeman of the Twelfth ward, is on trial charged with embezzlement. Attorneys for both sides hope to obtain the last panel today.

Although Zintak is charged in a series of five indictments with the embezzlement of $26,500 while clerk of the court, he is only on trial for one specific item involving a $10,500 check. During the trial, however, the prosecution hopes to show some of the other transactions, it was reported.

When court adjourned last evening Defense Attorneys Benedict J. Short and George Guenther had the edge on Prosecutors Robert Wright and Vernon Thompson on the use of peremptory challenges. Each side has ten challenges. The state used seven challenges and the defense six.

When either side exhausts its peremptory challenges it must accept veniremen tendered by the opponent unless the difficult cause of legal disqualification can be developed by the usual line of questioning. The defense attorneys yesterday were obviously attempting to maneuver the state into a position of exhausting its challenges, thus forcing the prosecution to accept its choice of jurors.

Defense Attorney Short in his questioning yesterday indicated that the defense may rely on the fact that the state might have difficulty in proving "intent to embezzle" on the part of Zintak, inasmuch as he has made full payment of the alleged embezzled monies.

DRUNKEN DRIVER GETS 20 DAYS AND 2 OTHERS GET 10

Thomas O'Quinn, 43 years old, 1317 South Racine avenue, colored, was sentenced to twenty days in the county jail by Judge Joseph Graber in the Trafic court yesterday on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Two other motorists were sentenced by Judge Graber to ten days in the county jail on intoxication charges. They are Albert Kamis, 26 years old, 4120 Hohman street, Hammond, Ind., and Walter Schaller, 36 years old, 2128 Hastings street.

Seventy-three youths arrested for trafic violations were ordered to visit the county hospital, contribute to victims of automobile accidents, and donate $1 each to the Community fund by Judge John Gutknecht in the Trafic court yesterday. Two girls were ordered to make the donations, but were excused from the hospital visit. Most of the defendants were charged with speeding.

'INTERNATIONAL COUP' IN FINE ITALIAN EMBROIDERIES

For many months the best Italian embroideries were almost prohibitive in price because of the high rate of exchange. Since the recent devaluation of the Italian lira we have been able to assemble from importers in this country the greatest collection of superb Italian linens we've shown in years at almost unbelievably low prices. At this time a purchase of one of these sets is a decidedly profitable investment.

21 REPUBLICS TO REPUDIATE WAR, HULL DECLARES

U. S. Official Honored at Banquet in Rio.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull of the United States declared tonight 21 American republics will meet at the inter-American peace conference in Buenos Aires to repudiate the philosophy which sends men to the battlefields.

Secretary Hull, who reached Rio de Janiero today at the head of the United States delegation en route to the parley opening Dec. 1, spoke at a dinner in his honor at the Brazilian foreign ministry. He said the peoples of America and of the whole world soon will insist on peace.

"If we American republics show a willingness to ratify the pledges of peace among us," Mr. Hull said, "the people outside this hemisphere will not be heedless of our example."

Aim to Impede Wars.

The inter-American conference, he declared, will justify itself if it shows that American nations are determined to remain at peace while being strong, to impede wars for the self-advancement of others and to promote trade.

Jose Carlos Macedo Soares, Brazilian foreign minister, voiced disapproval of any attempt by the conference to create an American league of nations or an inter-American tribunal.

He asserted the Pan-American union, which has headquarters in Washington, has been highly useful and said there was "no reason to reduce its efficiency" by creating an unnecessary new organization.

Opposes Court for Americas.

Emphasizing his objection to any move to establish an inter-American court, Macedo Soares said:

"The world already has a permanent international court at The Hague, deserving the respect and adherence of all nations."

"We go to the conference with an even greater conviction than ever that the road to peace is based upon economic understanding," he said.

"Peace must be our passion," he added. "It must be a permanent peace founded on mutual understanding among the peoples of North and South America."

Foreign Chief Greets Hull.

Greeted by a white-uniformed marine band which struck up the "Stars and Stripes" as he stepped down the gangplank, Hull was met by members of the cabinet and the diplomatic corps.

The delegations of Haiti, Guatemala, Salvador, Nicaragua, Cuba, Venezuela, and Mexico also disembarked from the American Legion and shared honors of the visit with Hull.

In a statement Hull asserted that achievements of the peace conference would constitute "milestones in the progress of international relationships."

Points to Trade Pact.

He cited, in particular, results of the Brazilian-United States reciprocal trade pact as having demonstrated tangible benefits of international accord.

Mrs. Elsie F. Musser, only woman member of the United States delegation, announced she would ask the conference to receive the "people's mandate against war"—a petition bearing 2,000,000 signatures.

"Such a universal expression against war must influence world history and future international relations," she said.

"Neptune's" Envoys Board Ship.

ABOARD U. S. S. CHESTER, AT SEA, Nov. 19.—(AP)—"King Neptune" sent his emissaries tonight to the U. S. S. Chester and the cruiser Indianapolis bearing President Roosevelt to the inter-American peace conference in Buenos Aires.

The Presidential party was given formal notice that Neptune demanded his "loyal subjects" lay plans to purge the "pusillanimous pollywogs" of dockyard barnacles before entering his kingdom at the equator.

Whether the President, who has never crossed the equator, would be subjected to the same practical jokes as the other members of the party tonight was but a matter of conjecture.

Doff Winter Clothing.

The vessels tonight were some 420 miles east of Miami, steaming along at 26 knots. Heavy winter clothing was doffed for summer attire as the weather became steadily warmer.

Mr. Roosevelt passed a leisurely day as rain and spray kept the party in its quarters most of the time. Late in the afternoon when the sun came out the President took an airing on the deck while others played medicine ball.

He also worked on his mail and read the occasional radio dispatches from Washington. After dinner Mr. Roosevelt and his party enjoyed a program of movies and radio.

The plan is for both vessels to refuel Saturday at Trinidad and then proceed to Rio de Janeiro, which the captains hope to reach Nov. 27. After spending a day there, during which he may address a joint session of the Brazilian parliament, the President will reëmbark for Buenos Aires.

Silver Being Used by President

The service was originally presented to the battleship Indiana by the state of Indiana. When the ship was decommissioned the silver was returned to the state and used in the governor's mansion. It was presented to the new cruiser in 1932. At the battle of Santiago a dent was made in the punch bowl by a shell fragment. [Acme Photo.]

EX-CHICAGO MODEL IS RECOVERING FROM EFFORT TO 'END ALL'

New York, Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Miss Marion Mackenzie, 23, artist's model, formerly of Chicago, was recovering today from poison she swallowed last night in her room at the Hotel Victoria in what she termed was an attempt to "end it all" following an argument with a man.

"I was just silly, that's all," the girl admitted. "I had had an argument with an aviator. I won't tell his name, but he was a world war ace."

She was found in her room by a house detective who had received a telephone call from a man who said Miss Mackenzie had telephoned him she was about to "end it all."

Miss Mackenzie, who was born in Bradley, Ill., several years ago sued a man for $150,000 charging breach of promise, and sought judgment for $100,000 against two physicians charging they operated on her without permission. She subsequently dropped the actions.

SENT TO PRISON FOR FLEEING JAIL IN MATRON'S CAR

CRIMINAL COURT.

George Rose, robbery, sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary under the habitual criminal act; Louis Stachura, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary by Judge Benjamin Epstein.

Harry Scordo, receiving stolen property, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Richard O'Hara and Walter Anusiewicz, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge John Prystalski.

James Matson, 22 years old, of Detroit, who on Nov. 9 escaped in a matron's car from the Bridewell where he was a trusty, was sentenced yesterday to from one to twenty years in the penitentiary by Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Criminal court on an automobile larceny charge.

Matson told the court that he took the car and escaped because he craved narcotics. The records showed that after fleeing the Bridewell he checked the car in a parking lot and mailed the ticket for it to the owner, Matron Selma Kutzki. After pleading guilty Matson asked for a prison sentence so that he could be cured of the narcotics habit.

Judge McKinley promised to write to penitentiary officials, asking that Matson be given a cure and the minimum sentence if his behavior is good.

POSTAL STATIONS OPEN TILL 8 FOR SECURITY FORMS

Postal station clerks will be on duty until 8 o'clock each week day evening from next Monday to Nov. 30 to aid workers in filling out their applications for account numbers under the old age benefit system of the social security act. This was announced yesterday by Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen. The exceptions will be the City Hall, South Central, South Water Market, Lake street, and Haymarket stations.

"The purpose of keeping the stations open is to help employés who have no opportunity to fill out the 'SS-5' blanks during working hours," Mr. Kruetgen said. "We will have as many foreign language speaking clerks as possible on duty to answer questions of the foreign born."

An estimated 200,000 of the employé forms, about one-fourth of the total, had been distributed last night.

E-EMPLOYMENT UP TO INDUSTRY, PRESIDENT SAYS

Roosevelt Message Read to Advisory Council.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—American business and industry today were charged by President Roosevelt with the responsibility of increasing employment and bettering the living conditions of the workers.

The President's message was read by Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper to his business advisory council in session here. As outlined by Mr. Roosevelt problems to be met were as follows:

"The problem of further absorption of workers by private industry, the problem of improving living conditions of low income groups through low cost housing and slum clearance, and the problem of improving wages and working conditions of employés in industry."

President Looks Ahead.

These should be the subject of study and analysis by the business council, the President declared in his message. Then he turned to a brief glimpse into the future of his second term.

"We will, I hope, pass into the next period of our administration by looking to a wise and a more equitable balancing of the interrelated segments composing our economic and social life," said President Roosevelt. "Economic and social betterment hinges upon a continuous study of trends, such as are reflected in human thought and action, of our society."

The council issued a formal reply to the President's proposals over the name of its chairman, George H Mead, president of the Mead corporation of Cleveland, O., pledging its "full coöperation" in seeking the objectives expressed in the message.

Stands for Coöperation.

"We believe that all groups should coöperate fully to consolidate the recovery that we have thus far attained, and lay a sounder foundation for future economic development and progress in the United States," said Mead.

The council's executive committee was instructed to meet in New York on Dec. 16 to formulate a program while the full council will meet again in Washington on the night of Jan. 27.

A development of deeper significance during the day was a statement of coöperation issued by C. M. Chester, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, an organization that in the past has engaged in bitter struggles with the New Deal over its attitude toward business. This statement was in answer to a message issued yesterday by the President urging reëmployment of workers over 40 years of age.

Confident of Agreement.

Chester said that he was confident that the manufacturers would agree with the President's program.

Chester said, however, that he knew of "no studied policy on the part of industry not to employ men above 40 years of age." The only American answer to unemployment, according to Chester, was "employment within private enterprise."

The crystalization of the attitude of the nation's business toward the New Deal is expected tomorrow when the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States holds a meeting here.

The sentiment in business circles as expressed by recent visitors to the seat of the government here is that recovery would proceed with more rapidity if President Roosevelt would remove Maj. George L. Berry from his post as industrial coördinator and replace him with some one more sympathetic toward employers. Berry is head of the printing pressmen's union and also of labor's nonpartisan league, which supported Roosevelt during the campaign. He is a close associate of John L. Lewis, chief of the mine workers, who is attempting to organize the steel workers.

Happy Over Marriage Plans

PRESIDENT MAY ALTER CABINET FOR NEW TERM

Official Family Clashes Are Cited.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—The exit of Prof. Rexford G. Tugwell, the No. 1 brain truster, from the New Deal centers attention on other rivalries within the President's official family which may be resolved with the departure of one of the principals and on the probable reorganization of the cabinet for Mr. Roosevelt's second term.

With President Roosevelt's exchange of letters with Dr. Tugwell indicating that the undersecretary of agriculture and resettlement administrator is leaving under friendly circumstances and will continue to be one of the President's chief advisers, it is known that Tugwell has frequently clashed with Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace over matters of policy. Furthermore, Wallace has been charged with nursing resentment over the fact that Tugwell has had entrée to the White House at will, without the usual formality of reporting first to his superior officer.

Ickes and Hopkins at Odds.

Nevertheless, the relations between Wallace and Tugwell have been cordial when compared to those between PWA Administrator Harold L. Ickes and WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, the belligerent chief spenders of the New Deal. Neither Ickes nor Hopkins has made any attempt to conceal his contempt for the other. Hopkins told the United States conference of mayors, meeting here the other day, that the WPA would go on and that they could get all the money they wanted. On the same day Ickes appeared before the mayors urging economy all along the line.

These New Deal feuds have had their precedents and in the past each one has been terminated by somebody getting out. When Raymond Moley, the original brain truster and undersecretary of state, went to the London economic conference and began communicating directly with the President, rather than through Secretary Cordell Hull, Mr Hull resented it and told the President as much. The result was that Moley stepped out. Later on, when George N. Peek, original AAA administrator and later foreign trade advisor to the President, disagreed with the state department over the New Deal's so-called reciprocal trade agreements, he was eased out.

Johnson's Case Recalled.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson quarreled with Donald R. Richberg and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, whom he accused of "knifing" him at the White House, and that led to the end of his turbulent career as boss of the NRA.

There have been persistent rumors that Secretary Ickes would not be included in the second term cabinet, but the most informed opinion is that he will remain because of his popularity with the reclamation interests of the west, while having his spending prerogatives further curtailed in favor of Hopkins.

Two cabinet officers regarded as certain for replacement are Secretary of Labor Perkins and Attorney General Homer S. Cummings. Although a close friend of both the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, Secretary Perkins' handling of the multiplicity of strikes which have characterized her administration has brought much criticism from fellow New Dealers.

Already Attorney General Cummings' friends are spreading the word that he is determined to resign and reënter the private practice of law. The fact of the matter is that his conduct of the justice department has not satisfied the New Dealers. They point to the pitiable New Deal record before the Supreme court—nine losses out of eleven attempts—and blame it on Cummings. He is frequently mentioned as a possible successor to Frank Murphy, governor-elect of Michigan, as high commissioner to the Philippines.

Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper is another cabinet officer who may be replaced. Roper, an old line South Carolina politician, has been under fire not only because of the political basis on which he has organized the bureaus of his department but because of his failure to line up organized business, as represented by the chamber of commerce of the United States and the National Association of Manufacturers, with the New Deal.

Postmaster General James A. Farley, of course, can hold his job as long as he wants it, but he is prepared to run for governor of New York in 1938. Secretary of War Harry Woodring received his appointment on a temporary basis after the death of George H. Dern, but inasmuch as Kansas went Democratic he stands a good chance of keeping the job. The other cabinet positions are believed to be safe.

Litsinger Presents $715 Pay Claim to County Board

Edward R. Litsinger presented to the county board yesterday a claim for $715, which represents deductions from his salary as member of the old county board of tax review that was supplanted by the board of appeals in 1932. The claim was accompanied by an order signed by Judge George Fred Rush in the Circuit court directing that the claim be paid. The matter was referred to the state's atorney's office for investigation.

Make Good Government a Religion, Hunter Urges

33d Division Officers Fete Gen. Kilbourne Tonight

Staf members and organization commanders of the 33d Division, Illinois National Guard, will give a dinner at the Racquet club tonight for Maj. Gen. Charles E. Kilbourne, who will retire from active service in the United States army on Dec. 23. Following the dinner Gen. Kilbourne will present the Soldier's medal to Private Lewis G. Cowan, 108th quartermaster regiment, Illinois National Guard, for heroism in the recent Second army maneuvers. Private Cowan removed a blazing truck from a large gasoline supply, thereby averting a disastrous explosion.

COURT INCLUDES MALICE COUNT IN KREML VERDICT

Judge Walter J. La Buy in the Circuit court yesterday incorporated a malice count in the $500 judgment he awarded Durand Smith of Lake Forest on Wednesday in Smith's $25,000 false arrest suit against Lieut. Frank Kreml of the Evanston police force.

Inclusion of the malice count means that Smith can keep Lieut. Kreml in jail for six months by paying $3.50 a week for his board, unless the policeman pays the judgment. Lieut. Kreml's attorney, William Lister, offered $300 in court yesterday in settlement of the judgment, which was rejected by Smith's lawyer, Royal W. Irwin.

On Jan. 12, 1935, Lieut. Kreml arrested Smith as he was driving through Evanston, but released him without charges after learning that Smith was not the suspicious character for whom the policeman had been warned to be on the lookout. Lieut. Kreml is a widely known authority on trafic safety.

VOLUNTEERS

By CALEB

THERE is a story of a lawyer who wanted a superior office boy. He assembled eight likely candidates in his office and told them of a farmer who started for his barn one morning during a storm. He saw, perched on the barn door, an owl which had been causing him annoyance. He ran in for a gun. Then he aimed at the bird. Just as he fired, lightning struck the barn and almost immediately the entire mow leaped into flames. He called help from neighboring farms and telephoned the adjacent village. He got trampled by a horse which he attempted to lead from a stall. Neighbors formed a bucket brigade before the fire department arrived.

These and additional details the lawyer told. When he was through one boy asked, "Did the barn burn down?" Another, "Did he get all the stock out?" Another asked, "How far did the fire department come?" Another, "Was the barn insured?"

One boy looked at the questioners but remained silent. He was small and freckled, but he had sharp eyes. When the lawyer glanced at him, the boy said, "Mister, did the farmer hit the owl?"

This boy got the job. The lawyer explained that life is full of diverting circumstances. Few people have the ability and the penetration necessary to keep their eyes on original issues.

•

THAT freckled boy would fit into our business.

Our activities are varied and almost innumerable. We buy merchandise almost anywhere in the world, and send it all over the country. But back of all we do is a first purpose. That purpose is to please our customers.

It is easy in the haste and rush of the busy day for employes to overlook this initial purpose and to fasten their attentions on diverting things which are not main issues. Always, though, there are bellwethers among us who cling tenaciously to the Field tradition. They are likely to be people of the older generation who—through long years of service—have become imbued with the Field idea.

Their places in due time will be taken by volunteers—volunteers who are younger, who have fixity of purpose and penetrating insight. Volunteers—because ideals and traditions may not be administered like pills. We expose young people to the Field purpose and the Field tradition. A certain few of them—once the idea is gained—never falter from then on. In the fullness of their own generation, these youngsters will run this business—and run it true to our first purpose.

"WHY DO I FEEL LIKE THIS ?"

SO much trouble is caused by chronic constipation! Headaches, upset digestion, nervousness, lack of pep are frequently caused by poisonous wastes that accumulate in the bowels. Too often people merely use some temporary relief. See for yourself if it doesn't make a world of difference in the way you feel after using a purely vegetable laxative. U. OF C. RECEIVES DR. BEAUMONT'S PAPERS TONIGHT

Honor Memory of Noted Army Surgeon.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

One hundred and fourteen years ago in the wilds of northern Michigan, near Fort Mackinac, a young fur trader of the Hudson's Bay company, Alexis St. Martin, was injured in a gunshot accident. Tonight in Harper library of the University of Chicago President Robert M. Hutchins and distinguished members of the faculty will speak on the events that grew out of that incident, events of world-wide importance in medical research.

The man and the opportunity came together on this occasion, in 1882. The man was Dr. William Beaumont, an army surgeon then 37 years old. He had been a doctor's apprentice and in the woods had a meager kit of instruments, a bowie knife, and a saw. But he also had the spirit of scientific research.

A Human Laboratory.

A hole had been blown in the trapper's stomach. It healed with a lid of mucous membrane through which the doctor could perform experiments never before performed on a human being. He could study the gastro-intestinal system by observation and experiment. With no laboratory except this human one, Dr. Beaumont made observations of all kinds on his patient, who lived to be 85 and was able to chop wood at 70.

The result was a book, first published in 1833, called "The Physiology of Digestion, with Experiment on the Gastric Juice." It was dedicated to Dr. Joseph Lovell, surgeon general of the United States army. The book remains today a classic of untold value. It opened the way toward all modern knowledge of the gastro-intestional system.

U. of C. Gets His Papers.

The occasion for tonight's meeting, on the 151st anniversary of Dr. Beaumont's birth, is the acceptance of the university library of many papers and personal effects of the great physician, presented by Ethan Allen Beaumont, a grandson, and his wife of De Pere, Wis. Dr. Anton J. Carlson, Dr. Arno B. Luckhardt, and Dr. Selim McArthur will take part in the program.

"I would cast my mite into the treasury of knowledge," Dr. Beaumont wrote in the introduction to his book. "I would serve the cause of truth and ameliorate the condition of suffering humanity. . . . I have no hypothesis to support and have honestly recorded each experiment."

He studied this stomach's motor and secretory actions over a period of years, both in health and disease. When the book reached Europe it renewed an interest in real physiology and started experiments with dogs and other animals.

Leads to Discoveries.

It led to investigation of the pancreas and the bile. Heidenhain, in Germany, took it up and the technique was followed by Pavlov, the great Russian scientist, and Nobel prize winner, who carried his experiments into the realm of psychology in showing how reflex action is conditioned.

"The work of Dr. Beaumont gave an impetus to this work that advanced our knowledge on hundred years," said Dr. Luckhardt, who is in charge of the exhibit that will be shown at the library.

Dr. Beaumont retired from the army and practiced medicine in St. Louis for many years. In St. Louis he had as a guest in his house Capt. Robert E. Lee, then an engineer in the regular army. When Lee left he gave the Beaumonts a chair which will form part of the exhibit. There are other items of great historical interest and letters from Dr. Beaumont giving case histories, family advice, and other matters. One letter was written on Christmas day, 1850. It follows in part:

Six o'k morning—all wide awake—
And kissing for old Nick's sake—
Lapping 'lasses and buckwheat cakes,
Sipping coffee, eating venison steaks—
Oyster soup and chicken fixings—
Hot rolls and butter made from strippings.

There are also letters from St. Martin to his benefactor.

STALIN IS PLACED UNDER BIG GUARD IN WAR ON NAZIS

German Admits Guilt in Sabotage Trial.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Nov. 19.—Dictator Josef Stalin's usual guard of picked Chekists [secret police] has been quadrupled and he has become a recluse in the Kremlin, seldom appearing at public functions, according to diplomats stationed at Moscow. They report that other soviet Russian commissars are avoiding exposing themselves in the Bolshevik capital, unless heavily guarded.

The tense atmosphere in Moscow is due to a war between spies. Agents of the Russian G.P.U. are fighting a powerful and well organized group of agents of the German G.S.P. [secret police]. The latter are alleged to be attempting to demoralize the soviet government through terroristic acts to weaken Bolshevism as a prelude to a German attack on Russia.

Blame Nazis for Fire.

Mass arrests of suspects in Russia began a fortnight ago, but the first official mention of the spy war was made in the soviet press today.

Fire in the comissariat of heavy industry, which destroyed important plans for new soviet munition industries and other enterprises, is alleged to have been the work of German agents.

The fact that German espionage is highly developed in Russia has been known for years by soviet authorities, and the latest attempt to liquidate their organization two years ago was admitted to be unsuccessful.

The G. P. U. today is suspicious of every one bearing a German name. Persons who called at the German embassy in Moscow as long as six months ago are being called to the G. P. U. headquarters for examination.

The movement of representatives of other countries in Moscow also is hampered by the increased numbers of Chekists following their movements. Residents of the foreign colony, who are all suspects, are reported to be terrorized by the many secret arrests made daily.

8 on Trial Plead Guilty.

KOVOSIBIRSK, Western Siberia, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Seven Russians and one German engineer, E. Stickling, pleaded guilty today, the government announced, to charges of sabotage of the great Kamerovo coal mines with the resultant death of 12 miners. A ninth defendant admitted "partial guilt." Death is the penalty.

The trial here was first of a series expected to result from recent arrests in Moscow and Leningrad. Its importance to the Russian mind was indicated by the appearance of the president of the military collegium of the Supreme court, Judge Ulrich, as presiding magistrate. He is credited with having sentenced more men to death than any other judge in Russia.

The prosecution alleged that Leon Trotzky, exiled former minister of war, and German Fascists were connected directly with the nine prisoners here in sabotage efforts. The indictment asserted that the plotters first decommissioned safety devices and sent miners to work under dangerous gas conditions which brought death to two on Dec. 28, 1935. Ten were killed and 14 injured by an explosion on Sept. 23, 1936.

POLISH JEWS TO AID DEFENSE OF 'CRUSADE' HEADS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Nov. 19.—Polish Jewry has made a generous response to the appeal to contribute to the defense fund of Wilhelm Rippel and eight other leaders of the Crusade of Jewish Youth. They were arrested after a riot near Warsaw when 1,000 Jewish youths who had set out to hike to Palestine were ambushed by police forces.

The prisoners are charged with organizing an illegal movement, wearing prohibited uniforms and staging a demonstration without a permit.

The defense insists that the Polish government is equally interested with the Jewish minority in calling the attention of the world to the plight of Polish Jewry. It is further alleged that the British government intervened at Warsaw, requesting that the crusade be stopped and warning Poland that English would not permit the marchers to enter Palestine.

Farley Calls on De Valera; Hears Hot Debate in Dail

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Nov. 19.—Postmaster General James A. Farley of the United States today was received by President Eamon de Valera. The two men chatted for half an hour, Farley later listened to an acrimonious debate in the dail eir eann on the partition of Ireland. He also visited Lord Mayor Alfred "Alfy" Byrne who showed him the famous drum from which Irish sweepstakes lottery tickets are drawn.

U. S. PROTESTS TO POLAND AGAIN ON JAILING AMERICAN

Woman Seized for Breach of Currency Laws.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Nov. 19.—Another case involving detention of American citizens by Polish police authorities brought a vigorous protest to the Warsaw foreign office today from the American embassy.

Thomas H. Bevan, the United States consul general, had investigated the arrest of Mrs. Katrine Lizka of New York city. She was held incommunicado in the Cracow jail for four days before she was charged with violating the complicated government regulations concerning foreign currency.

$600 Found in Shoes.

Mrs. Lizka, who had been visiting relatives in Cracow for several months, was arrested at the Cracow depot as she was about to board a train for Gdynia to embark for America on the new Polish steamer Pilsudski. In her shoes was found $600.

Bevan immediately sent an American consular official to Cracow to investigate. After the arrest and imprisonment of two other American women, Mrs. Dorothy Atkinson and Mrs. Nina Galewska, the government had promised the United States embassy that hereafter when Americans were arrested it would immediately me notified.

Asserts Charge Unfounded.

The American investigator declared that in his opinion Mrs. Lizka was not guilty of having broken any law. American consular officials, replying to the Polish charge that she had hidden money in her shoe, said it was because she feared pickpockets and thieves. They added that many traveling Americans conceal valuables on their person.

American officials are indignant that Mrs. Lizka was held in the Cracrow jail four days before charges were preferred against her.

GRANDDAUGHTER OF HANNA ASKS DIVORCE FROM N. YORK BROKER

New York, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Decision was reserved in state Supreme court today in an uncontested suit for divorce by Mrs. Charlotte Hume Rothchild, granddaughter of the late Mark Hanna, against Luigi M. Rothchild, New York broker.

Philip Turner, private investigator, and Miss Pamela Webber, a servant, testified they found Rothchild in an apartment on Park avenue with another woman last Aug. 24.

"There was a woman in bed," said Turner. "The defendant was in pajamas." This testimony was corroborated by Miss Webber.

Mrs. Rothchild testified she married Rothchild last Dec. 23, that there were no children, and that she wanted no alimony.

GREEN ANSWERS LEWIS' CHARGES ON MINER UNION

Wires Reply to Threat of Own Expulsion.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Invective in the war of words within the American Federation of Labor over the committee for industrial organization [C. I. O.] reached a new high today when William Green, president of the federation, telegraphed to John L. Lewis:

"You have shown that whom the gods would destroy they first make mad."

The United Mine Workers, of which Lewis is president and Green a member of 33 years' standing, along with nine other unions backing the C. I. O.'s drive for formation of industrial unions in mass production industries, has been suspended by the A. F. of L. and as a result has no delegates at the federation convention here.

Yesterday the mine union wired member Green an order to "cease and desist" activities which they consider disloyal to their union, or take the consequences. It was a threat to expel him from membership in the union, as the A. F. of L. has already threatened to expell the rebel unions from the federation if they persist in their C. I. O. endeavors.

Denies Lewis Charges.

"I regard decision submitted in your latest telegram as an expression of your personal will," President Green wired back to Lewis. "I refuse to accept it as the free expression of the individual members of the international executive board, United Mine Workers of America. I definitly repeat my denials of every allegation you make. My services to the United Mine Workers did not cease twelve years ago, as you allege."

Green went on to cite his activities as federation president in support of the miners' union, including the raising of $750,000 as a mine union strike fund and the assistance which he gave in combating a rebel organization within the miners' union.

"Instead of making a constructive contribution toward the settlement of honest differences which have arisen by your actions you have shown that whom the gods would destroy they first make mad," Green's telegram continued. "Our responsibilities as leaders of men call for the exercise of tolerance, moderation, and constructive thing.

Willing to Confer.

"Regardless of any attempt which you may make to secure personal revenge, I shall follow a policy of patience and self control supported by a willingness to meet and settle differences in manly fashion at the conference table."

Earlier in the day President Green made public another message, to Charles P. Howard, president of the typographical union and secretary of the C. I. O. While Howard supports the C. I. O., his union has not joined the movement, and he therefore is entitled to a seat as a delegate, whereas Lewis is not. He has not come to the convention, however.

Howard challenged the suspension of the ten C. I. O. unions by the A. F. of L. executive council as an illegal act, "savoring of dictatorship." Green replied that Howard's union is not suspended, and asked why he is not here in Tampa as a delegate representing it. He also criticized the C. I. O. for failure to appoint a committee to confer with a committee named by the executive council to seek a solution of the great labor split.

One Pleads for Harmony.

Max Zaritsky, head of the Hat, Cap, and Millinery Workers' union, was the only one who raised a voice during the day in the interests of labor harmony. Zaritsky is in the same position as Howard. He is personally a supporter of the C. I. O., but his union is not. Therefore he was seated as a convention delegate.

In a statement pleading for "reason and an appreciation of realities," Zaritsky said:

"If any challenges are to be hurled, let them be directed against the open shoppers, the steel magnates, and those barons of industry who would be the sole beneficiaries of a rift in the American labor movement. Instead of challenging each other to mortal combat and wasting our substance in fratricidal strife when we need all of it to meet a common enemy, let us avail ourselves of what opportunities still remain to heal the breach."

All these words, the angry ones and the soothing ones, are mere skirmishing. The heavy firing starts next week, when the convention committees finish grinding their way through a mountain of resolutions and make the reports to the convention on which federation policies on C. I. O. and other issues will be based.

More Speeches Heard.

Speaking to an audience which consisted almost wholly of enthusiastic New Deal supporters, Spencer Miller Jr., director of the workers' education bureau of the federation, warned of the danger resting in the almost complete absence of an effective opposition in the national government.

"Opposition is of the very nature of the effective operation of a two party system—it is the safety valve of democrary," Miller said. "It it does not exist, it ought to be created as an important check and balance upon the whole operation of governmental affairs. In the words of the editorial columns of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, 'The New Deal, for its own sake, and perhaps for that of the people, will need the honest criticism of the minority group.'

"The intelligent criticism of a minority from both the right and the left wing is necessary. Furthermore, if labor is to preserve its own independence as a free trade union movement, it must be prepared to criticize as well as to coöperate with government."

Assails Cuban Régime.

The Batista government in Cuba is a military dictatorship worse than the dictatorship of Gen. Machado, it was charged by Cesar Vilar, president of the Cuban Federation of Labor, who was recently released from prison in Cuba and is an exile in the United States. He spoke through an interpreter.

Under Batista, Vilar charged, the military has completely subordinated civil authorities, operation of laws guaranteeing rights of labor has been suspended, and numerous labor leaders have been imprisoned, tortured, and in some cases murdered without trial.

While the convention had a ready ear for the woes of Cuban labor, it remained deaf today to appeals on behalf of the United Front government in Spain. The Spanish ambassador to the United States, Fernando de Los Rios, whose press agent announced yesterday that he was on the way to Tampa to seek an audience by the convention, arrived this noon. Shortly thereafter the same press agent announced that the ambassador had not and would not seek to address the delegates, and that previous announcements had been due to a misunderstanding.

Reluctance Explained.

Reluctance of the delegates to hear a plea on behalf of the radicals in Spain, it is understood, arises partly from a desire by the federation to keep clear of any contact with communists, who share in the Spanish government. A more important reason, however, is the religious issue. Many of the delegates are Catholics, who would object strenuously to entertaining a representative of forces charged with the slaying of priests and nuns.

A report, published Nov. 14, that a car driven by E. J. Lewis, 1413 Elmdale avenue, struck a Yellow taxicab, should have stated that there was a collision of the two vehicles. According to the Lincoln park police, the cause of the accident is controversial.

Close Garfield Boulevard North Drive for Resurfacing

Resurfacing of the north drive on Garfield boulevard from South Park way to Western boulevard started yesterday. Otto K. Jelinek, park district trafic engineer, said the south drive would be used for two way trafic until the resurfacing is completed, probably in about two weeks.

HOLD SECRET VOTE ON STRIKE IN STOCKYARDS

Union Spurns 5 Per Cent Raise; Asks 15.

Members of the Live Stock Handlers' union, whose two strikes in the last three years have crippled activities at the Union stockyards, balloted again yesterday on the question of authorizing their officials to call a walkout. The result of the vote is to be made public at the regular union meeting tonight.

Union officials said the sentiment of their men is strongly in favor of a strike, and that some of the men favor a walkout shortly before the International Livestock show starts on Saturday, Nov. 28.

400 in Union Here.

The Live Stock Handlers' union is local 517 of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's Union of North America, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. Thomas Devero, business agent of the union, claims a membership of 400 for his group, most of whom are employed by the Union Stockyards and Transit company.

On Nov. 1 the union submitted demands for a 15 per cent increase in pay, time and a half for overtime, double time for Sunday and holiday work, and recognition of seniority rights. The company offered a 5 per cent wage boost, an increase of 3 to 5 cents a nhour over the present wages, which are based on a minimum of 40 cents an hour over the present wages, the compromise and called for the strike vote.

Dates Back to '33 Walkout.

The origin of the present controversy goes back to November, 1933, shortly before the live stock show, when the union members walked out, paralyzing the yards for two days. This strike was ended when the employer organization agreed to wage increases ranging from about 7 per cent to as high, in a few cases, as 25 per cent. Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan served as arbitrator in this settlement.

Again in July, 1934, the union went out on strike for twelve days, charging that while the hourly wages had been raised, the company had cut down on the hours of work, so that the men actually got less money than before Judge Sullivan's award.

Gen. Johnson Intervenes.

The second strike was settled after the intervention of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, then head of the National Recovery administration, and Judge Sullivan arbitrated several disputed points under his previous findings. The union accepted small wage reductions and in return received the guarantee of 48 hours' employment for regular employés and 40 hours for extra employés in weeks in which 4,000 or more cars of live stock were handled.

Receipts of cattle and hogs at the stockyards have been increasing in recent months. For this reason, union officials contend, the company is in a better position to grant wage concessions than it was a year ago.

SANTA DUE HERE TODAY ON FLYING PRE-YULE VISIT

Santa Claus will pay a pre-Christmas visit to Chicago today, arriving at the Municipal airport at 11 a. m. on a TWA Douglas Skyliner. He will be greeted by representatives of the city government and the State Street council.

After this initial welcome the toys and presents to be brought in the ship will be transferred to two smaller Stinson planes and flown to Grant park, where, later in the day, Santa Claus will hold forth in an igloo and receive such young Chicagoans as wish to interview him.

Tomorrow Santa Claus will lead a parade of airplanes and floats through the loop. The planes will be drawn through the streets, the first time such a feat has been attempted in the loop. The procession will cross into the loop on Jackson boulevard at 10 a. m. and proceed north to State and Madison streets, where Santa Claus will be given an official welcome to the city by Mayor Kelly.

HealthCenterOfficial Fined on Medical License Charge

Ray Drangel, 35 years old, 1033 North Francisco avenue, an official of the Dra-So Health center at 1111 North Ashland avenue, was fined $100 and costs yesterday by Judge Albert E. Isley of Newton, sitting in the County court here, on a charge of practicing medicine without a license. The judge granted a year's probation to Dr. Norman F. Allemeir, 40 years old, 6859 Wentworth avenue, whom he had previously sentenced to 60 days in the county jail on a similar charge, but ruled that a $250 fine must stand.

FRANK MOORE OF THE TRIBUNE WINS PHOTO PRIZE

Frank M. Moore, CHICAGO TRIBUNE staf photographer, won the first prize and the Barnack medal of merit at the Third International Leica show now on exhibit at the Blackstone hotel. The winning photograph was of a mounted policeman in the shadows of the elevated at Wabash avenue and Congress street. The second award was given to C. L. Coleman Jr., 305 Fullerton parkway, for his photograph of a Chicago river scene. Honorable mention was given Dr. L. B. Arey of Northwestern university, for a Bavarian landscape. The exhibit will remain open through Saturday.

A Flavor So Good Should Not Be Confined to Beverages Alone

A flavor so delicious as to have maintained its popularity meal after meal, day after day, year after year, shouldn't be confined to beverages only.

Coffee is more than a beverage; it is a delicious flavor for cakes, icings, puddings, sauces, gelatines, desserts, and many other delicacies. When used as the liquid ingredient in many recipes, it adds an improved note of color, and a delicacy of flavor, which immediately gives the dish the air of "something different."

AFTER AN EVENING AT CONTRACT, when the final scores are reckoned, the enticing aroma of Royal Jewel Coffee mellows the victors and heartens the vanquished!

Roasted just enough to bring out the volatile essences, Chicago's blend of Royal Jewel Coffee was selected this spring by 4648 Chicago families in a city-wide taste-test.

Chicago's keener coffee taste has recognized Royal Jewel as more than a coffee . . . a beverage for the connoisseur. Chicago hostesses have taken delight in adopting "The Coffee of Chicago's own choice" as a correct element in their social activities.

FIRST OF A SERIES OF CORONATION YEAR FASHIONS

We have King Edward of England to thank for some of the most entertaining fashions in years. Just thirteen weeks ago he went holidaying to Dalmatia, that colorful stretch of coastland along the Adriatic, famous for its Old World costumes. And presto! Dalmatia suddenly became the inspiration of designers both here and abroad. We first introduced Dalmatian fashions to Chicago with our State Street window of gay pill boxes — and one of Chicago's best known fashion editors was the first to wear one. Now we bring you dresses, jewelry and more new pill-box hats to give your wardrobe a carnival touch for the approaching holidays.

SUE TO BREAK CONTRACT WITH SHIP COMPANIES

Striking Seamen Assail Labor Federation.

New York, Nov. 19.—[Special.]—The strike strategy committee, directing agency of the seamen's strike, today filed suit in Supreme court seeking a judgment abrogating the contract between the International Seamen's union and steamship lines on grounds of fraud and collusion.

Joseph Curran, director of the strike, also appealed to the national labor relations board to order an election of I. S. U. members to determine whether its officers, who have declared the strike outlaw, represent the choice of the members.

These actions came as answers to the action of the American Federation of Labor convention in Tampa denouncing the strike as an outlaw movement and condemning all Atlantic and gulf coast strikers.

A. F. of L. Is Assailed.

"In denying 20,000 organized workers an opportunity to voice their protests and claims, the American Federation of Labor has aligned itself with every reactionary force in the country," said a statement at strike headquarters. "In spite of the convention resolution we are going to keep this fight within the I. S. U. and the A. F. of L."

A telegram was sent to William Green, president of the federation, protesting the convention's action in refusing to permit friends of the strikers to speak and demanding the right to present evidence on the floor against officers of the I. S. U.

In the Supreme court action for a judgment voiding the I. S. U.-Ship lines contract, and in which 34 steamship companies as well as the union are named, the strikers charged that the contract was entered into without authority and contrary to a referendum of the union membership.

Conditions Called Bad.

Since the contract was signed, says the petition, working conditions have been bad, with temperature in fire rooms ranging up to 150 degrees, bad food served to seamen and working days frequently lasting twenty hours or more.

Representative Vito Marcantonio demanded in a message to Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper that charges of malfeasance be brought against two deputy shipping commissioners who passed on the crew of the liner Washington.

Sailing of the Washington despite the strike was hailed by shipowners and the I. S. U. as a severe defeat for the strikers.

The commissioners, Hugh S. Price and Frank Pasqualino, were accused of accepting as qualified seamen six men who later were rejected by Shipping Commissioner John J. Daly and Steamboat Inspector George Fried.

Work First, Then Arbitrate.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Lee J. Holman, who was replaced by Harry Bridges as an International Longshoremen's association official here, announced today his newly formed Longshore union is prepared to place 3,500 men at work and then arbitrate any points at issue.

Holman is president of the Maritime and Transportation Servicemen's Union of the Pacific and formerly was head of the I. L. A. local.

"The American citizen maritime workers are sick and tired of alien leadership and dictatorship, and want to return to work and negotiate afterward," Holman said in a letter to Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, in appealing for recognition.

CALL 12 HOUR GENERAL STRIKE IN MEXICO TO PROTEST FASCISM

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Mexican labor organizations prepared tonight for a demonstration by 150,000 workers tomorrow in protest against Fascism on the twenty-sixth anniversary of the start of the revolution which overthrew the Porfirio Diaz dictatorship.

The Confederation of Workers of Mexico and its federal district affiliate, the Regional Federation of Workers and Peasants, ordered a twelve hour general strike in all stores, factories, and business establishments.

The labor groups planned the halting of all street cars, trains, and omnibuses during a huge parade to start at 10 a. m. For fifteen minutes tomorrow night the city's electric lights are to be turned off.

JARECKI REFUSES TO FREE WOMAN POLLS OFFICIAL

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki declined yesterday to vacate the 60 day contempt of court sentence against Mrs. Lina T. Singer, 41 years old, 3339 Douglas boulevard, one of the four polls officials of the 41st precinct of the 24th ward who were convicted of fraud in the election of Nov. 8, 1932. Mrs. Singer contended that she was "dominated" by the other polls officials and that she had been punished enough already. Both the Appellate court and the Illinois Supreme court have denied her appeal.

GRANGE AGAINST ANY PERMANENT FARM SUBSIDIES

Suggests Ten Remedies for Soil Tillers' Ills,

Columbus, O., Nov. 19.—(AP)—The National Grange late today went on record as opposed to subsidies or special privileges in any form as a permanent program.

The report of the organization's committee on agriculture, which was adopted during the closing hours of the 70th annual meeting, expressed the opinion, however, that subsidies "as an emergency measure are justified to right a temporary wrong or inequality."

For Family Sized Farms.

"Farming involves all of the people indirectly and about one-fourth directly," the report said. "We should not ask for special privileges and we should not permit special privileges to others. When subsidies are used we believe they should be limited to family sized farms and not paid to corporations or nonresident owners.

"We do believe in equality with industry and that justice and fair treatment should be meted out to all alike. For a long time permanent program we are convinced that agriculture as well as industry must stand on its own feet."

Remedies Are Proposed.

They were:

1. We must keep the American market for the American farmer.
2. We must pay agriculture a parity price for the products raised.
3. We must encourage farmers to conserve their soil.
4. We must seek new uses for agricultural products.
5. We must encourage the family sized farm and discourage corporation or very large scale farming.
6. Only bring new lands into production as it becomes economically sound to do so.
7. Make agriculture a gainful occupation instead of just a way of living.
8. We must continue to help ourselves through the process of growth, realizing that in organization there is strength.
9. Farmers should have the moral, corporal, and legal advantages given to industry.
10. Make the farm home truly a home so that it will be an attractive place in which to live.

Favor Senate Ratification.

The foreign relations committee report, adopted today, urged that if the reciprocal trade agreement act is extended that senate ratification of all such treaties should be made mandatory. The report also asked that the "most favored nation" clauses be withdrawn from foreign trade agreements if they are continued after the June, 1937, expiration date.

The organization expressed its disapproval of overcentralization of government, pointing out that the tendency has been in progress for many years.

The resolution said: "We are opposed to any constitutional changes which would abridge the rights of the state to control their own affairs within proper limits, or that would impair . . . local self-government."

BATTERED BODY OF TEXAS WOMAN FOUND NEAR SAN ANTONIO

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 19.—(AP)—The pajama clad, battered body of a pretty woman identified as Miss Clara Marsh, 27, of Seguin, Tex., was found today on a highway near here.

Capt. J. W. Bryant of the county highway patrol said the young woman apparently had been slain elsewhere and her body thrown from a motor car.

Bryant said she had received fractures of both ankles, a deep cut on the back of her head, a broken shoulder and internal injuries.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

Yorkville Corn In.

Nov. 19, 1936.

Corn pickers have been put away for the season at the Tribune's Yorkville Experimental farm. All the corn is now in the cribs except a few loads that the harvesters plan to hand pick from a 30 acre field of the Krug variety that was so hard hit by drouth and white grubs as to produce only a small crop of good ears.

About 6,200 bushels of corn are in the cribs. Several hundred bushels have been fed to hogs and beef steers since the corn first became dry enough to pick this fall.

Cattle In Stalk Fields.

The stalk fields are now dotted with 166 head of whitefaced steers and 253 hogs that have been turned in to clean up any corn left by the pickers. These animals are running in 215 acres of stalk land. The farm manager expects the shattered corn to last them about a week. He is anxious to have them clean it all up before snow covers the ground.

Last year the corn picking job lasted nearly all winter at the Yorkville farm. This year, with a much smaller crop to pick, the men took advantage of good weather and hurried the work along. They plan to have the last load out of the fields well ahead of Thanksgiving.

The hogs that have been turned into the stalk fields also have access to alfalfa pasture. The fence separating the fields consists of three strands of barbed wire, allowing the hogs to pass through into the alfalfa. They are being fed ground oats in slop to which is added a mineral mixture containing yeast. The steers may be given small amounts of silage while they are in the stalk fields but no hay or other feed.

New Corn Picker Stored.

The new corn picker was taken off the tractor Tuesday and stored in sections in a machine shed. All working parts and unpainted metal were given a bath in waste crank case oil to prevent rust. The old pickers were oiled up and stored away. Some of the tractors used in corn picking now are pulling gang plows. About 70 acres of oat stubble remain to be plowed this fall. Eighty-five acres were plowed before the corn picking started.

Repair Saw Mill.

Workmen at the Wheaton farm have been repairing the saw mill this week, getting it ready to cut some dead trees into lumber. The mill was set up last winter and used to work up logs cut from dead trees in the farm woodlots. The men had trouble keeping in shape the track on which the log carriage runs. Freezing and thawing of the ground threw it out of line. This week they have been building some miniature concrete piers on which the track will be mounted. The blocks of concrete extend down into the ground below the frost line.

ROCK ISLAND MAY LOSE HENNEPIN CANAL TERMINUS

Hearing Set on Proposed Changes in Route.

Davenport, Ia., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Possible elimination of Rock Island as the western terminus of the Hennepin canal was seen today in the announcement of a public hearing on two proposed changes in the route of the canal.

Col. E. E. Gesler, district engineer of the Rock Island army engineers, announced that the hearing will be held in Rock Island Dec. 4.

According to the announcement the hearing is to determine the final route of the proposed improved canal, which is to be made a nine foot channel canal instead of its present six foot depth, by suitable widening and dredging and by enlarging and cutting down the number of locks.

Colona Route Proposed.

The change of greatest interest to the Tri-Cities, and especially Rock Island, which will be discussed at the hearing, is the proposal to have the canal proceed westward from the vicinity of Colona, a distance of approximately five miles to the Mississippi river near Campbell's island and Watertown, instead of along the present route by way of Rock river and Rock Island.

The other proposed change is in regard to the eastern end of the canal and suggests a change of about six miles in entering the Illinois river.

Although a public hearing was held in 1931 on the same subject on a broader basis, the forthcoming hearing is to be confined mainly to discussion and arguments on these proposals, the announcement indicated.

Other Changes Necessary.

The proposed change of the western terminus, bringing the canal to the Mississippi at Watertown, also would require other changes, the announcement said. It would require the relocation of the Chicago Burlington and Quincy railroad spur line for a distance of 4,600 feet north of Green river and a slight reduction in the grade of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad near a point 3,200 feet west of Colona, with an overhead crossing of the C. B. and Q. railroad at the same place and a lift bridge on the Milwaukee railroad.

The improvement of the existing route west of Colona would require a lift bridge on the main line of the Rock Island and a grade elevation of the Galesburg spur for 4,000 feet and a spur for 4,000 feet south of Colona.

There are now 32 locks in the Hennepin canal and informed sources said today this number would be cut almost in half if the improved canal program goes through.

SOS IN BOTTLE CAST UP ON BEACH; HUNT DISTRESSED VESSEL

QUEBEC, Nov. 19.—(AP)—A cryptic, bottle borne S. O. S. message, cast up on the beach of lonely Anticosti Island, aroused anxiety for the lives of an unknown ship's crew in the storm whipped Gulf of St. Lawrence today.

The message, scrawled in almost illegible characters, read: "Help. We have nothing to eat. We are in the middle of the gulf. S. S. CHABOT."

Signal service men were unable to tell how long the bottle had been tossed about on the waters, nor could they identify any such craft as the "S. S. Chabot" in their registries. Apparently it was from some Gaspe peninsula fishermen's barque. In such a case mariners held little hope for the crew's safety, since a fierce storm has been raging in the gulf for days.

A message was sent out to all ships in the gulf to search for the distressed boat.

ARMY TO SPEED STRIKING POWER ON LAND, IN AIR

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—(AP)—The army high command moved today to insure quicker striking power for America's fighting forces on land and in the air.

Tentative approval was given for drastic reduction in the size of combat divisions to speed up their movement in action. Simultaneously announcement was made by Secretary Woodring that the war department plans to ask the next congress for sufficient funds to purchase approximately 700 fighting airplanes during the 1938 fiscal year.

This would exceed by about 100 the number of planes bought by the army under the $33,000,000 appropriated for that purpose in the present fiscal period. The last of this fund was allotted today with the award of a $3,429,600 contract to North American Aviation, Inc., of Inglewood, Cal., for 120 observation type ships.

Reorganization of army divisions, involving changes in the whole tactical structure, is to be undertaken—experimentally at first—in furtherance of the army's general five year program of modernization, both in equipment and man power. This plan embraces gradual acquisition of sufficient tanks, motorized artillery, cavalry and infantry regiments and trucks to make the American military establishment literally an "army on wheels."

ARKANSAS PRESS IMMUNITY LAW IN EFFECT ON DEC. 3

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Arkansas newspaper men will be vested with professional immunity after Dec. 3 under a mandate of the electorate laid down at the general election.

A clause protecting reporters and editors from contempt proceedings was embodied in a criminal reform initiated act adopted by a vote of 121,300 to 29,174. It becomes effective 30 days after the election.

The clause provided the writers should not be required to disclose to a grand jury the source of information used in a news story unless it could be proved that the article was written with malice or "not in the interests of the public welfare."

We've stepped up the style—let your flattered eye gaze its fill. We've stepped up the size and the room and the luxury—look it over.

We've stepped up the power, and the performance as well—put an even bigger, abler, quicker, quieter valve-in-head straight-eight engine into every chassis in the 1937 line.

On the road the new Buick travels poised and serene as a queen—even in tough going it doesn't pitch, dodge or roll—Knee-Action and double stabilizers give you the true gliding ride.

It handles with fingertip lightness whether in traffic or at speed. Its big hydraulics slow you down safe and straight under the softest pressure. There's jumbo luggage space in every model.

To mention just one more feature of many, the Aerobat carburetor is something to write home about—an all-position gas-miser that provides even flow of fuel under every condition—on fast curves, quick starts and sudden stops, on steep upgrades and downgrades.

Look this beauty over, you folks who drive lesser cars, and you'll see we've stepped up everything but you—and with our low prices and easy payments you ought to find that final detail simple.

THE MAYORS AT WASHINGTON.

The mayors of the country's leading cities in Washington for their annual gabfest have been making a sorry spectacle of themselves. They are asking for a continuation of the flow of money out of the federal treasury for purely local purposes. Formerly the money from Washington for cities was rationalized as relief for unemployment during an emergency. That explanation is no longer available, for the business upturn, of which there is evidence on every hand, has reduced unemployment to a fraction of that which previously existed.

The mayors are now demanding that WPA be made permanent, with funds flowing uninterruptedly to the cities to pay for parks, street improvements, bridges, sanitation, and other municipal activities. The leadership in this drive for permanent handouts from the government is being taken by Mayor La Guardia of New York City. It is understandable that poor and backward communities should require outside help in times of unusual distress. But New York City doesn't meet these specifications for eligibility for assistance. As the richest city in the world, there never was a time when New York could not have provided for all of its necessary municipal functions and for all of its needy inhabitants.

Getting money from Washington has become a racket. It is preferred to all other sources by mayors because it doesn't show in the local tax rate or in the indebtedness statement. The money has been flowing from Washington long enough now so that the mayors think of a permanent WPA as their just and honest due. La Guardia even had the audacity to chide the President for giving the mayors last time less than they had asked for.

The other vested interests in a continuation are the burocrats. Harry Hopkins, the WPA administrator, told the mayors that the end of WPA was a long way off, and that they could count on getting funds from Washington far into the future. Harold L. Ickes, the Public Works administrator, was not to be outdone, and declared that he was convinced that his organization, set up for the emergency, should be made a permanent agency of the government.

That the two vested interests in WPA and PWA, the mayors and the burocrats, are in for disappointment was indicated by Postmaster General Farley in London on Monday. He stated that the President intends to abolish WPA as soon as improvement in business justifies that action. That is in line with the President's statement that he is at work on a balanced budget, thus carrying out "the first of the campaign pledges." He has subsequently declared that he was against any further increase in taxes. The budget will be balanced in small part by an increased revenue from existing taxes, but in larger part from reducing the emergency expenditures. Thus, the carrying out of what the President has referred to as "the first of the campaign pledges" necessarily means denying the mayors what they have been asking for.

CO-ORDINATION.

The word "coördination" has been in the English language for centuries. In point of fact, it is related to "ordinary," which statement robs it of much of its high sounding significance. Nevertheless it is not a familiar word, so when airplanes, Diesel propelled barges, trucks, and buses commenced to create a disturbance in the blissfully complacent and super-regulated railway field, coördination was recalled from the cannery to serve as "new thought." The problem required a new nostrum, "coördination of transportation."

But there is nothing new about either problem or treatment. Because water transportation could not cross natural barriers, early railways were built as connecting links. Through coördination of the two types of carrier, connected service from the Atlantic seaboard to the Great Lakes was established. When this combination proved inadequate because of winter freezing and the inherent tedium of the canal, railroads paralleled the waterways, offering through service. This was coördination and no easy job. Track gauges varied from four to six feet and, in most instances, railway terminals were separated by the full width of the town.

Following logical evolution the railways were next grouped to form our great geographical trunk lines. This was correctly termed consolidation, but the railways have gone farther. Through the good offices of associations and leagues the equipment of one railroad may move without hindrance over the lines of all others, until a New York Central or Erie box car has become a familiar visitor from Halifax to Mexico City and from Seattle to Santiago de Cuba. Here is the zenith of coördination, not only by the rail carriers, but with water transportation, which bridges the gaps across rivers and lakes as well as the Gulf of Mexico.

Because science has produced the motor carrier to superimpose a finer network on the transportation pattern of the country, is there any sane reason why coördination will not naturally proceed without government assistance—or interference? It is inevitable. Eventually the containers or truck bodies must follow the lead of the box car, performing their intricate services at the terminals but transported over the vast area included in the railway domain on the flat cars of railways or the decks of barges. The English brickmaker has pointed the way with his "traveling hod." Small containers are separately loaded at the kilns, grouped on a freight car for movement to the city, skidded to a truck for street service, and finally hoisted to the mason's platform to deposit the load through a hinged bottom.

The prospect of coördination under government guidance recalls vividly an early decision that railway usefulness was confined to passenger service. They were forbidden by law to carry freight because of the alleged superiority of canals. The burocratic plan that each element of transportation should assume the work for which it is best adapted also recalls the early practice of transferring cargo from barge to box car and vice versa. Transshipment is the antithesis of coördination.

Fast freight lines were the harbingers of railway coördination. The objective was reached through the promotion of the through route and the through car. They might well be reinstated to act as the transportation companies that will finally accomplish the coördination of truck, rail, and water service, but they cannot be hampered by armchair theories that this or that commodity is proper freight for a specified form of carriage. They must be left free to call upon each agent for maximum efficiency.

THE FATE OF MADRID.

Bonaparte lost the Russian campaign, and eventually his crown, when he smashed the grand army against the fortification of Smolensk. As the present desperate fighting at Madrid continued, the event was becoming more and more dubious. Would the capture of the capital be decisive of the revolt, or would the Fascist army wear itself out in the attempt so that the victory would be empty? An antique general gave his name to such a victory.

The sudden and premature recognition of the Spanish Fascist party as the government of Spain indicates that Rome and Berlin were convinced either that Franco could not take Madrid or that he would not be able to follow up his advantage; in short, that his strength was waning in the prolonged struggle for the capital. What will now eventuate cannot be predicted.

Perhaps political consideration had as much to do with Franco's drive on Madrid as military, or more. But even more influential probably was the belief of the Fascist leaders that the government forces were too weak to put up a stubborn resistance. The pride of the professional soldier may have betrayed him. It has in past history more than once. A Spaniard, it would seem, ought not to have made this particular mistake. The Spaniards of old were noted for their heroic resistance to sieges and for their skill in guerrilla warfare. Napoleon's marshals and veteran troops, representing the highest point reached by the military art of that time, could defeat every regular Spanish force in the field, but they did not conquer the Spanish people.

That long and heroic defense was, of course, against a foreign foe, and it may not be possible to maintain an effective resistance against a Spanish party in possession of the capital and the forms of authority, especially if they have foreign recognition and support. The capture of Madrid would add greatly to the prestige of the Fascist movement, at home and abroad, but without foreign complications it would not end the revolution. Catalonia is completely in the hands of the anarchists and socialists, who are well organized and supplied. The Fascists would find it a hard nut to crack even with foreign supply.

The prospects of peace through compromise have not been improving, as the inability to agree even upon exchange of prisoners indicates, and the latest Italian and German Fascist intervention seems to postpone them indefinitly. In fact, whatever the fate of Madrid the fate of Spain is now in the hands of the great powers.

HAZARDS OF THE DRIVE.

Two or three weeks ago the press carried accounts as well as pictures of a spectacular accident on Lincoln Park drive. A motorist had collided head on with one of the four lamp posts that mark the little used crossings at Center street and Fullerton avenue. A trafic officer, inspecting the wreck, was killed when he attempted to jump from the path of a second car that narrowly escaped the same obstruction.

Within the last week broad lines have been painted along the pavement as a safety precaution, but what objection is there to the removal of the posts? They serve no salient purpose and are merely inviting further accidents. Their very existence acts as a mental hazard to the regular user of the drive, who tends to swerve toward the middle of the street at these points. The stranger, on the other hand, does not understand these maneuvers and frequently avoids disaster only by the prompt application of brakes. With the roadway used as a one way drive nobody anticipates center obstructions.

FREIGHT RATES AND COTTON CROPPERS.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]

A significant feature of the articles by Paul Hughes in the Louisville Times on business conditions in southern Indiana cities and towns should not be lost upon the south or those interested in the cotton tenant situation. Every town over there as large as Shelbyville had at least one factory.

From the fringe along the Kentucky shore of the Ohio river to the Gulf of Mexico no factory smoke soils the housekeeper's curtains in rural towns. It is especially noticeable by contrast in Kentucky. The northern visitor was wont to ascribe that to the southern disposition; but, as soon as border cities on this side of the river were put in the northern freight rate zone, Louisville, Ashland, and Paducah began to grow rapidly and manufacturing plants sprang up the length of the state.

This situation has a direct bearing on the effort to emancipate the cotton cropper. He is no more the victim of exploitation than he is of lop-sided, one-crop, agricultural economy. He knows nothing but raising cotton. The history of the south since the invention of the gin demonstrates that cotton cultivation is a large scale industry. Merely aiding the tenant to become a small proprietor and raise cotton will not extricate him from the social consequences of an unbalanced economic system. He needs factory workers in the county seat for whom he can gather eggs, milk cows, raise pigs and vegetables, corn and wheat. Even with preliminary aid the south must solve its own problem and the key to that appears to be free competition in the markets of the country for manufactured articles.

LILAC BUSH IN NOVEMBER.

With reaching arms against the sodden gray
Of city's skies, to catch the last faint glow
That ebbs along the dusky rim of day
You stand, while shivering sparrows chatter low,
Within your bare embrace. Such company,
The shreds of summer's garments cast to you,
Small solace for a lonely heart must be,
When vesper songs of robins once you knew;
And bleak must seem the dull November rain,
To you, who once with purple glory crowned
Felt April's soft baptism. Sharp the pain
You now must know in touch of frozen ground.
Yet still within your heart as in mine sings

STARTLING GROWTH.

Shortly after Wash French was elected squire down in Indiana he took a patient to the asylum at Evansville. After delivering the man to the proper authorities Wash had time to kill and utilized it in a saloon. When some casual friends poured him on the train that evening Wash muttered to the conductor that he wanted to be put off at Sullivan. Then he went to sleep. The conductor forgot and Wash rode into Chicago. Everything looked strange to him, but he attributed that to the Evansville liquor and asked a policeman where Draper's saloon was. Informed there was a Draper's place several miles down the street, Wash remarked with a yawn: "Lawzy me, how Sullivan has growed while I was away." Jin-Jin.

WOE IS ME. During the depression prices went down, but I had no job and nothing to buy anything with. Now I have a job and prices are going up so fast my salary won't buy anything.

PROFESSORIAL QUIP.

On dark days our literature class relied upon an old carbon bulb for light. The bulb had a sickly hold on life, but refused to burn out, giving a feeble light day after day. The board of trustees included no mazda in its literature budget. Dr. Elsie Storrs Dow, our teacher, took it all goodnaturedly. Switching on the light, she would say, "Now we shall make the darkness visible."

And be dangerous, and keen.

And when a woman's thirty
She muffles down her wit,
And acts sixteen, and really thinks
She gets away with it!

SNAPSHOTS ABROAD.

On an English local: You have no idea which train to board. A porter shoves you into a compartment and slams the door. No latch on the inside. Imprisoned! No conductor. No brakeman. You don't know where to get off nor how to get out. Pass station marked "Bovril," in big letters. Not on the map. Another station, same name. Odd. Then it dawns on you—Bovril isn't a town, but a drink. You want to get off at Oxford. At each stop, now, you stick your head out of the car window and cry, "Where am I?" A newsboy tells you. Oxford, you are informed at last. You reach down and unlock the door from the outside. You climb out and look around. Bovril again, and a choking ostrich inscribed "My goodness, my Guinness!" Is it really Oxford? It is. On the back of a bench, in letters two inches tall, you discover the name,—after the old lady who has been sitting there and totally obscuring it rises and walks away. CHERISHED IDEA SMASHED.

Most of the ideas that are maundering around the economic and sociological fields are all wrong. Frinstance, we are taught that graft is evil. It isn't. It's graft that persuades politicians to build parks, bridges, streets, and bathing beaches. Say they hold out 15 or 20 per cent of the total spent. But do they lock it up and become 3 per centers? Nay, nay; they use it to support a lot of henchmen who, if they had no political jobs, would be a burden on the community anyhow. Even the graftiest politicians can't get millions (for keeps) out of the draftiest treasuries. Their fortunes are in influence, not money. No forward-looking community can get along without a full quota of graft. Unc Paradox.

PSORIASIS—A STUBBORN SYMPTOM.

ONE of the most common come-and-go diseases of the skin is known as psoriasis [the word psora meaning itch]. As a rule the manifestation is not attended with extreme itching, although at times this symptom may be acute. The peculiar, scaly white patches are characteristic and may occur almost anywhere on the body, including the scalp.

In previous discussions we have mentioned the good effects that sometimes follow the use of calcium—either in the form of calcium gluconate or through drinking large quantities of milk. Many reports have been received emphasizing the value of a fat-free diet. In some cases, at least, it is highly successful.

For some years it has been suggested that there is an intimate relationship between the digestive tract—particularly the colon—and the appearance of psoriasis. It has been observed that—in some individuals—following an attack of diarrhea the skin lesions vanished. It has been noted also that should purging of the digestive tract through the use of calomel or some other strong laxative be indicated for any reason, this procedure may lessen the eruptions.

Certain it is that changes in the metabolism of the individual are fraught with improvement. A patient living in a given section and using a standard diet, who is covered with the scaly patches, removes several hundred miles from his original habitat and adopts new food habits, and—in consequence—the disease may clear up for a considerable period. Relapses, however, are the rule regardless of environment and they may be ushered in by some type of fatigue, dietary indiscretion, or worry that lowers body resistance.

So far as is known the disease has not been reproduced experimentally and the affected areas have been searched fore and aft — without result—for the presence of some specific bacterium or fungus. In nearly every case yeast cells are found in the lesions, but they apparently have no relation whatever to the cause. They are like flecks of lint that may settle on a varnished surface after it has been dusted carefully.

Most victims want to know what to do and the world will plow a path to the door of the dermatologist who can cure the condition permanently. Arsenic is often beneficial. The drug is used in many forms but should not be taken except under the watchful eye of a competent physician, as it can produce poisoning.

Either alone or combined with other types of treatment, certain salts of gold have been advised. This is a toxic chemical, however, and must not be administered in the presence of kidney irritation, anemia, or disease of the blood vessels. Although some favorable reports have been published, the metal is not a specific and cannot be regarded as a cure. In a few patients, however, lesions that have existed for two years or more faded away. The particular solution employed is known as gold sodium thiosulphate.

By many authors ultraviolet light [the artificial substitute for sunshine] is considered the best all around treatment. The applications are made until there is a deep tanning of the skin. In some cases the scales will disappear in a few weeks and in others months will be required. But, again, as with other types of management, this will not be successful with every individual. Ultraviolet treatments are so readily controllable and the dosage may be so accurately gauged, however, that it should not be neglected in those instances in which the lesions are producing an unsightly appearance.

Most experts in skin diseases feel no small amount of chagrin that they cannot assure their patients of positive relief under any form of therapy. The chances are that psoriasis is but a symptom of some underlying disorder of metabolism.

NEURITIS.

A. A. C. writes:

1. What is the cause, and the cure, of neuritis?

2. What is the cause of subacute bacterial endocarditis with streptococcus infection superimposed on heart lining?

REPLY.

1. Localized neuritis may be due to inflammation from surrounding tissues, to cold, or to nerve irritation by toxins. Heat and soothing drugs are used for acute attacks. For cure, the underlying disease must be treated.

2. Endocarditis may follow a focal infection such as diseased tonsils or a general disease such as rheumatic fever. The cause is the presence in the blood stream of some vicious organisms such as streptococci which find lodgment on the thin lining membrane of the heart. Every one should avoid the possibility of endocarditis by remaining in bed as long as fever is present.

SOME LONG WORDS.

Mrs. E. F. writes: My 17 year old son has had purpura since April. He was in the hospital for four weeks and had one blood transfusion. He had rectal hemorrhages and lost 40 pounds in four weeks. He has a very good appetite and drinks lots of milk. He is taking a tonic and calcium. The rash appears for two or three days and then leaves for the same length of time. Can anything be done for him?

REPLY.

Yes! Now here are some long words. The condition you describe is probably a chronic thrombocytopenic form of hemorrhagic purpura. Some substance is apparently lacking in the blood or is destroyed by the spleen. It will yield to cure in about 75 per cent of the cases and to marked improvement in about 90 per cent by the operation—splenectomy [removal of the spleen].

WRITE YOUR BROTHER.

Mrs. K. writes: About ten years ago my brother contracted syphilis. He took only five treatments. The rash cleared up and he refused to have further tests. I have just heard that he has married and that his wife is pregnant. Will this poor woman contract the disease and what will the baby be like? Is it my duty to write and warn her or should I mind my own business?

REPLY.

Write your brother [not his wife] and urge that blood tests be made. If they are positive, emphasize the importance of immediate treatment. Babies born of syphilitic mothers are handicapped—if they live.

CHICAGO'S OLD CHURCHES.

Chicago, Nov. 16—Chicagoans should take more pride in their historical churches. I refer especially to old St. Mary's on South Wabash avenue and old St. James' on North Wabash avenue. Both churches are near the loop and both organizations were founded when Chicago was a few scattered cabins, surrounding a muddy and often stagnant little stream.

It would assuredly be an admirable custom if every citizen in this great metropolis would know something about the heroic struggles which these churches have endured; it would be still more poignant for the people of this city to see that they made at least one annual pilgrimage to one or the other of these churches and do their little share in a monetary way to help perpetuate these shrines.

And what will these pilgrims find when they come to worship God and to pay honor as well to the clergy and laity of pioneer days? Old moss-grown, vine covered walls full of memories only, like those of Tintern abbey? By no means. The people of St. Mary's with and under the leadership of the Paulist Fathers have never worked harder than they have in recent years to keep the plant going full strong, and the Paulist Choristers continue, as of old, to give an adequate musical rendition at the high mass.

As to old St. James', it was never finer than today. Against heavy odds, in times when retrenchment was all too popular, this church has gone ahead with dominating courage. Stirring sermons; full parochial organization, and authorities versed in matters of church music agree that the cream of Anglican music is sung here with a perfection of artistry not excelled in England or America.

Now these churches are, it is true, smaller and less imposing than St. Patrick's or Trinity in New York City. But the real Chicagoan is not interested in that particular phase of the matter. These famous organizations have earned a place in the heart of every one who loves this city and reveres its builders. And the noble act in this case is not the contributing of a few cents toward a bronze tablet to be tacked here or there; but actual corporate worship at least once a year with churches, founded over a hundred years ago, and still witnessing to the fact that Chicago is not a Godless city. W. L. G.

TRAVEL NOTES.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Nov. 16.—In your column today Mrs. J. B. Holstein of Charleston, S. C., expressed joy at the unexpected courtesies encountered in Chicago.

I am a lifelong resident of Chicago and have for the last two weeks been visiting the south for the first time. Upon observation and comparison of the south with the north I now come to the conclusion that the talk of northerners' discourtesies originates solely from their strict attention to business. They are intent on promoting their various enterprises and keeping their patrons pleased, which makes it impossible to drawl around with the first person they encounter, thus forgetting or being late for a business appointment.

If Mrs. Holstein had made a purchase for a friend in any of our stores she would never have been told they had no boxes for the gift, as I was told in Nashville last week. She would also never have had her purchase wrapped so one-third of it protruded from the bag, and I doubt, if she had gone into any restaurant, large or small, for Sunday morning breakfast, that the fact the proprietor was out of coffee would not have filtered through his brain long before she entered his establishment. But when we wanted coffee in Nashville they brought it on fully thirty minutes after the balance of the breakfast.

We Chicagoans are tending to our knitting, Mrs. Holstein, and the progress our city has made takes the starch out of anything the south has achieved. We're snappy and proud of it.

MRS. JAMES A. DEPEW.

PROTEST.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—Allow me to make a protest against the unreconstructed individualism preached in one of your more popular comic strips. I refer to Little Orphan Annie, who goes about the country platitudinizing in a fashion that would delight the heart of the Liberty league. PAUL J. MCDERMOTT.

PRO—

Chicago, Nov. 16.—As a member of the Federated Council of Professional and Business Women interested in the Ballet Royale I am led to wonder why Charles Collins saw fit to give to Chicagoland the kind of writeup he did of its first performance by Chicagoans for Chicago.

What he terms "synthetic" is the very thing of which we were so proud. We believed with a little experience Chicago dancers could do as well as those imported from abroad and consequently both the artists and the producers deserved the support of Chicago.

Fortunately, not all of us are so satiated as Mr. Collins appears to be. We found this first performance beautifully staged, beautifully costumed and well done. We were proud that something so fine had originated in Chicago and we hope that ultimately the ballet may be accorded the place in American artistic life it so richly deserves.

S. KATHERINE MADDUX.

—AND CON.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—The Russian Ballet Royale, which opened last evening, carried a highfaluting title if nothing more. For $2.20 per [and not the best] we were offered a performance of home talent such as is available at 40 cent movie theaters as a sideshow.

One wonders if this exhibition was justified even for charity.

Anyway the Federated Council of Professional and Business Women of Chicago had a good time showing off their pretty gowns while selling programs up and down the ailes; even though it was coolish in the theater.

ROY E. HAWKINSON.

HEROIC FIREMEN.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—On the morning of Nov. 11, after 2 a. m., I was a spectator at a fire raging at 71st and South Chicago avenue, and I wish to comment on the bravery of the men in your fire department. In particular I want to mention the two men who, after coming down with people, went back when told there were more people in the burning building. They climbed up a rickety stairway to the third floor, which was ablaze and broke down some doors in the rooms up there and brought down two old men who were locked in the rooms and who were extremely frightened. They did their duty and that duty was well done. They are the unsung heroes of a big city. MARY WARD.

INSANITY AS A DEFENSE.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Instead of being a defense, insanity should be an added reason for a verdict of guilty. Whenever insanity or other phase of mental deficiency, aberration or disturbance [except only in the menopause] is pleaded in court by or on behalf of a defendant accused of crime, such plea, whether the defendant be found guilty or acquitted, should be followed, as inescapable routine, by sterilization.

PAUL V. PERRY.

MOON.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—I violently disagree with F. J. B. in today's Voice of the People concerning Willard's forty-four square inches of Moon Mullins' space. It is my firm belief that Moon Mullins is one of the few remaining true comic strips now drawn. L. WRIGHT.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

WAGE ASSIGNMENT.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In April, 1935, my husband and I signed what we thought was a note for $100 for back rent we owed. At that time there seemed no way we could ever pay it, but we asked our landlord to bear with us a while. Now he has given the account to a collection agency for collection. I have just been notified thereof.

They write that [1] "this account is being secured by a wage assignment."

2. I take this to mean that what we signed was a wage assignment blank. At the time we signed this my husband and I and the landlord were the only ones present.

The job my husband [3] held paid a small commission which he held out of his daily collections. He was a magazine collector.

4. He is still on a commission basis.

5. Can we be held to it as long [6] as it wasn't signed with the employer's consent?

7. I'm sure they don't allow wage assignments.

8. Do you think that they can garnishee my husband's income as long as he is not on a salary basis? I informed my former landlord that I would like to settle this between us, but [9] he turns all the correspondence over to the collection agency.

10. I dislike being forced to pay a debt. I want to do it of my own free will. My husband earns between $20 and $28 per week. There are three children.

11. How much of this can they garnishee, if any?

12. This thing we signed seemed to be a scrap of paper torn from the bottom of a blank with legal phrases and it was old and wrinkled. C. R.

1. This wording is not intelligible to us. Either you executed a wage assignment at the time of the original transaction, in which case the word would be "was," or you did not, in which case nothing that the creditor could do now would alter the situation.

2. Conceivably what he means is that he is serving on the employer a notice of the wage assignment.

3. Your use of the past tense at this point implies that your husband is not now at the same job, and in such case the wage assignment would not be good against his new employment.

4. Even if he is still working for the same employer it ordinarily is difficult to collect out of commissions, and it is not clear that the wording of the assignment would cover the commissions.

5. We cannot advise further without knowing the facts.

6. In general, an employer's consent is not necessary to the validity of a wage assignment.

7. This statement as often used means that the employer has a general policy of discharging employés who make trouble for him along this line.

8. Garnishment would require that they first obtain judgment against your husband. After obtaining such a judgment they could reach commissions owing to him and in the hands of the employer.

9. This is within his rights.

10. This point does not seem substantial to us.

11. The exemption is $20 per week on wages, but there would be no exemption as to commissions in the hands of the employer.

12. You are presumed to have read and understood a contract which you signed.

MORMON CHURCH HERE TO BECOME SELF-GOVERNING

Abandon Old Mission Plan on Nov. 29.

Ninety years ago 16,000 Mormons were expelled from Nauvoo, Ill., for their religious beliefs. With suffering and difficulty they started a winter migration which finally ended in Utah.

What is regarded by members of the church as the greatest event in Illinois Mormon history since that expulsion will take place here on Sunday, Nov. 29. On that day the Mormon [Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints] groups in this section will organize a self-governing "stake"—the equivalent of a diocese in other denominations. It will be the second "stake" formed east of the Rockies, the first having been established last year in New York.

Mission Field 50 Years.

For the last 50 years Illinois has been a mission field with its branches in charge of missionaries sent by church headquarters in Salt Lake City. Under the new organization the present three Chicago branches will become wards. There will also be two wards in Milwaukee and others in the intermediate territory of Illinois and Wisconsin. The church wards average about 1,000 members each.

Heber J. Grant of Salt Lake City, president of the church and a financial power of the west, is expected to attend the organization meetings here. Mr. Grant's parents were among those who made the migration from Illinois. His father, Jedediah M. Grant, counselor to President Brigham Young, died when Heber was an infant.

Will Mark 80th Birthday.

Mr. Grant's 80th birthday will be observed in the three Chicago branches next Sunday, Nov. 22, at services at 10 a. m. and 6:30 p. m. These will be in the Logan Square chapel, Sawyer and Wrightwood avenues; in the University chapel, 6111 Kenwood avenue, and in the north shore branch in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

COURT CANCELS GROCER NORRIS' PERJURY VERDICT

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 19.—(AP)—The conviction of Grocer George W. Norris on a charge of perjury in the senate's investigation of his candidacy against Senator George W. Norris in 1930 was reversed by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today.

The court's ruling remanded the case to the District court at Lincoln, Neb., for a new trial.

The opinion, without going directly to the question of Norris' guilt or innocence, held the trial court had failed to submit to the jury the question whether the Broken Bow, Neb., grocer had or had not purged himself of perjury by a later statement correcting testimony he had first given to a senate investigating committee.

Norris' conviction in January, 1935, carried a fine of $100 and a three months' jail sentence.

FIND MISSING MAN'S BODY.

HURT IN FALL, DIES.

Complications developing after he was injured by a fall on Nov. 5 were blamed for the death of James Skates, 63 years old, 6111 South Ashland avenue, in the county hospital yesterday.

YOUNG MOTHER KILLS SELF AND 2 CHILDREN UNDER TRAIN WHEELS

Northwood, N. D., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Kneeling before an onrushing train, her two small children clasped in her arms, a Northwood mother tonight killed herself and the children near here.

The mother, Mrs. Belle Paulson, 30, left behind an incoherent note, telling of her intention to destroy herself under the train wheels, and begging her husband, Ray, "to forgive me—I hope I will see you again."

The older boy was thrown clear of the tracks by the impact of a Great Northern passenger train bound for Breckenridge, Minn. He was taken, still living, to a Northwood hospital, where he died without regaining consciousness.

late the oyster, which when annoyed by a grain of sand throws a wall of pearl around it? Many saintly husbands are made so by cantankerous wives," he added, as the women laughed, "and vice versa."

Urging that a Christian can stand anything that happens to him, as he can "use" troubles, Dr. Jones declared:

"Many of us live in a perpetual fear of failure. Meanwhile we fail because we do nothing, out of fear of failure."

Miss Muriel Lester, distinguished social worker of Kingsley House, London, and friend of Mahatma Gandhi, delivered an inspirational address to the women, urging them to make as much progress commensurately as the women of India, China, and Japan have in this generation.

"Many of us are even giving up praying," she said. "The reason there are so many dissatisfied faces on the streets, so little serenity, is that people are trying to escape the cross."

Last night at the New First Congregational church massmeeting Dr. Jones emphasized the kind of preaching needed in the "power age" into which society now emerges. National preaching mission leaders declare that the present modern revival was built around this Methodist missionary to India.

"We have brought no tricks with us," said Dr. Jones. "We dare to stand here only because we believe we have come with the word of the eternal God. We might say that we will comfort man and prepare him for heaven. But that method has gone by. The modern man knows that he is bound up with life and that it is useless to seek escape. What he wants is power to face life and to change life."

Dr. John McDowell of New York pleaded at the Morgan Park Baptist church massmeeting last night that Christianity hereafter rests mainly on loyalty; that loyalty replace fear and self-interest as reasons for Christian living.

Churches have done little toward sex education and preparation for marriage, said Mrs. Harrie B. Chamberlin of Toledo at an afternoon seminar on "The Christian Family" in the Central Y. M. C. A. building. A past national president of the Young Women's Christian association, Mrs. Chamberlin characterized this inadequacy as a challenge to modern church leaders and urged that such cities as Chicago, equipped with theological schools and central church councils, should use their resources for developing a sex education program for young people.

"Some of the most serious maladjustments occur in children coming from homes where all the externals of religion are observed," she commented. Needs of the entire family group should be considered in family worship to replace the old fashioned formal externals, Mrs. Chamberlin advocated.

10 a. m.—Ministers' meeting, Chicago temple. Leaders, J. L. Craft, Dr. E. Stanley Jones, old Hough and Dr. George W. Truett.

2:30 p. m.—Seminars:
"The Christian Message," leader, Dr. Hough, Central Y. M. C. A.
"Using the Bible," Dr. Harry Reed, Chicago temple.
"Personal Evangelism," Rev. George Irving, Chicago temple.
"The Christian Family," Mrs. Harrie R. Chamberlin, Chicago temple.
"Social Problems," Dr. John McDowell, Chicago temple.

7:30 p. m.—Youth massmeeting, Chicago temple. Leaders, Dr. Jones, Miss Muriel Lester and C. Stanley Johnson.

7:30 p. m.—Community massmeetings:

WEST SIDE—Third Presbyterian church, Ogden and Ashland avenues, speaker, Dr. Albert W. Beaven. Austin Methodist church, Race street and North Central avenue, speaker, Dr. Beaven.

NORTH SIDE—Edgewater Presbyterian church, Kenmore and Bryn Mawr avenues, speaker, Dr. Rice. Rogers Park Baptist church, Hilldale and Greenleaf avenues, speaker, Bishop James E. Freeman. Irving Park Lutheran church, Belleplaine and Harding avenues, Dr. Oscar F. Blackwelder, Waukegan Township High school, speaker, Dr. Holt.

SOUTH SIDE—Metropolitan Community church, 41st street and South Park way, speaker, Dr. Jones. First Presbyterian church, 6400 Kimbark avenue, speaker, Dr. Mackay. Englewood Baptist church, Englewood and Stewart avenues, speaker, Dr. Jesse M. Bader. First Presbyterian church, Gary, Ind., speaker, Dr. Hough.

The national preaching mission has reached 21 major cities with four day campaigns. Its leaders flew to Chicago from Dallas. More than 200 clergymen from Illinois, Indiana and Michigan towns and cities are attending.

BETTER LIGHT—BETTER SIGHT

that helps you see!

● This new lighting unit, revolutionary in design, was developed from specifications prepared by the Illuminating Engineering Society. This lamp gives the kind of light prescribed by lighting experts and eye specialists for better seeing. It eliminates glare, reduces sharp contrasts, it sheds a soft, but adequate light over a wide area, and at the same time gives efficient general illumination. In addition to being scientifically designed, these new lamps also meet the requirements of good taste in furnishing, for their style has been approved by home making authorities. There are many styles, and models for many purposes. A complete display may be seen at Commonwealth Edison Electric Shops. A few of the representative models are shown below.

CHINESE CRY FOR WAR WITH JAPAN; TAKE UP BIG FUND

Street Orators Stir Up Patriotic Frenzy.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Chinese patriots clamored for militant action tonight in a campaign to raise funds for the defense of Northern Suiyuan province against a reported Japanese invasion.

Feeling was pitched close to wartime fervor following Chinese newspaper reports that defenders of the eastern border had taken the offensive and inflicted a severe setback to the invaders. Cheering Chinese demonstrated throughout the city. "Support Suiyuan!" was the cry.

Orators, comparable to American "four minute" speakers who sold Liberty bonds during the world war, exhorted citizens to contribute funds for the defense and sought to stir up national patiotism. Large sums of money were reported pouring in, along with "home comforts" to be distributed to soldiers at the front.

Kalgan advices reported that an attempt to sever the Peiping-Suiyuan railway by dynamiting a bridge 25 miles west of Kalgan had been frustrated. Heavy patrols were dispatched along the right of way and guards on trains were increased. Garrisons in the area were strengthened.

Governor Defies Japan.

TSINING, Suiyuan Province, China, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Gen. Fu Tso-yi, provincial governor of Suiyuan, today termed the reported invasion of his territory by Japanese "a bluff."

He said the Nipponese intent was to influence Chinese-Japanese "peace" discussions in Nanking.

U. S. Attaché on Scene.

TOKIO, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Japanese newspapers asserted today "nervousness" in Shanghai over recently reported North China disturbances was accentuated by advices that Maj. Samuel V. Constant, United States assistant military attaché at Peiping, had reached headquarters of Suiyuan provincial forces at Pingtichuan.

He also inspected eastern districts of Suiyuan province, it was reported here, and received a report of conditions from Gov. Gen. Fu Tso-yi.

Britain Sends New Notes to Four Locarno Powers

LONDON, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Great Britain dispatched new notes today to the four other Locarno powers, Italy, France, Belgium and Germany. The contents were not disclosed. The notes followed by only two weeks a British communication which said the United Kingdom favored an early Locarno conference. No replies to that communication have been received.

U.S. PRIEST TELLS OF TORTURE BY CHINESE BANDITS

Prayed for Death to End 10 Months of Suffering.

TUNGHUA, Manchukuo, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Safe after ten months of brutality and hardship so severe he "prayed for death to end my sufferings," the Rev. Father Clarence Joseph Burns, American priest, told today of his escape from Chinese bandits who held him in ransom of 5,000,000 Chinese dollars.

Still ill and exhausted, Father Burns described his ordeal to the Domei [Japanese] News agency:

"It began last February when I was asked to go to the small town of Hwatientzu to hold a prayer meeting. I was proceeding there with two servants and had traveled about three miles from Tunghua when suddenly the bandits leaped out at me.

10 Months of Nightmare.

"They pulled me from my pony, tied my hands behind my back and took me to their den.

"During the next ten months—months of nightmare I can never forget—I was forced to travel with the bandits on their long forced marches necessitated by their activities.

"Japanese-Manchukuan forces were striving to round up the bandits and I suffered incredible hardships from hunger, fatigue, and the bandits' brutalities.

"Twice I tried to escape. I failed. The bandits sharpened their watch over me until escape seemed hopeless and I prayed for death to end my sufferings.

"Many times I dreamed I was home, only to awaken in the bleak, cold frost.

Tells of Escape.

"Then a fortnight ago the activities of the Japanese-Manchukuan forces close on our trail forced the bandits to relax their watch and I seized a favorable opportunity to escape.

"I crept away in the darkness, one night, while they were sleeping around the camp fire, and wandered aimlessly over the mountains for several days.

"At last, on Nov. 13, I reached the police station at Liutaokomien. I could not believe my eyes. It seemed too good to be true that I was safe and my long suffering ended."

American Vice Consul Davies arrived here this evening to escort Burns to Mukden, where he will convalesce. The priest is connected with the Mary Knoll mission of Ossining, N. Y.

GETS 6 MONTHS FOR NON-SUPPORT.

William Petzke, 30 years old, 1948 Evergreen avenue, was sentenced to six months in the Bridewell by Judge Joseph B. Hermes in the Domestic Relations court yesterday, on a charge of non-support.

FOUND SHOT TO DEATH.

Arthur Leseberg, 38 years old, 201 South Mitchell street, Arlington Heights, a truck driver, was found dead of a shotgun wound in his automobile at McDonald and Schoenbeck roads near the village yesterday. The Morton Grove county highway police said there was evidence of suicide.

A Lovely Skin
Comes from within

Constipation is the cause of most skin troubles. Poisons from the waste matter are picked up by the blood and carried to all parts of the body, especially the skin.

No one needs to have a sallow, muddy complexion. Proper diet, exercise, surface cleanliness and above all—internal cleanliness. Nujol prevents intestinal poisons that ruin your health and complexion.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It does not affect the stomach and is not absorbed by the body. Medical authorities approve Nujol because it is so safe, so natural in its action.

Nujol replaces a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and permits thorough, regular and gentle bowel movements.

Just try Nujol regularly for the next month and see if you don't feel better than you ever suspected you could.

CALL TROOPERS FOR DENHARDT'S HEARING TODAY

Defense Loses Pleas to Inspect Evidence.

persistent reports heard here and in Louisville for the last three days that the paraffin tests made on the hands of Gen. Denhardt showed that the general had fired a revolver within 48 hours of the time Mrs. Taylor was shot. The general repeatedly had said he had not fired a gun for six months.

"Regardless of what the general says," the coroner stated, "the tests show fine grains of powder were found on his trigger finger and between the index finger and the thumb of his right hand."

"Damn the Coroner."

This afternoon the general was informed of the coroner's statements in a message sent to him in the downtown Louisville hotel where he has remained in seclusion since his arrest and release in $25,000 bonds a week ago. His reply, relayed through his nurse, was:

"Damn what the coroner says."

Those close to the general say that for the first time since Mrs. Taylor's death does he realize the prosecution has a strong case of circumstantial evidence against him. Today for the first time the general had a bodyguard at the apartment he is sharing with his maiden sister, Bertha, 56 years old.

Just what his strategy will be in court today even his own attorney said he did not know tonight. Counsel insists that he will appear and deny that he is bedridden. The state has learned he made a secret visit to his Oldham county farm less than six miles from La Grange Tuesday, and this fact will prevent any plea by the defense that he is too ill to leave his hotel.

Will Insist on Jail.

The state's lawyers say they will insist Denhardt be held in the future without bail if he does come to court. The chief battle of the defense will be to keep him out of jail.

The hearing tomorrow is the equivalent of a trial before a magistrate in large communities. Judge Morgan either can dismiss the charges or bind Denhardt over to the circuit grand jury which will convene here the third Monday in January.

It is unusual for a defendant charged with first degree murder in Kentucky to be released in bail. The general was released immediately after his arrest, on a warant sworn out by one of Mrs. Taylor's brothers, by agreement of lawyers representing the Taylor family. These men say they will not renew this agreement.

CHILDREN FLEE FOREST FIRE.

CALGARY, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Sixteen school pupils and their teacher escaped today from a forest fire which swept down on the schoolhouse in the Brushy Ridge district, 25 miles west of Calgary.

Granted Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Virginia Conrad Sweeney, 23 years old, 614 Diversey parkway, was granted a divorce by Judge Donald S. McKinlay in the Superior court yesterday from Edward Sweeney, 25 years old, of 414 Webster avenue. Questioned by her attorney, Norman Becker, Mrs. Sweeney testified that on Aug. 3, 1935, her husband, angered by some "trivial occurrence," destroyed all her clothing and she was forced to remain a nude prisoner at home until her mother brought other clothes.

PAROLE IS TOPIC OF STUDY TODAY FOR ILLINOIS BAR

Problems of importance to citizens and the legal profession will be discussed at the meeting of seventeen sections of the Illinois State Bar association in the Palmer house today.

Parole and probation are two of the important matters to be considered in the criminal law section of which State's Attorney Guy E. McGaughey, Lawrenceville, is chairman. Uniform accounting and budget legislation will be considered by the taxation section, and banking and corporation law revisions will be discussed by the corporation law section.

Justices of the Illinois Supreme court will be honored at the dinner meeting tonight. John Finley of the New York Times will be the principal speaker. Other speakers will be Chief Justice Lott R. Herrick of the state Supreme court and Frederick H. Stinchfield, Minneapolis, president of the American Bar association.

Cold or Not, Cops Ordered to Take Hands from Pockets

Police Commissioner Allman issued an order yesterday forbidding policemen to keep their hands in their pockets while in uniform. Allman condemned the practice as "unnecessary, undignified, and tending to promote slouchiness."

MORE HOLDUPS LAID AT DOOR OF PAROLEE GANG

Victims Identify Bandits from Pontiac.

Holdup victims laid several more robberies on a gang of five bandits, three of them Pontiac reformatory parolees, at the detective bureau showup last night. Shakespeare avenue police had previously chalked off a dozen holdups against them. Two women are being held with the gang.

Out of Pontiac in July.

According to Acting Captain Charles Pawlawski of the Shakespeare avenue station, Ferraro was paroled last July 3 from Pontiac after serving less than four years of a robbery charge, and Noeth was paroled eight months ago after serving part of a robbery sentence.

Noel, who was paroled from Pontiac three years ago, made his final parole report only two weeks ago. Gabriel, Capt. Pawlawski said, served a term in the Mansfield, O., penitentiary thirteen years ago.

Admits 18 Robberies.

Ferraro, who says he is a son of Prof. Carmen Ferraro, a New York voice teacher, admitted at the showup that he had committed eighteen robberies since his parole.

The gang specialized in drug store, grocery, and telegraph office robberies. They were traced through travelers' checks which they had stolen.

WOMAN GOES TO CALL FOR HELP; COLLAPSES; SPENDS NIGHT IN COLD

Glenwood Landing, N. Y., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ida Carhart, 65, an invalid, lay scantily clothed on the street here all last night, with the temperature at 12 degrees above zero, after collapsing in an effort to summon neighbors' help for her older brother, who had broken his leg in a fall.

Mrs. Carhart had a good chance for recovery from the exposure, it was said tonight at the hospital where she and her brother were taken. The brother, George Hall, 75, was in a more serious condition. Besides suffering the greater shock in the night's experiences, he had been in a more enfeebled condition than his sister.

Mrs. Carhart was asleep at 10 o'clock last night when her brother was leaving his wheel chair for his bed in his room downstairs. He fell, breaking his thigh. It was some time before Mrs. Carhart was roused by his cries. Then she donned clothing and left for the home of a neighbor where there was a telephone.

MORON REPEATS HIS CONFESSION IN GIRL'S DEATH

Andrew Capoldi, 27 years old, 455 North Harding avenue, who confessed the slaying last Friday of Antoinette Tiritilli, 5 year old, 1521 Flournoy street, in an alley near the McLaren grammar school, 1500 Flournoy street, repeated his confession at the inquest yesterday. Following the inquest Capoldi was taken to the county jail to await indictment for murder by the grand jury today. Besides his confession, Capoldi has been identified by witnesses as being near the scene of the crime shortly before the girl was found with her throat slashed.

Pardon Board to Debate Mercy Plea to Rappaport

The state board of pardon and paroles announced yesterday that it will consider next Tuesday the application of Joseph Rappaport, condemned slayer of Max Dent, government informer, for a commutation of his death sentence. Last month Rappaport was given a stay of execution until Dec. 4.

Natives Attack Army Posts in Lebanon; Troops Rushed

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Troop reinforcements were rushed to the town of Tripoli by French authorities tonight after armed natives attacked several military posts there. A strike in Tripoli, called by Moslem leaders demanding union of the Lebanese republic with Syria, entered its 26th day.

EVANSTON DAYS AS A LOG CABIN TOWN RECALLED

Pioneer Party Held by Historical Society.

BY MARCIA WINN.

The days when Evanston was a 12 cabin settlement were recalled last night in the Evanston public library at a celebration of the 38th anniversary of the Evanston Historical society. Evanston folks were introduced to the gaiety and swagger of old Buckeye tavern, reigning hostelry for trappers, Indians, and ox cart pioneers back in the middle of the last century.

It was almost 90 years ago that Isaac Burroughs built a 30 by 40 foot clapboard building 13 miles—or a half day's ride—north of Chicago on Ridge road, then a part of old Green Bay road. Beside the building Burroughs posted a sign: "Buck-eye hotel."

Called "Beauty's Eyebrow."

The residents of the 12 cabins along the road called their settlement "Ridgeville," but to lake sailors who viewed it from Lake Michigan on their "wood hookers" [schooners carrying wood], it was "Beauty's Eyebrow." The settlement had a tiny log school house with a $2 a month [and board] teacher. It was a busy little place because as many as 100 ox and horse teams passed through it each day with freight for the great northwest.

The Buck-eye included a small store, for notions and groceries; a large barn for horses and oxen at one side, and hearty, substantial food for all wayfarers, and a bar.

Then, too, it served as the Ridgeville postoffice. Isaac Burroughs was a carpenter and built the hostelry for his brother, David, who in 1849 was appointed postmaster. David set up a desk—with 18 pigeonholes—and twice a week rode horseback to Chicago to get the mail.

Old Fixtures Preserved.

The desk and its 18 pigeonholes, the rough hewn crescent signboard, with three stars painted beneath the "Buck-eye"; three old stools and a rush bottomed chair, and the old "bar," which served a double purpose as the bar and counter for the postoffice, now are preserved in the Evanston library. Around them centered last night's celebration.

Perhaps the Buck-eye's most important contribution to the Evanston of today, speakers last night said, was the fact that John Evans [for whom the city later was named] and Orrington Lunt lodged there in 1851 when they bought the land for Northwestern university.

It is probable that these two men ate a supper of "biscuits, buttermilk, fried pork, and venison," for that was the tavern fare of the day. And for breakfast they were served the same, with corn meal griddle cakes substituted for the biscuits.

Supper and Lodging, Six Cents.

If they washed this down with the usual cider their total bill was "Supper, 6 cents; lodging, 6 cents; breakfast, 6 cents; cider, 3 cents; total, 21 cents."

The old tavern was on what is now the southeast corner of Ridge avenue and Noyes street. It was torn down in 1916 and an 18 apartment building now occupies the site.

For its reincarnation last night society members dressed in the costumes of the pioneers. They sang old songs and danced square dances, and drank cider over the old bar.

CITY PLANNERS MEET HERE FOR 2D CONFERENCE

About 100 city planning officials from most of the major cities in the country were registered yesterday at the opening of the second Chicago conference of the American Society of Planning Officials in the Congress hotel. The conference, at which all phases of city and regional planning problems will be discussed, closes today.

Gov. Dave Scholtz of Florida said that in a "planned country, economically and socially, upheavals such as are now occurring in Spain would not happen." Mordecai Ezekiel, Washington, D. C., a minor brain truster and economic adviser to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, said city planning must consider economic and social problems as well as physical ones.

Delegates held a dinner last evening in the Florentine room of the Congress. Speakers in a round table discussion of city planning problems included Walter H. Blucher of Chicago, a director of the American Society of Planning Officials; Emile Vinck of Brussels, Belgium; Edward Jeffries of Detroit, and L. Segoe, Cincinnati.

MR. GREENBERG GETS A SURPRISE —THEN ANOTHER

Max Greenberg, 1146 South Francisco avenue, a salesman, received two surprises yesterday. The first came when he stepped into his parked automobile outside the postoffice at Canal and Van Buren streets, and the second when he stepped out of it at Adams and Loomis streets.

Just as Greenberg started the motor, he heard a voice from the rear seat. Greenberg turned around and a man was sitting there pointing a pistol at him. He had been hiding in the car awaiting the owner's return. "Believe me, I was surprised," said Greenberg later.

The gunman made Greenberg drive to Adams and Loomis strets, where he took Greenberg's $2, his watch, his overcoat, and his car. But just before he drove off the robber handed Greenberg 10 cents for carfare.

"I was surprised again," said Greenberg.

THREE ARE DEAD, DOZEN INJURED IN ATLANTA FIRE

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—At least three persons were killed, a dozen injured, and $200,000 property damage was caused today by a fire that raged through the five story Cable Piano company building in the heart of Atlanta's downtown business section.

Flames swept quickly up through an elevator shaft to all floors of the structure following an explosion of undetermined origin in the basement. Firemen finally brought them under control after a terrific struggle.

Firemen wearing gas masks to combat dense smoke brought the bodies of a man and two women from the fifth floor, which was occupied by the Atlanta Conservatory of Music.

Fear Others Were Trapped.

The man was said to be Terry Evans, 23. The women were not immediately identified. Firemen searching through the dense smoke for trapped survivors reported the body of Evans on the top floor but were unable to bring it out until they were equipped with gas masks.

It was feared other victims might have been trapped in the building, the flames having shot up and cut off the escape of ocupants before they were hardly aware the building was on fire.

Several spectacular rescues were made. One woman clung to a window ledge on the fourth floor for several minutes until firemen maneuvered a ladder to bring her down.

Hazel Wood, a music teacher, who jumped from her studio on an upper floor to the roof of an adjoining building, suffered a leg fracture. The others injured were less seriously hurt.

Four Men Killed.

Waldron, Ark., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Four men were killed and a fifth critically injured today in a cutting machine explosion at the No. 1 mine of the Bates Coal Mining company at Bates, Ark.

The dead were Bill Cuskey and Tom Ellis of Bates, Joe Taylor of Heavener, Okla., and John Delap of Howe, Okla. John Winters of Bates was taken to a Fort Smith hospital, where attendants expressed little hope for his life.

Aurora School Board Votes 5 Pct. Raise for Teachers

Two Children Die

John Ross Jr., eight years old, and his sister Martha, 7, were fatally burned yesterday in a fire which destroyed their farm home seven miles east of Lowell, Ind. Another sister, Jane, 15, taken with Martha to the Methodist hospital in Gary, was critically burned. Nancy Ross 15 months old, was saved by her sister, Ann, 13 years old, who leaped with her from a second story window.

POLICE AGAIN WIN DELAY IN QUIZ IN VALETTE SLAYING

Another hearing in the inquest into the death of Miss Audrey Valette, blonde party girl, who was found shot to death in her apartment in the La Salle Tower, 1211 North La Salle street, last July 3, was continued yesterday until Dec. 18. The continuance was at the request of Capt. Andrew Barry and Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan, who stated that they wished more time to find Mrs. Carmela Ruth Freed, wanted for questioning as a suspect.

It was reported by the state's attorney's office yesterday that overtures have been made by friends to surrender Mrs. Freed if the inquest be closed or an indictment returned. This action of the authorities would place Mrs. Freed in the custody of the sherif when she surrenders. The offer was refused because the prosecutors wish to question the woman.

Orders Building Receiver to Pay Up $2,124 Shortage

An order directing that G. E. Seegren, 43 years old, make up a shortage of $2,124 in his accounts as manager and later receiver of a building at 1401 Highland avenue, was issued yesterday by Judge Francis B. Allegretti in the Superior court. Seegren is a fugitive from a warant charging him with the embezzlement of $1,786 while he was managing a building at 5105 North Clark street, where he formerly had real estate offices.

TRAILER MAKERS WARNED OF NEED FOR REGULATION

Told States Will Act Soon to Control Hazards.

BY HAL FOUST.

The Trailer Coach Manufacturers' association yesterday opened its first national convention, and it soon became evident that this infant offspring of the motor car industry has developed in the last year into a Gargantuan urchin due for public discipline.

Sidney Williams, a director of the National Safety council, told the manufacturers of hazards on the roads and in camps from an unregulated usage of these cabins awheel by a million Americans, for vacations and for a life adrift.

Lou Wallace of Iowa, former president of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, warned the manufacturers that state legislatures convening throughout the country in January are preparing to enact tax and regulatory measures against motorized itinerants and perambulating homesteads.

Need for Control Conceded.

W. Russel Wilday of Peoria, manager of the Coach Builders' association, said his members conceded the need for regulation and were prepared to coöperate in drafting the statutes.

In the meantime, the exhibits of trailers at the International Amphitheater, where the trailer builders convened, continued as one of the main attractions of Chicago's 37th annual automobile show. Last night, total attendance for the six days of the show reached 260,000 as compared with 270,000 for eight days last year. It became obvious that today and tomorrow will establish a new record gate tally, far exceeding early estimates of 300,000. The hours are 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

"Trailers in all sizes, shapes and physical conditions," said Mr. Williams, "are now ambling over all the main highways, presenting a new police and public health problem. Many of the home made variety are unmanageable, swaying from side to side and criminally lacking in brakes. Many are without proper lights.

Health Problem Cited.

"The toilets in the trailers are a health problem. There are some mild epidemics of typhoid in the country that have been charged to trailer travel."

Mr. Wallace told the coach builders: "If your association doesn't advance proposed regulations, states will enact measures independently, and the lack of uniformity will strangle trailer travel. A coach will be of illegal width in one state and of illegal length in another. It will have legal lights in one state and will be stopped by police in another."

Mr. Wilday said committees will be appointed today to draft tax and regulation bills to be presented to all state legislatures next January. He anticipated difficulty, due to the youth and to the rapid growth of the industry, in getting the manufacturers to agree upon the proposals.

Munroe, Young Slayer, Starts 199 Years in Prison Today

Roland Munroe, 15 years old, under sentence of 199 years for the murder of Mrs. Agnes Roffeis, 65 years old, in her home at 1265 Winona avenue on Aug. 29, will be among a group of eleven prisoners taken from the county jail to the Joliet penitentiary today. Monroe is expected to be transferred later to Pontiac reformatory in accordance with the recommendation of Judge John Prystalski, who sentenced him.

AWARDED $10,000 IN J. P. MORGAN DAMAGE ACTION

New York, Nov. 19.—[Special.]—A verdict for $10,000 against J. Pierpont Morgan, the financier, was returned by a jury in Supreme court in Brooklyn today.

The verdict was in a suit for $50,000 brought by Ole Bartness, 33, of Brooklyn, who charged that while he was at work on a scaffold painting the Morgan yacht Corsair in 1935, a scaffold above fell and struck him on the left knee, causing an injury which resulted in tuberculosis of the knee.

The defense contended Bartness' knee had been injured in 1926 in another accident. Bartness admitted that, but said the earlier injury had not been of a serious nature.

TREND IS 'WET' IN LOCAL OPTION LIQUOR TESTS

Results of Voting in 16 States Revealed.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—(AP)—An edge for John Barleycorn in local option elections held Nov. 3 was indicated today by a survey of late returns.

In some of the 16 states where there was such balloting, the voters had their first opportunity since repeal to pass upon this issue.

Returns still have not been reported officially from some communities, but available figures showed the sale of hard liquor was approved in 1,116 instances and it was turned down in 1,054.

On the question of light wine and beer sales, 649 communities approved and 524 opposed.

Local option voting in some of the states was limited to a single county or town.

Some Returns Incomplete.

Some returns from downstate Illinois, Ohio, Florida, Massachusetts, Louisiana and Pennsylvania were not available for the tabulation.

Reported results included:

Arkansas—Izard county, for wine and beer.

Florida—Polk county, against liquor by a six vote margin.

Maine—248 towns for liquor stores, 264 against, three ties; for sale of wine and liquor to be consumed on the premises, 190 towns for, 321 against, four ties; beer, 244 for, 268 against, three ties.

Nebraska Remains Dry.

Massachusetts—Liquor, 192 towns for, 98 against; wines and beer, 216 for, 73 against, one tie; package sales, 210 for, 80 against.

New Jersey—Marlboro adopted Sunday liquor sales.

New York—27 towns for liquor, 12 against.

Oregon — Liquor, two towns for, two counties and two towns against.

2 Texas Counties Beat Beer.

Texas—Beer, two counties against.

Washington—Liquor, 17 towns and Garfield county against; wines and beer, five towns against.

In addition to the local option elections, there was statewide balloting on liquor issues in four states. In one of these contests North Dakota, dry since statehood, approved the sale of hard liquor after next Dec. 3.

In California voters defeated a local option proposal and also refused to transfer control of liquor permits from the state board of equalization to an alcoholic beverage commission.

Oklahoma rejected a liquor control plan and Texas opposed a proposal to displace the present license system with a state monopoly plan.

COURT REJECTS TEACHER'S PLEA FOR A LICENSE

New York, Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Gertrude Epstein, honor graduate of Barnard college, who was rejected for a teacher in training license by the board of examiners partly because of her alleged communistic views, today lost her suit to force the examiners to grant the license.

Supreme Court Justice Bernard Shientag refused an order of mandamus on the ground that Miss Epstein should first have carried her appeal to the state commissioner of education.

Miss Epstein passed the written and oral examinations but was turned down by the examiners for "insufficiently meritorious conduct and ineligibility." This involved several points including her alleged communistic views.

Miss Epstein denied she was a communist or a member of the communist party. She admitted, however, that for a brief time she had been employed by the Daily Worker, communist newspaper.

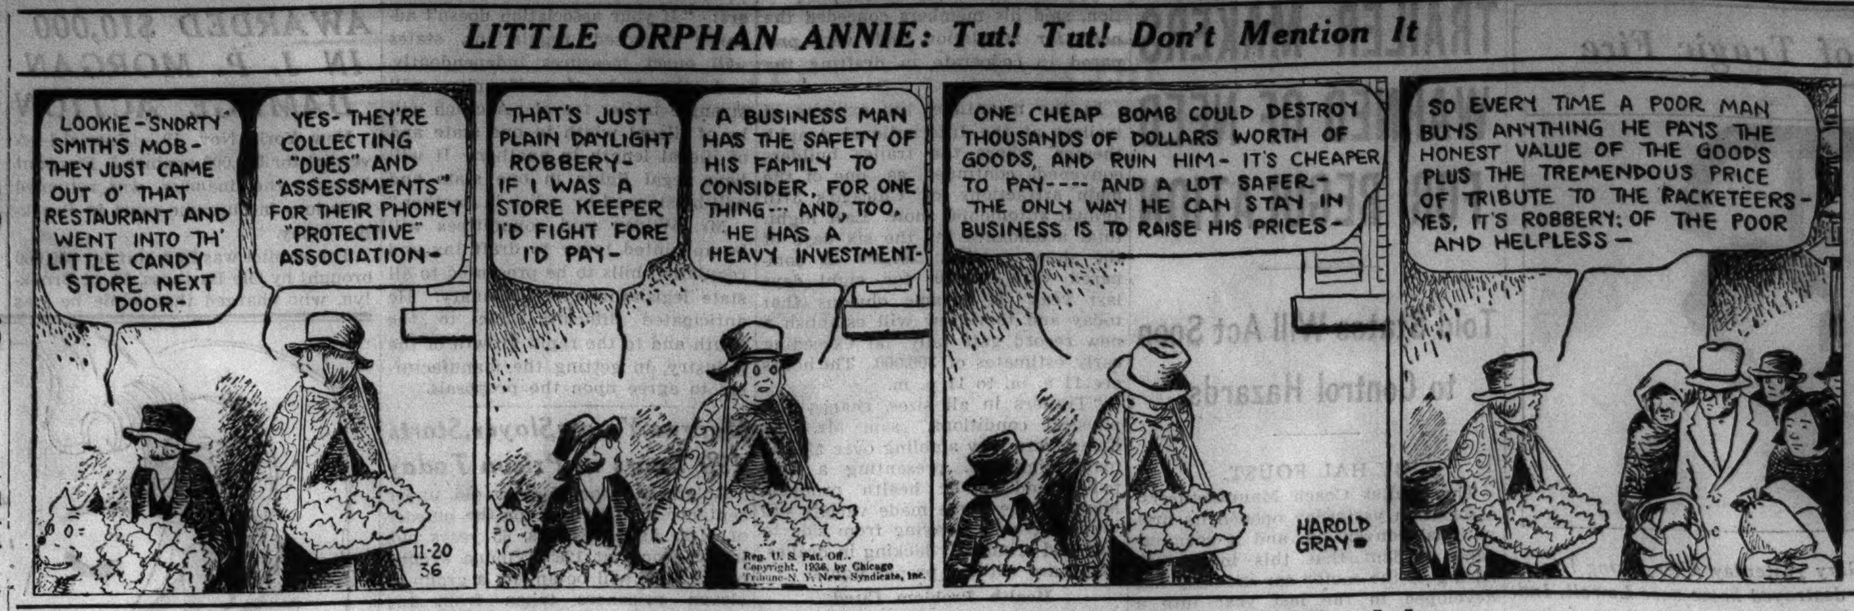
Two Killed as Train Hits Rail Speeder; Third Hurt

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Two men were killed and a third was critically injured today, between Otterbein and Montmorenci, when a Nickel Plate railroad speeder and a Big Four freight train collided. Arthur Bocher, 35, signal maintainer, and Earl Wesner, 38, his helper, were killed, and John Julian was seriously injured. The three had started for headquarters at Montmorenci and waited at a stop for a regular train to pass. An extra freight was mistaken for the regular, and the second train more down on them, in a heavy mist, without warning.

Wheaton's Chief of Police Heeds Plea Not to Resign

Lyle N. Grange, who has been chief of police at Wheaton for 15 years, is still chief, it developed yesterday after Commissioner of Police William Hopf of the suburb refused to accept his resignation. On Wednesday Grange, who is the father of Harold [Red] Grange, former college and professional football star, announced that he had submitted the resignation and that he was through. Yesterday Hopf asked Grange to continue in office, and Grange consented.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Tut! Tut! Don't Mention It



LOOKIE-'SNORTY' SMITH'S MOB- THEY JUST CAME OUT O' THAT RESTAURANT AND WENT INTO TH' LITTLE CANDY STORE NEXT DOOR-
YES-THEY'RE COLLECTING 'DUES' AND 'ASSESSMENTS' FOR THEIR PHONEY 'PROTECTIVE' ASSOCIATION-
THAT'S JUST PLAIN DAYLIGHT ROBBERY- IF I WAS A STORE KEEPER I'D FIGHT FORE I'D PAY-
A BUSINESS MAN HAS THE SAFETY OF HIS FAMILY TO CONSIDER, FOR ONE THING-- AND, TOO, HE HAS A HEAVY INVESTMENT-
ONE CHEAP BOMB COULD DESTROY THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS WORTH OF GOODS, AND RUIN HIM- IT'S CHEAPER TO PAY--- AND A LOT SAFER- THE ONLY WAY HE CAN STAY IN BUSINESS IS TO RAISE HIS PRICES-
SO EVERY TIME A POOR MAN BUYS ANYTHING HE PAYS THE HONEST VALUE OF THE GOODS PLUS THE TREMENDOUS PRICE OF TRIBUTE TO THE RACKETEERS- YES, IT'S ROBBERY; OF THE POOR AND HELPLESS-

FIND 'EARLIEST' STONE CALENDAR IN SO. AMERICA

Colombian Civilization of 300 A. D. Bared.

New York, Nov. 19.—[Special.]—The discovery of a huge stone calendar in the ancient jungles of Colombia, believed to be the earliest known invention for telling time in this part of the world, was reported here today by Prof. Herrmann von Waldegg, curator of the university museum of Boston college. Dr. Waldegg has just returned from Colombia, where for the last five months he conducted an expedition sponsored by Boston college and the University of Pennsylvania into the study of ancient culture.

The stone is semi-circular in shape and measures about eight feet wide and about four feet high. Chiseled hieroglyphs divide it into eighty solar cycles, 120 lunar cycles, and into groupings of fourteen and twenty, which may indicate months, Dr. Waldegg said.

Aztec Earliest Heretofore.

"The stone calendar appears to be our most important discovery, but further research will be needed before we can arrive at its true significance," Dr. Waldegg asserted. "The Aztec calendar heretofore was the oldest known calendar, but the Colombian culture which utilized the newly found stone calendar was a far older civilization."

Dr. Waldegg explained that the calendar was apparently used in the third century A. D. This civilization consisted of a clan organization of stone statue builders extending from Peru and Ecuador across the western, central, and eastern cordillera of the Andes, he added. This South American culture was "more or less" contemporary with the Mayan civilization of Yucatan, he asserted.

Long Before the Incas.

The stone statue builders were a branch of an ancient tribe of Indians who occupied northeastern South America before the Aztecs and long before the Incas, Dr. Waldegg asserted. Since the Incas did not appear until the tenth century there appears to have been in South America a "well advanced" culture at least 700 years earlier.

Dr. Waldegg's excavations were made in the San Agustin region of Colombia, an area now covered with jungle. With the help of fifty natives, Dr. Waldegg managed to get a large section of the jungle cleared away. According to an old Indian fable, the San Agustin region was the birthplace of mankind and the center of the fable, for in it rise "the three rivers of the three seas." These rivers are the Pattia, which flows into the Pacific; the Caqueta, which winds into the Amazon and eventually empties into the Atlantic, and the Magdalena, which flows into the Caribbean.

Reveal Pension Applicant Is Widow of Artist Kane

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—A little old lady in black applied for old age assistance this week. She gave her name as Mrs. Margaret Kain, and it was learned she is the 74 year old widow of John Kane, Pittsburgh house painter artist who was catapulted to fame when his "Scene from the Scottish Highlands" was accepted by the art jury for the 1927 Carnegie International. Kane died in 1934.

40 TON CRANE TOPPLES; TWO WORKERS HURT

Two workers on a sanitary district sewer project were crushed beneath a forty ton crane yesterday when it tipped over beside a large caisson at 26th street and East avenue, Berwyn. Frank Sell, 22 years old, 9645 Irving Park boulevard, Schiller Park, was trapped under a shed as the 38 foot boom of the crane crashed upon it. He was taken to the Berwyn hospital, critically injured. The other victim was Max Puyenic, 24 years old, 5811 South Damen avenue, a machinist's helper, who lay for more than an hour pinned against the concrete street by the crane. He was extricated by workmen using pneumatic tools to dig away the concrete beneath his body. His condition was not believed to be critical.

Seized by Husband After He Tries to Attack Wife

Harold Zabloski, 19 years old, 5825 South Talman avenue, was being held at the New City police station last night on a charge of attempting to attack Mrs. Eleanor Doligale, 22 years old, 5349 South Maplewood avenue, early in the day. The youth was captured by her husband, John, after Mrs. Doligale broke away from her assailant and rushed into her home. When she told her husband a man had grabbed her on the street, he hurried her into his car and drove about the neighborhood until they encountered Zabloski, who said he had intended no harm, adding that Mrs. Doligale knew his brother and sister.

N. Y. Fire Department's Official Mascot Is Dead

New York, Nov. 19. — [Special.] — Rex, the official Dalmatian mascot of the New York fire department and, according to gossip, the sire of 75 per cent of fire house mascots throughout the city, died tonight of double pneumonia in the Ellin Prince Speyer hospital for animals. He was 9 years old. Rex became the mascot of Engine 9 a few days before Thanksgiving in 1927.

EDUCATOR LAUDS INTELLIGENCE OF THE 'HILL BILLY'

Cultural Background Not Lacking, He Says.

The education and development of the hill residents of Tennessee and Kentucky, among whom many a "mute, inglorious Milton" dwells, was described for members of the Chicago Bar association in their quarters at 160 North La Salle street yesterday by Dr. Stewart W. McClelland, president of the Lincoln Memorial university at Harrogate, Tenn. This institution is dedicated to the advancement of those Americans who are known as "hill-billies."

Retain Customs and Ideals.

"These residents of the Appalachian highlands have retained the customs, language, ideals, and religion of their forefathers who were the earliest Americans," Dr. McClelland said. "There are four million primitive people in the region. They lack books, newspapers, movies, good roads, telephones, but they have one thing which the rest of the country might well copy.

"That is their family solidarity. It is a beautiful thing and I believe the more sophisticated sections of the country might very well pattern after it.

Conquer Their Background.

"The students who enter our college come from illiterate stock, but that does not mean they lack a cultural background. On the contrary most of our students have a higher intelligence than the average college freshman because they have conquered their background. Like their parents they often possess marvelous powers of description, and their folklore is one of the treasures of our country.

"I recall the apt description of one fellow who was asked to terrace a hill near my home. 'You can't terrace that hill,' he said. 'It's steeper than a cow's face.' Their simple folklore often provokes a picture of an economic or social problem which could never be produced by more formal words. They are, in fact, cartoonists of words."

FAY WEBB'S RITES TOMORROW; VALLEE UNABLE TO ATTEND

Santa Monica, Cal., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Funeral services for Fay Webb, movie actress and former wife of Rudy Vallee, will be held here Saturday in the Methodist Episcopal church which she joined as a girl. The brunette beauty died last night of peritonitis.

There will be three songs, the same ones which Fay heard last spring at the services for her mother—"Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," "In the Garden," and "Golden Bells Are Ringing for You."

Capt. Clarence Webb of the Santa Monica police said today that Fay's room in her childhood home here will never be changed. Its furnishings and arrangements will be left as they are—as though she had never gone.

In New York Vallee called off his broadcast engagements for tonight, but he said contracts would prevent his flying to the west coast for her funeral. His employers said "the show must go on."

Sobbing openly Rudy fled from the French casino last night when he received the news of Fay's death.

To Fay's father, Vallee telegraphed: "I am with you in your great sorrow. I never stopped loving her."

Webb said: "It was the same with Fay. She would say, 'I still love Rudy.'"

Rites to Be Held Today for Mrs. Kenneth Zonsius

Funeral services for Mrs. Helen Berry Zonsius, 37 years old, former Chicagoan who died on Tuesday in her home in Akron, O., after a long illness, will be held at 2 p. m. today in the chapel at 734 West 79th street. Burial will be in Mount Hope cemetery. Mrs. Zonsius was the wife of Kenneth Zonsius, manager of the automobile tire department of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company in Akron. She was the daughter of Dr. H. T. Berry, south side dentist. Her husband and a son survive.

TRAY OF CHEESES AND FRUIT MAKES A FINE THANKSGIVING DESSERT

A tray of cheeses and fruit is a suitable Thanksgiving dinner dessert course. On the cheese board in the center of the large tray, arrange the cheeses, which might consist of the following: Swiss, mild American, sharp American, wedges of pimiento, genuine imported Roquefort, and cream cheese. Border this array with fruits, kumquat clusters, pears, and white grapes.

HERE ARE WAYS TO GIVE TURKEY AN ADDED TOUCH

Clever Garnishes and Tasty Dressings.

To serve the Thanksgiving turkey, place it on your most beautiful platter and garnish in one of many flattering ways.

Garnish with a border of raw whole cranberries peeping out from crisp parsley sprigs.

Garnish with apricots and prunes which have been stuffed with marshmallows and decorated with halves of maraschino cherries. Fill in spaces with parsley.

MUSHROOM DRESSING.

1 pound fresh mushrooms
2 eggs
1 onion, grated
¼ cup melted butter
4 cups stale bread crums
2 cups chopped celery
½ cup milk
Salt and pepper to taste

Chop mushrooms and celery finely, add grated onion. Beat eggs slightly and add the milk to them. Then stir the liquid into the other mixed dry ingredients. Season to taste. Mix thoroughly and stuff lightly into a ten or twelve pound turkey.

APPLE AND RAISIN DRESSING.

1 cup seedless raisins
10 tart apples, chopped with the skins on
¼ cup butter, melted
3 dozen soda crackers, crumbled
1½ cups hot water
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon powdered marjoram
⅛ teaspoon paprika
Grated rind of 1 lemon.

Melt butter in frying pan, add apples and washed raisins, sautéing them slightly. Add the hot water to the crackers and when well mixed add this to the fruit in the skillet, stirring over a slow heat for several minutes. Now add the seasoning and stuff the bird. Enough for an eight to ten pound bird.

CHESTNUT AND SAUSAGE STUFFING.

1 tablespoon minced onion
3 tablespoons butter
½ pound sausage
1 cup chopped mushrooms
1 cup mashed, boiled chestnuts
½ cup dry bread crums
1½ cups whole chestnuts
Salt, pepper

Brown the onion and sausage in the butter. Mix with the chopped mushrooms and mashed chestnuts. Heat slowly for 10 minutes. Then combine with the crums and whole chestnuts. Season to taste, cool, and stuff fowl. This will be enough for a small turkey, six or seven pounds. [To cook the chestnuts, shell them and then cook in water until tender, about 20 minutes.]

LOSES ARM IN SHREDDER.

RETURN SUSPECT TO HARRISBURG.

Walter D. Lee, 29 years old, of Harrisburg, who surrendered to the Harvey police while being sought on a charge of having forged $170 in notes on a bank in his home city, was turned over to Saline county officials yesterday.

Pork and Lamb Are Economical Buys

Most cuts of lamb and pork are being featured by many retail meat dealers at attractive price levels, the committee on marketing information of the meat council of Chicago points out.

Listed among the most economical meat buys for Chicago housewives during the coming week-end are pork shoulders and the forequarter cuts of lamb, such as lamb shoulder roasts, lamb shoulder chops, and lamb breast for stuffing, the meat council states. Housewives also will find bargains in pork loins, which are somewhat lower in price than last week, and in leg of lamb. Retail prices of the latter cut also have declined somewhat in price, according to the meat council.

Delicious Dish Is Veal Baked in Sour Cream

Veal baked in sour cream makes a delicious dish. The meat is first browned in hot fat, then the sour cream is added and the veal baked in a 350 degree F. oven until tender, about 45 to 60 minutes.

DINNER FOR SIX ON THANKSGIVING WILL COST $4.87

Wide Spread Expected in Prices of Turkey.

A typical Thanksgiving dinner for a family of six persons will cost about $4.87 this year, as compared to $5.28 a year ago. The difference of 41 cents in favor of the consumer's pocketbook is due chiefly to the lower price retail butchers will likely ask this year.

Although merchants have not yet determined definitly the prices they will ask for the different grades of turkeys, the prices are expected to be several cents a pound lower than last year. Wholesale prices on No. 1 turkeys were quoted yesterday in carload lots at 23 cents a pound. Retailers were of the opinion that these birds will be selling to consumers next week at from 29 to 32 cents a pound.

Expect Wider Price Spread.

There probably will be more than the usual spread in prices among the various grades of turkeys this year, because an abnormally high percentage of poorly finished and low grade birds are reported to be coming to market from sections where feed was cut short by drouth. Many retailers said yesterday they expect the bulk of No. 1 turkeys to retail at slightly less than 30 cents a pound, while a few extra fancy young birds from the northwest may sell as high as 37 cents.

Yesterday's wholesale quotation on old turkeys was 20 cents a pound with No. 2 birds listed at 15 cents. All reports indicate that there are lots of turkeys this year—more than ever before. Latest government figures place the crop at 20 million birds, or nearly one turkey for each family in the country.

Mary Mead's Price List.

The cost of a Thanksgiving dinner is based on prices of 24 food items appearing in a shopping list suggested by Miss Mary Meade, THE TRIBUNE'S cooking editor. Nine of the items on the list are higher this year than last, eight are lower, and seven are unchanged. The list is based on the average retail prices now being asked by city and suburban merchants for all items except turkey.

Half of a 12 pound turkey	$2.22	$1.83
One-half pint whipping cream	.18	.20

TRIBUNE RECIPES

GOOSEBERRY CONSERVE.

3 quarts gooseberries
1 pound raisins, chopped fine
1½ cups English walnut meats
1 pound crushed pineapple
8 cups sugar

Wash and stem gooseberries and cook them until they burst. Add sugar, raisins, and pineapple, and boil mixture slowly until it is thick. Add chopped nut meats and pack conserve into clean, sterile, hot jars and seal immediately.

RED RASPBERRY AND STRAWBERRY JELLY.

4 cups raspberry and strawberry juice, combined
4 pounds sugar
1 bottle commercial pectin

Prepare juice by crushing thoroughly or grinding about 1½ quarts of ripe raspberries and the same amount of strawberries. Combine the ground fruits and place in a jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out the juice. Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a full rolling boil over a very hot burner, and boil hard for two minutes, stirring constantly. Then add bottle of fruit pectin, bring again to a full rolling boil, and boil hard half a minute. Remove from stove, skim, pour quickly into jelly glasses, and seal with paraffin.

COCONUT CREAM PIE.

4 tablespoons sugar
4 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 cup shredded coconut
2 teaspoons vanilla

Combine sugar, flour, and salt in top of double boiler, add the milk and egg yolks, and mix thoroughly. Cook ten minutes over rapidly boiling water, stirring constantly. Remove from burner, add coconut and vanilla. Cool slightly and turn into baked pie shell. For the meringue: Beat 2 egg whites until foamy, add 4 tablespoons sugar gradually, beating after each addition. Continue beating until meringue stands in peaks. Pile on cream filling and sprinkle with coconut—approximately ½ a cup. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven 12 to 15 minutes, or until delicately browned.

COTTAGE CHEESE TOMATO ASPIC SALAD.

1 can tomato soup
1 tablespoon gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ cup chopped celery
1 cup cottage cheese
½ cup mayonnaise
4 tablespoons chopped stuffed olives
1 green pepper

Soak gelatin in cold water. Heat soup to boiling point and then add gelatin and dissolve. Add cottage cheese, work smooth, and cool mixture. Add celery, olives and green pepper which have been finely chopped. Chill until firm and serve on bed of greens with mayonnaise topping.

SALLY LUNN.

2 eggs.
1 cup milk.
2 cups flour.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
¾ teaspoon salt.

Cream the butter and sugar together, add the well beaten eggs. Add the milk, a little at a time, alternating with the sifted dry ingredients. Bake in a shallow greased pan in a hot oven [425 degrees F.] for 20 to 25 minutes. Sally Lunns should be 1¾ inches thick when baked.

ORANGE MARMALADE.

2 lemons.
Cold water.
Sugar.

Wash fruit, cut in half, remove seeds. Slice rind very thin or grind fine. For every cup of rind and fruit pulp add 1½ cups water and let stand overnight. Pour into preserving kettle, let cook slowly from 1 to 2 hours or until tender. Again let stand overnight. For each cup of fruit add 1 cup of sugar, and cook 20 minutes or until it jells when dropped on a cold plate. Pour into hot sterilized glasses and cover wtih paraffin.

PUMPKIN PIE WITH WINE.

2 eggs
1½ cups cooked pumpkin
1 cup brown sugar.
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ginger
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup rich milk
1 tablespoon sherry wine

Beat the eggs slightly, and combine with all other ingredients. Place in an unbaked pastry shell and bake for ten minutes at 400 degrees F., then reduce temperature to 350 degrees F. until filling is done. [Test the custard filling by inserting a clean knife. If the knife is clean when removed, the custard has baked sufficiently.]

APRICOT SHERBET.

1 cup sugar.
1 cup milk.
⅓ cup water.
¼ cup lemon juice.

Drain apricots and add to the liquor the sieved fruit. Mix with the sugar, milk, and lemon juice, and freeze until a mush in the tray of a refrigerator. Remove and fold in the stiffly beaten cream, and continue freezing.

ORANGE PECAN ICEBOX COOKIES.

½ cup brown sugar.
½ cup white sugar.
1 egg.
1 tablespoon orange juice.
1 tablespoon grated orange rind.
2¾ cups flour.
1 teaspoon soda.
½ cup pecan meats.

Cream the fat until soft, add the sugar, the beaten egg, orange juice, and grated rind. Beat until smooth, and stir in the sifted flour and soda. Add the nuts, shape into rolls about 2 inches across, and wrap in waxed paper. Chill over night and bake, in thin slices, for 10 to 12 minutes in a 350 degree F. oven.

FIND CRANBERRY WITH POT ROAST DELIGHTS PALATE

Cranberry sauce has long been a favorite with the holiday roast fowl. Gradually cranberries are being served with a wider variety of meats and are also being baked with meats for the purpose of tenderizing them.

For pot roasts, the raw berries are added to the gravy or juice of the meat while it is cooking [about 2 cups of cranberries for each three pounds of meat]. Or the unsweetened cranberry sauce may be poured hot over the pot roast as soon as it has been browned.

Two Popular Accompaniments.

Two very popular meat accompaniments are uncooked relishes which use ground cranberries and other ingredients to make tart combinations. This cranberry and orange relish has had long standing popularity.

CRANBERRY AND ORANGE RELISH.

1 pound cranberries [4 cups]
1½ oranges
2 cups granulated sugar

Run the cranberries through the meat grinder. Pare the oranges, remove the seeds, trim off the white membrane leaving the pulp exposed on the surface. Run rind and pulp through grinder. Mix with ground cranberries and sugar. Let the mixture stand a few hours in a cool place before serving, as the flavor is vastly improved. For future use, pack mixture into glass jars, and cover with paraffin.

CRANBERRY HORSERADISH RELISH.

The Man on the Blue

By Luke Short

SYNOPSIS.

Fleeing the law, Shamrock Ireland, arrogant young westerner, reaches Arizona on his Blue and saves the life of Sherif Lobell, who is about to be shot by a girl, Nancy Hyatt. The Hyatts—Nancy and her brother, Mayo—have lost their ranch, the Double Diamond, to the bank. Mayo, recently paroled, has threatened to kill any man who serves him with a dispossess. Lobell offers to deputize Shamrock and pay him well to serve the papers. Shamrock accepts.

INSTALMENT V.

"A LAW MAN."

The boy led Blue back into the first stall, and Shamrock followed him. The youngster started to work, good naturedly fighting Blue away from the water bucket, but letting him have a sip now and then. Shamrock watched him and was satisfied.

"What's your name?" Shamrock asked.

"Maginnis."

Shamrock rolled a cigaret and regarded the youngster's work.

"Put that saddle on the manger," he ordered suddenly. "I may want to leave here in a hurry."

Again the youngster obeyed, and he was not whistling any more.

Shamrock lighted up, scowling. "Does this Hyatt have red hair?" he asked suddenly.

"That's him," Maginnis said.

"Gunman?"

"Looks it."

Shamrock flipped a couple of silver dollars on the floor where Maginnis was kneeling. "That's for you. I'll settle my bill later."

"Yes sir," the boy said softly. "They won't get nothin' out of me."

Shamrock was half turned to go when he paused and looked at Maginnis again.

"Who won't?"

"Why—why—anybody that asks if you was inquirin' about Mayo Hyatt."

Shamrock removed the cigaret from his mouth. "Like who?"

The youngster flushed, and his gaze fell under Shamrock's cold stare. "Well, the sherif he asks regular since Hyatt come home." He jerked his head in the direction of the sherif's office. "Two men he tried to deputize come in here askin' me about Hyatt."

"Did they do it?"

"I—I heard they wouldn't take it," Maginnis said.

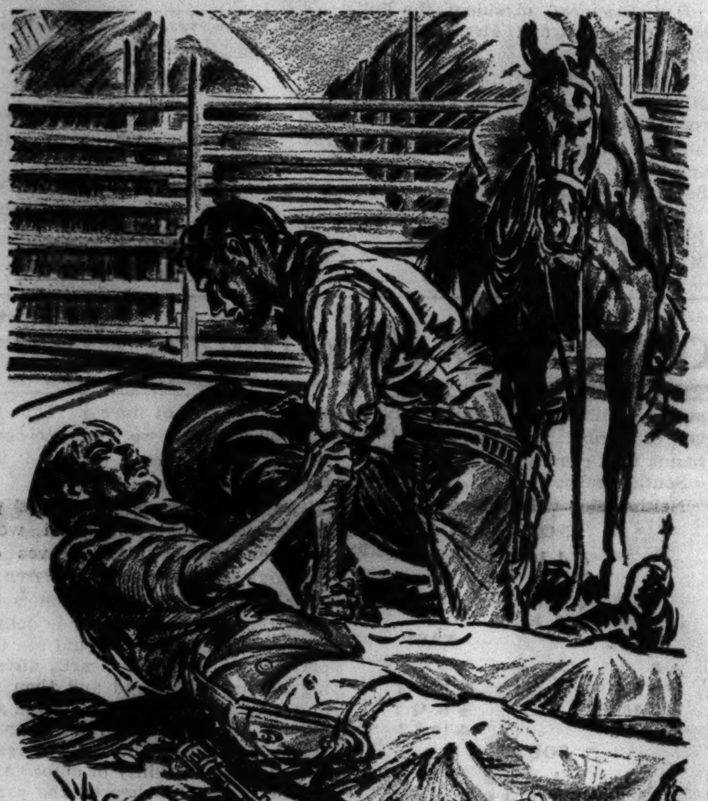
"Right in my room past the office."

Shamrock went up to the office, through it in the dark to the cubbyhole beyond which contained a cot and a washstand and not much else.

He found the bucket and filled the dipper, rinsed out his mouth, spat out a mouthful, then started to drink in short sips, waiting between each one. At the first trickle of water down his throat, everything that had been tight in him seemed to loosen up, and he suddenly discovered that he had been hungry too.



"Who were they, Wick? All of them. The names!"

"A law man," he suddenly said aloud, contemptuously, and laughed quietly. He was thinking of his meeting with the sherif, and the innocent proposition he had accepted—a proposition which carried unspoken meanings they both understood. Shamrock hadn't been entirely sure until Maginnis had said it, then he knew that Lobell was on the lookout for a hard-case—any hard-case—to do a dirty job.

And he hadn't been sure about Hyatt either, until Maginnis had verified the description Shamrock had not dared to ask Lobell. Which only went to prove, he reflected as he set the dipper down in the bucket, that everything comes to a man with patience—even Mayo Hyatt.

Still thirsty, he stepped to the door and looked over the town. It had the lonely quietness of dusk about it, and he could smell damp dirt, as if the stream bed behind the opposite buildings had not long been dry and still held the lingering freshness of mountain water.

It was on just such a night as this in spring, and about this time in the evening too that Shamrock, in two awful minutes, had lost all his faith in mankind. And Mayo Hyatt had destroyed that faith—he and a sherif. Long ago, it seemed now.

"He was travelin' under the name of Hyatt Mayo then," Shamrock reflected peacefully, "but it's the same jasper." He could even think of it now without a red rage welling up in him.

Shamrock had been young then, and green, a frontier orphan who had never known his parents. As far back as memory went, he remembered the two old men who had raised him in that two-room shack in the Idaho Calicos, Wick Henry and Big Ed Husband. The Calicos were remote then, and the men who roamed them stayed only one night at the shack and seemed always uneasy. Shamrock was almost grown before he learned that the Calicos were infected with outlaw hangouts, and were the refuge of men on the dodge. He learned too that Big Ed was wanted down below, and especially in nearby Nevada, but he did not consider that strange. Wick and Ed were honest men, they taught him honesty, and they lived a blameless life now, making a poor living with their small herd of wild stock. Moreover, they were good men, kind, easy going, fearless, and more strict than a mother where his upbringing was concerned.

He was not yet eighteen when Hyatt Mayo rode up to the shack one night and claimed shelter from Big Ed and Wick. Big, genial, dare-devil, the red-head soon won the affection of all three. He was on the dodge, but no one ever asked why. Over a period of months he became a regular caller at the shack, and Shamrock liked him although he saw little of him.

Then came the time when Mayo disappeared, and no one knew where. Shamrock had almost forgotten him, until that night.

After a long day of riding, he returned to the shack at dusk and found old Wick lying in the corral lot, riddled with bullets, almost bled to death.

Slowly, haltingly, Shamrock got his story. Some bounty hunting lawman from over in Nevada had decided to make himself some money. He had come over into Idaho to capture Big Ed and take him back for the reward money.

"Who was he, Wick?" Shamrock had asked huskily.

Wick seemed not to hear, then whispered, "Cosmos." It was the name of a county seat town just over the line into Nevada.

"Who was with him?"

Wick's old face was gray now, and turning to Blue, but Shamrock, fighting the tightness in his throat, persisted.

Gently he shook him.

"Who were they, Wick? All of them. The names!"

Wick opened his eyes and stared unseeing at the youngster he had raised. His clawlike hands locked on Shamrock's.

"Hyatt—Hyatt Mayo," Wick whispered.

"The red-head? Our—friend?"

But Wick could neither talk nor move. He was dead. That moment was the bitterest in Shamrock's life. It was a long time before he comprehended the meaning of his loss, long after he had staged an unsuccessful rescue of Big Ed and wounded the sherif and fled the territory. When word came to him in Wyoming that Big Ed had been lynched, he knew he was alone in the world.

But not quite alone. He still had a twin hate that was never out of his mind. From that day on, he hated law-men with all the unreasoning violence of an eighteen year old. But more than law-men he hated Hyatt Mayo, the red-headed Judas, the betrayer of Big Ed and the killer of Wick.

NEW, ELABORATE DESSERTS MAKE USE OF WINES

Cooking Editor Describes Some Taste Hits.

BY MARY MEADE.

Once in a blue moon, although not much oftener than this, most of us like to prepare and serve a rather elaborate dessert, one which will bring at first sight eager questions from the assembled tableful, and at first bite a substitution of exclamation mark for interrogation point, a "What can it be?" transformed into "How good it is!"

Thanksgiving day is that once-in-a-royal-blue-moon for some of us. If we are to depart from the steamed pudding or mince pie tradition we want to climax our holiday meal with something equally tasty. I submit the following desserts. The use of wines and spirits in the preparation of these festive delights adds distinction. And none of them is, after all, too elaborate. None requires a great deal of last minute fussing, which fact should be a recommendation in itself.

Bavarian Pudding.

½ cup candied fruit
2 tablespoons brandy
1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
2 tablespoons milk
⅔ cup milk
2 egg yolks
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons Bacardi rum

Chop the candied fruit [which might include cherries, pineapple, apricots, raisins, and dates] and allow it to stand with the brandy for an hour, stirring occasionally. Soak the gelatin five minutes in the two tablespoons of milk. Scald the rest of the milk in the top of a double boiler and stir into it the egg yolks, beaten until light and combined with the salt and sugar. Cook and stir over hot water until the mixture thickens. Then add the gelatin and fruit. Cover and cool. Fold in the cream whipped stiffly, with the Bacardi added. Pour into a mold rinsed in cold water and chill in the refrigerator until firm. Unmold and serve with whipped cream.

Little Tipsy Cakes.

Sponge or plain cup cakes
1 cup sugar
⅔ cup water
2 tablespoons apricot jam
4 tablespoons Bacardi rum

Boil the sugar, water, and jam together for five minutes, add the rum, and pour the sirup over the cupcakes [one tablespoon to each] in a casserole. Cover closely and chill. Serve with a whipped cream and nut topping.

Frozen Pudding.

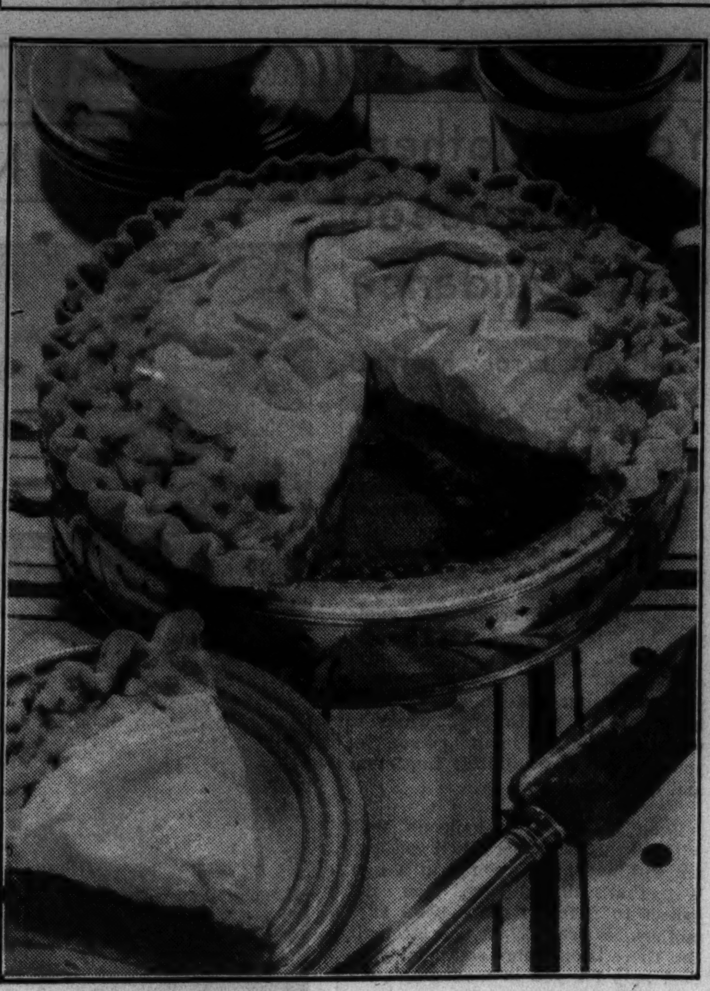
[For ice cream freezer only.]

1 cup sugar
2 cups water
¼ teaspoon salt
3 egg yolks
1 pint heavy cream
¾ cup mixed chopped candied fruits
⅓ cup blanched almonds and pistachio nuts
1 tablespoon brandy
1 tablespoon sherry
1 tablespoon rum

Combine the sugar, water, and salt, and boil five minutes. Beat egg yolks lightly and pour the hot sirup over them, beating at the same time. Place over hot water and continue beating for two minutes. Then place in a pan of ice water and beat until cold. Transfer to freezer, add cream, and churn to a mush in three parts crushed ice to one part rock salt. Stir in the fruits and nuts mixed with the spirits, and continue freezing until firm.

Recipes should be followed closely when making ice creams with wines, cordials, or spirits, for too large a proportion of these ingredients will keep the mixture from freezing.

A TEMPTING FAVORITE



If you're a lover of tradition you'll probably be serving pumpkin or mince pie to top off the Thanksgiving dinner. To make both of these old time favorites even more tempting add crushed pineapple or pineapple tidbits to your recipe. The pumpkin pie pictured above is adorned with whipped cream and a border of crushed pineapple. The flavors blend beautifully.

CLIMALENE first ... SAFETY first

The first principle in proper cleaning is to make the water SAFE for cleaning. Follow that principle and you are forever rid of such unsightly and costly plagues as "soap scum", soap-fade and soap-eat.

Perhaps you are experiencing these troubles today, with soap and city water. This does not mean you have to stop using soap. It does mean you need a SAFE, dependable grease-solvent. CLIMALENE is that grease solvent . . . it cuts through the stronghold of dirt, grime, stains and grease with razor-edge power . . . yet with safety!

A teaspoon of Climalene before you add your favorite soap removes film that dims china and glasses . . . a tablespoon banishes stubborn stains . . . gives you snow-white washings. Use CLIMALENE first, for safety first! Ask your grocer for Climalene . . . 12 ounces 10c - 2 pounds 25c. The Climalene Company, Canton, Ohio.

"I'm Mighty Proud OF THE ARMOUR'S STAR PURE PORK SAUSAGE we make right here in CHICAGO"

• There's a lot more to making good sausage than most people realize. Take Star Pork Sausage, for example. It's made of nothing but fine pork. To the lean meat we add just the right amount of fat to make each sausage juicy and delicious. And the seasoning is an art all by itself. We use rare spices, carefully selected. We think we're right when we say, "Armour's Pork Sausage is seasoned just right."

Pork Sausage Must Be Fresh

Here's another point—to be good, pork sausage must be fresh. We make Armour's Star Pork Sausage right here in our local sausage kitchen every day and deliver it to your meat dealer fresh every day. I don't see how it could be any fresher than that!

We men who work here in the Armour sausage plant appreciate this chance to tell you . . .

Even Smartest Frock Fails If Corset Is Poor

Good Foundation Garment Necessary to Chic.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

You don't have to be expert when it comes to determining the well and the badly corseted woman.

At a large club meeting one day recently one of the presiding officers stood upon the raised platform and delivered a speech of welcome in an outfit that might have been attractive except for the badly fitted foundation garment. The skirt edges of the garment showed so plainly as to ruin the lines of the dress completely. Following this one on the stand was a large woman with a beautifully corseted figure into whose silhouette the dress line fitted admirably. Before that audience was about as good a lesson as I have ever seen on the importance of the foundation garment.

Perhaps it does cost a little money to have a good foundation garment, but what's the use of putting $50 or $75 into a frock over a cheap, ill-fitting garment that ruins the lines of the dress? If need be [but there is no such need] the same sums put into the undergarment would be better spending, with the top garment getting the cheap end of the deal. I know women who spend over $100 for a frock who become tragically niggardly over the corset output, with the consequence that the dress looks the tragedy of the ill-spent money.

However, one can get foundation garments at decent prices for us hard working slaves. But getting these properly fitted must be attended so that those ugly lines do not protrude through a jersey, wool, or other form clinging material.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Like magnolia? The haunting, sweet fragrance of it or even the very thought of it? If you do you'll be completely mad about a new magnolia perfume. And if you're a woman it suits you're in luck—because it's lovely.

This is THE perfume for those fragile, feminine women who can get away with the romantic touch. Not in slathers, you understand, but in subtle, potent quantities. When the right type of woman wears it the strongest of men begin dreaming about orange blossoms, presents for the ushers, and down payments on that little bungalow with the open fireplace. Its fragrance, you see, is very much the filmy stuff of which love's young dream is knit.

Toying with this perfume recently we had lots of fun, getting the reactions of a flock of women and a few men. The matter-of-fact women, the kind men never open doors for or feel should be shielded from the crool, crool world all opined as how it was too sweet for their tastes. But the others, the faintly frightened, just-a-bit helpless sort took to it in exactly the same fashion a pink tongued kitten takes to its cream. And, in the mysterious fashion perfume has, this magnolia perfume suited them to perfection.

All the men thought it was just the sort of perfume women should wear, proving again that it's always wiser for a woman to be cute than to be clever if it's masculine protection she craves.

But all that's pretty much beside the point. What's important is this: This new magnolia perfume is something scrumptious in the way of devastating fragrances. Don't miss it. If it's your kind of a perfume you'll find it sweetly soul satisfying.

Angier B. Duke Jr., Heir to Tobacco Fortune, to Marry

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Angier B. Duke Jr., co-heir to the tobacco fortune, Yale junior, and grandson of Col. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle of Philadelphia, will marry on Jan. 2 Miss Priscilla St. George, debutante of this season and distant cousin of President Roosevelt.

Formal announcement of the engagement will be made on Nov. 28 at a supper-dance to be given for the bride-to-be by her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Baker, at their home in New York. The wedding will take place at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George D. St. George, Tuxedo Park, N. Y.

The prospective bridegroom and his brother, Anthony D. Duke, are heirs to a $10,000,000 fortune left by their father, Angier B. Duke, who was drowned in a yachting accident in Long Island sound in 1923.

The name "Tudor Rose" immediately calls to mind that interesting period of history known as the reign of the Tudors. There is nothing as complex about the "Tudor Rose" block as about the era for which it was named, yet the history of the quilt pattern is lost to all quilt historians unless one of our readers is able to supply the missing data. The entire quilt is composed of pieced blocks yet, when assembled, these squares appear to be appliqued against a ground of white.

George Raft and Studio Reinstate Their Contract

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—The mutual dissolution of Paramount studio's $4,000 a week acting contract with George Raft was announced last week. Today the studio and the actor announced the contract has been reinstated and the sleek, black haired star, has accepted a rôle in "Souls at Sea" from which he sought to withdraw. Raft's return was agreed upon when he met William Le Baron, managing director of production at Paramount.

Young Mothers Need Advice on Child Guidance

'Trial and Error' Method Unfair to Youngster.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

There are a lot of things about managing children sympathetically that are based on experience. But if this young son or daughter of yours is your first child—well, you haven't much experience to guide you, have you?

What can help you with your first child then? Well, several things—good sense, imagination, and the feeling that it's worth your while to understand this small person of yours—small yet infinitely important and quite complex.

Even so it often happens that, with all this guidance which you look for within yourself, you're at a loss. Well, that's all right, too. You can't expect to function quite 100% as a mother. We're only human after all. But there is one more source of practical help for you in managing your child. That source is the experience of some one else, some one who has carried a son or daughter through childhood to adolescence, or who has made observations and worked and studied in this field. If you'll keep your eyes and ears open and your mind open, too, you will be able to learn a lot. Information that throws light on child behavior problems will give you valuable hints on how to handle children properly.

All this may save you many mistakes. Some one has said that it's a little stupid to expect to learn everything by one's own experience. That's true, too. The trial and error system shouldn't be the only way in which we gain knowledge. Certainly in dealing with human material, like our children, we should acquire all the skill we possibly can. Try to do so, then, by reading, thinking, and watching both yourself and others and you'll find yourself saying: "Why, that's so. I never thought of that," in dozens of instances.

You'll find yourself remarking: "So that's why the baby had a tantrum!" or, "He really isn't naughty, he's just curious!" or, "So this is just a phase they all go through at this age!" or, "She may act this way around the house because she's unhappy. I never thought of that!"

The Stage

The engagement of the Theater Guild play, "Call It a Day," at the Grand Opera house, with Gladys Cooper and Philip Merivale as co-stars, will not end on Nov. 28, as indicated in recent announcements. Plans were made yesterday to continue its stay in Chicago indefinitly.

Tomorrow night will bring the ends of three theatrical engagements, as follows: "Dead End," at the Studebaker [ten weeks]; "The Night of Jan. 16," at the Selwyn [nine weeks], and "Pride and Prejudice," at the Harris [six weeks]. These companies will continue their tours. "Dead End" will move to Boston.

Charlotte Greenwood, in a comedy called "Leaning on Letty," will replace "The Night of Jan. 16" at the Selwyn. This comedienne has not appeared in Chicago since 1930. Her play, which was called "The Post Road" when staged in New York, has been popular in the west coast cities for the last year.

With a new stage director, Kurt Wohlgemuth, the theatrical company of the Jewish People's institute will start its season next Sunday night. "Then Marry, You Idiots," translated from the German, will be the play.

"Judgment Day," a drama by Elmer Rice, dealing with Fascism in a fictitious European country, will be staged next Monday night in the Chicago Woman's club theater for three performances. The players are a semi-professional group, directed by Melita Hamilton Skillen, which has developed out of the Players' Guild of Evanston.

"Penrod," based on Booth Tarkington's boy stories, will be given tomorrow afternoon in the Goodman theater as a production for children. The performance will be repeated on the afternoons of Nov. 28 and Dec. 5.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

RESPONSES TO OPENING TWO NO TRUMP BIDS.

Raise partner's two no trump to three no trump if holding:

[a] One-half [sometimes less] to one and one-half honor tricks. This includes any such holding as K x, Q J x, Q x, and Q x and J x in different suits and even to two four card suits headed by the jack.

[b] Any five card minor suit headed by the queen or better [Q x x x x], even without outside strength. However, with a five card minor headed by the queen and a four card major outside, a suit take-out is better, hoping that the opener can rebid in a four card major.

With more than one and one-half honor tricks the responder usually should try for a slam unless his hand also has 4-3-3-3 distribution.

TODAY'S HAND.

A rather unique contract match recently was held in England, the purpose being to test the effectiveness of asking bids. One team was to use asking bids. The other pinned its faith on what is somewhat euphemistically dubbed over there the "British common sense method." The idea was that each team should bid according to its chosen method and submit the final contract to a committee of judges whose duty it was to decide, not who had reached the proper contract [which obviously should have been the burning question], but who could make the most points against the existing adverse lay of cards. Here is one of the hands that came up.

NORTH
♠ J 10 9 2
♥ Q 8
♦ A 5

WEST
♠ 6
♥ 9 5 4
♦ J 10 9 8 4 3
♣ Q 4 3

EAST
♠ Q 7 5 3
♥ 10 7 3
♦ K Q 2

SOUTH
♥ A K J 6 2
♦ 7 6
♣ 9 8

The "British method" team stopped at four spades, which the judges generously conceded would be fulfilled by correct play. The asking bidders' bidding went as follows:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 spades	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 diamonds	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
5 clubs	Pass	5 no trump	Pass
6 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

Now let me quote one of the most amazing judgments delivered since King Solomon's time. The South player wrote, in a British bridge magazine:

"This hand certainly is a score for the asking bids, yet . . . the adjudicators rightly decided the slam should fail on correct play . . . [which was] . . . after a diamond opening lead, to play for a 3-2 division of trumps and not finesse. Thus the decision was that we were one down, although all present admitted that the slam ought to be bid."

The insouciance of the judges' pronouncement that the slam would "fail on correct play" leaves one gasping! What should declarer do after the two rounds of trumps disclose the situation? Concede defeat?

The expert declarer would see that playing out three top hearts, discarding dummy's diamond and then ruffing a diamond in dummy, would give dummy the lead at an inconvenient stage. The fate of the contract rested on the establishability of clubs. After cashing three top hearts, the expert would play the ace and king of clubs and ruff a third round while two trumps remained in dummy. Only then would he ruff a diamond in dummy. The end position would be:

I learned my lesson—
Not to use Cheap Soap on my Clothes
says MRS. EDWIN J. McINERNEY

"I know that when I used cheap soap I had to literally rub my clothes into rags and then they really were never white and clean. A neighbor recommended American Family and what a difference. My wash now comes out sparkling white and my clothes last much longer. I'll never use cheap soap again."

And here's the secret of the amazing success of American Family Soap. Why it makes washing easier, safer, quicker. Laboratory tests prove that American Family contains as much as one-third more suds-making material than other leading laundry soaps sold in this market. And dissolves almost instantly into rich, creamy, active "DOUBLE SUDS." These "DOUBLE SUDS" work doubly fast—float out the grimiest dirt without hard rubbing—and in utter safety to fabrics. That's the miracle of American Family Soap. Why colors stay true. Why ALL washables keep their life and newness much longer. More women in and around Chicago use American Family than any other brand. Start today to use American Family Soap and prove, beyond any shadow of doubt, that it is cheaper to buy good soap than new clothes. Made by Procter & Gamble.

Dinner Parties Will Precede Bachelor Ball

William B. Cudahys to Be Among Hosts.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE young William B. Cudahys are not planning to entertain on their first wedding anniversary, next Monday, for they are giving a dinner party two nights later before the Bachelors and Benedicts ball. Their party will be at the State parkway residence of Mr. Cudahy's father, Edward I. Cudahy, and they will have about two dozen guests.

Mrs. Cudahy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Fenton, who planned to live in Lake Forest the year around when they bought a house there last year, have changed their minds and are back in their apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive for the winter.

Another young couple whose wedding anniversary is the 23d is Mr. and Mrs. Press Hodgkins. They will not be giving a party to celebrate it, their 8th, either, for they are in the east and will not return until Tuesday.

The Cudahys' dinner on Thanksgiving eve is only one of several that will be given before the ball. Mrs. Cudahy will have to leave her party before it breaks up if it is a very late one for she undoubtedly will want to be in the Red Lacker room of the Palmer house around eleven for she is to be in the receiving line that night. Usually the guests do not start arriving until about eleven-thirty, but the wives of the Benedicts try to be there by the time on the invitations, 11 o'clock.

Committee to Omit Floor Show This Year.

Malcolm Stevenson, chairman of the Bachelors and Benedicts, is vacationing in the east, but he will be back in time for the ball. His vacation will not be ended then, however, so soon after the party he will leave to spend the rest of his holiday in the west. During his absence Gardner Brown is looking after arrangements for the ball, which is to be a little different from those of the last several years for there will be no floor show, only an excellent orchestra, and peppy fill-in music for when the orchestra is resting.

Mr. Brown's sister and brother, Miss Ruth Brown and Keith Brown, are giving a small dinner before the ball in Gardner Brown's apartment in town. Another dinner in town for the younger set will be one at which Miss Nancy Poole and her cousin, Rosecrans Baldwin, will be hosts. One of the largest dinners will be given by the popular young bachelor, J. C. Hemphill, in the House on the Roof of the Hotel Sherman. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Simmons will give a dinner at the Blackstone hotel.

The junior George A. Pooles have reserved a room at the Racquet club for a dinner before the ball, and the Bruce Thornes also will entertain dinner guests that night. The 16 members of the committee giving the ball studied the list very carefully this year and dropped more than the usual number of "oldsters" so all of the 400 at the ball will be fairly young. Age is not the determining factor, either, for as every one knows, some forty year olds are younger than some twenty year olds.

Ryersons Plan Tea for Son and Bride.

Many of the young people who later will go to the ball will have tea Wednesday afternoon at the Joseph T. Ryersons' hospitable and charming Astor street house, for Mr. and Mrs. Ryerson are entertaining then for their son and his bride, the junior Joseph T. Ryersons.

The senior Ryersons are due in Chicago tomorrow from a brief stay in their Santa Barbara home. Young Mrs. Ryerson's mother, Mrs. John F. Ducey of Boston, who is visiting the young couple in their south side apartment, is returning to her home for Thanksgiving, so she will not be here for the tea.

Anne Macdonald to Bow Today.

Chicago social circles will greet another debutante after the symphony concert this afternoon, for Mrs. Robert Stuart and her daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. George Macdonald and Miss Anne Macdonald, will be at home at Mrs. Stuart's home, 4850 Woodlawn avenue, from 4 to 7 o'clock. This is the second granddaughter Mrs. Stuart has introduced to society, for Anne's sister, Mary, was presented at a similar tea two years ago. Miss Mary will be one of the assistants today, and so will Robert S. Macdonald's wife, the former Patsy Keith.

The debutante's aunt, Mrs. John Stuart, and her cousins, Mrs. George A. Poole Jr. and Mrs. Barrett Scudder, will assist, and so will the Misses Ellen Adair Orr, Betty Keith, Martha Borland, Mary Lou Laird, and Anne Rickcords.

Tonight Angus Macdonald will give a small theater party for his sister, who arrived at home yesterday morning from Toronto university. She will be at home until Sunday night, when she will have to return to her studies. She will spend part of the Christmas holidays visiting in Canada, where the Macdonalds lived until several years ago.

The Robert Macdonalds are giving a dinner party before the Princeton Triangle club show on Dec. 26 for their debutante sisters, Anne Macdonald and Betty Keith.

Mrs. Walter S. Brewster will be hostess for the Cliff Dwellers at their tea after the concert today. Assisting her at the tea tables will be her daughter, Mrs. Duncan Hodges, and Mrs. Shreve Badger, Mrs. Lewis Bernays, Mrs. Rudolph Ganz, Mrs. Clay Judson, and Mrs. John H. Winterbotham.

Round of Parties for Two Brides-to-Be.

Miss Barbara Fortune and Miss Betty Babson, who are to be brides before long, are spending the few days remaining before their weddings attending a round of parties. Miss Fortune, daughter of the John L. Fortunes, will be married on Thanksgiving day to French Strother Cary Jr., and Miss Babson and Theodore

Here's Tom Sawyer

Mark Twain's Tom Sawyer, beloved by every little boy and girl, will come to life tomorrow morning at the Harris theater when the Chicago Junior league presents "Tom Sawyer" with Mrs. Harry M. McLeod, pictured above, in the title rôle. The play will be given for four consecutive Saturday mornings at 10:30 o'clock.

Party Chairman

Miss Marie E. Jarecki is chairman of the annual luncheon and bridge to be given by the Chicago-St. Mary's club in the Gold Coast room of the Drake hotel at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Nov. 28. Proceeds will go to St. Mary's college, at Notre Dame, Ind.

Tonal Beauty Marks Playing by Mischakoff

Concert Master Is Soloist with Symphony.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

A fine performance of the Beethoven Violin Concerto, some rather doubtful Mozart playing, a fragrant old overture and a modern symphonic poem—these made up the sixth of the Chicago Symphony orchestra's Thursday programs, played last night in Orchestra hall. Frederick Stock conducted, with Mischa Mischakoff serving as violin soloist.

The latter usually serves as concertmaster, but at least once a season the city is given the opportunity to hear this really remarkable fiddler in a concerto or other solo work. He is remarkable first of all for his careful regard for tone quality. There is a smaller proportion of unbeautiful to beautiful noises in Mischakoff's work than in that of almost any violinist you can think of.

He is far beyond that school of thought which holds it a crime to exploit sensuous roundness and beauty of tone in the performance of anything written before 1830, and which insists instead on a Spartan grayness and a coldly intellectual regard for mere line. A survey designed to reveal the extent to which the older composers have been harmed by these grotesque beliefs is hereby suggested for somebody's master of music thesis next spring.

The Beethoven Concerto was alive and glowing under Mischakoff's hands. He has the proper regard for the dignity of the work and takes no particular liberties with its tempos, but he loves to lay the colors on with the lavish hand of a born showman.

The audience was delighted and applauded the cheerful looking young concertmaster mightily.

The doubtful Mozart playing came in the G Minor Symphony, parts of whose final movement sounded almost rough. However much one may rant against the idea that Mozart must always be airy and dainty, this particular work seems definitly unsuited to any suggestion of earthiness. The last movement may be a joyful dance, but it is certainly no dance of this three dimensioned world.

The themes of the work as a whole seemed to lack the delicate ecstasy of which the G Minor Symphony is probably the most perfect expression in all instrumental music. It is possible that innumerable playings have rendered the musicians less conscious of its spiritual content, more inclined to think of it as a pattern of notes and tempos chiefly?

It is necessary to confess, after all this, that their performance of the "Iphigenie en Aulide" Overture was impeccable, that its patrician beauty was effectively projected by means of the legitimate devices of fine musicianship. There was richness of tone, with just the smallest admixture of austerity; clean phrasing in keeping with the nobility of the themes.

The remaining program item was the Scriabin "Poème de l'Extase," certainly a virtuoso stunt for orchestra, but a little lame when it comes to melodic invention.

Mayfair Crashes Gate at Servants' Ball to Get Cheap Party

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 19.—English social circles are slipping and the rigid caste system of Victorian days is crumbling.

The proof is the complaint that Britons have forgotten how to keep their proper place—a complaint from servants who say that too many from social circles, wanting a cheap party, crashed the annual servants' ball Tuesday night, managed by Lady Ian Malcolm at a bargain price.

One person in five was said to have been from Mayfair's circles or else a stage star, and the servants fear the ball is losing its exclusiveness.

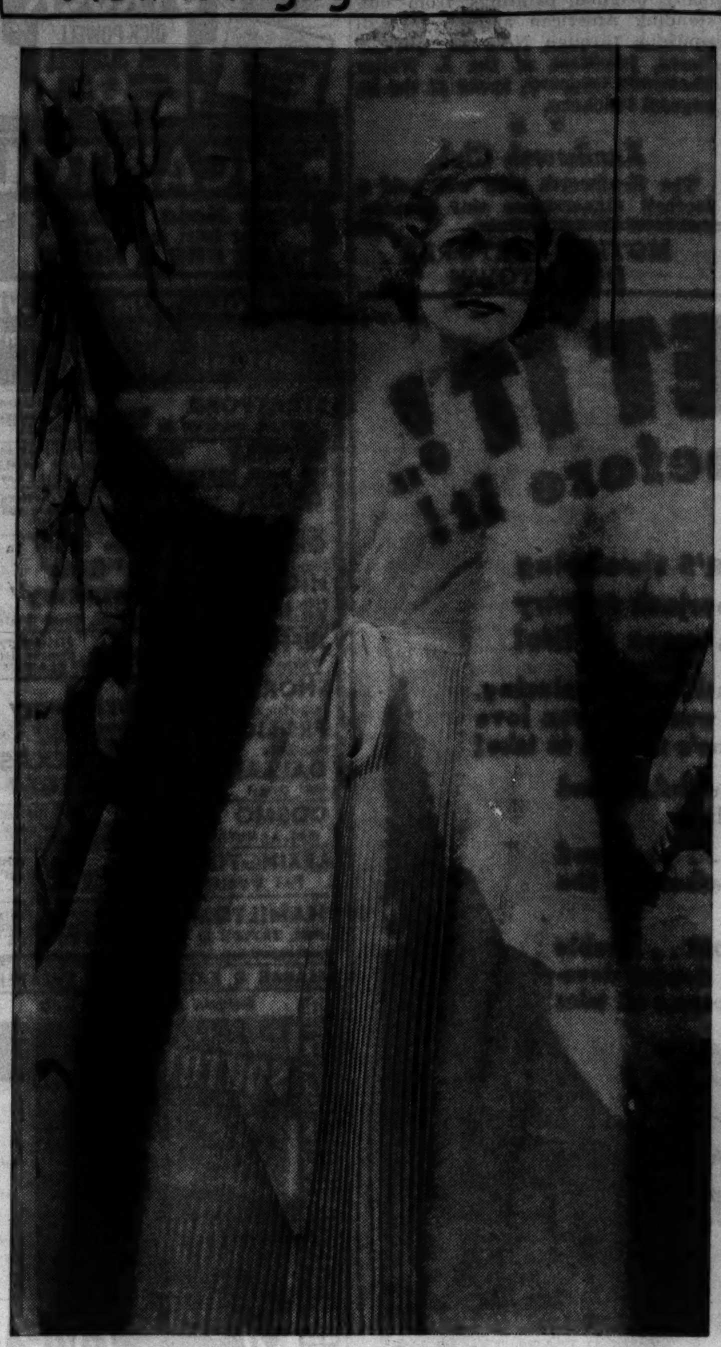
Barrymore and His Bride Move to Honeymoon Home

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 19.—(AP)—John Barrymore and his bride, the former Elaine Barrie, moved today into their brand new honeymoon cottage in Benedict canyon, a sylvan setting near a little stream and a colony of bullfrogs. The cottage, they said, suits them much better than the hotel in which they had been living.

New Negligee Ensemble



[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

From a Chicago shop. The newest negligee ensemble of the season. A long, loose coat fashioned of pastel blue marabou with large puffed sleeves has a lining of matching blue China silk. The marabou is in vertical formation and is therefore surprisingly slender for such feathery stuff. It is worn over a pastel blue chiffon nightgown made with a sunburst pleated skirt and a sash tie belt.

Flannel House Coats Styled on Swanky Lines

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Flannel house coats, the glorified versions of lounging apparel, come in subtle, subdued colors as well as vivid tones to cheer you on the coldest morning. Most of them are fashioned in the swanky lines of a fitted greatcoat, fitted from shoulder to hipline and flared in the double folded or wrapped skirt. All are made of soft flannel, smooth as velvet, and flannels that cling as well as any satin or velvet creation.

Sleeves are long and well cut. One model has four pockets, two on the hips, and two small ones on the large collar, the small ones being accommodations for cigarets. Covered buttons down the front, dozens of them, button at least ten out of every dozen new robes. Another style has dozens of assorted bright red frogs down the front. Sashes, except those in princess hues, are rather obsolete, being replaced by swanky wide belts and huge buckles.

Cadet blue is combined with raspberry in a stunning new color combination. Some of the best looking gray shades of the year appear in these coats. Gray still rates as high fashion, with the lovely gray tones just as romantic as they sound. The old trying tones of hard or blue gray are not visible, having yielded to soft French grays that are so flattering to all.

Rapsberry red and flame red are two good finds. Next come the blues, ranging from navy to powder, then whites and shell pinks. Wool cloth robes come in diagonals, in any color you might crave. One shop has some stunning draped wool jersey confections that are the last word in pastel loveliness, with the white affairs taking all the honors.

Fashion photograph . . . new negligee ensemble . . . the sunburst plaited chiffon nightgown is of blue, with a sash belt and a deep lace yoke. Over the nightgown the newest confection—a house coat of pale blue marabou fashioned with huge puffed sleeves and lined with soft blue China silk and long enough to reach the ankles. Both nightgown and coat are to be found in a Chicago collection.

Studios Have Record Fleet Making Films

Many 'Big Names' at Work on Sea Stories.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 19.—[Special.] Unworried by the shipping strike which has tied up all vessels of commerce in Pacific harbors, the movie fleet is taking to sea.

There never was a time when the big studios had so many companies on the briny at one time nor so much money and so many "big names" tied up in nautical ventures.

Paramount, with Gary Cooper and Henry Wilcoxon making "Souls at Sea," chartered a retired windjammer, the once famous Star of Finland, which had originally been built as sailing flagship for the ex-king of Hawaii. The studio chartered it from its present owners, Alaska Packers association, and sailed it down from the mud flats of San Francisco bay.

The 8,000 ton Star of Finland, originally a three masted steel square rigger, 225 feet long, with a 42 foot beam and 20 foot draw was turned into a three masted bark to resemble the sailing craft William Brown, whose sinking in mid-Atlantic in 1842 en route from Liverpool to Boston resulted in an unusual murder trial. That trial furnished the theme for the film.

With the officers dead and the William Brown foundering and barely enough life boat room for the women and children, four of the men aboard, one of whom was a passenger carrying master's papers, held a trial to judge which men on the ship had the right to live. Those chosen were allowed life boat space. The others drowned.

When the survivors landed a murder trial was held in Philadelphia, but the men who judged the life and death of their fellows on shipboard were finally acquitted.

It was from musty records of this trial in Philadelphia that Grover Jones, scenarist, and Director Henry Hathaway evolved the dramatic story which is being filmed in "Souls at Sea." Jones is helping direct and produce it. Paramount engaged the two masted trading schooner Lottie Carson as companion ship. Capt. Carl Guntert of Balboa, Cal., and a crew of ten sailing ship seamen man the Lottie Carson which has been refitted with square sails as a full rigged ship.

Capt. Adolph Schultz and a crew of 30 deep water seamen who know how to handle canvas man the Star of Finland.

The studio spent $12,000 to trim the decks, rails, sides and deckhouse of the steel three master to make the steel windjammer look like a wooden bark. It will cost another $3,000 to dismantle the extra woodwork and return the ship to its owners as an unadorned steel windjammer after the picture has been shot.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has the salty sea story, "Captains Courageous," in the making. This studio bought the 105 foot two masted schooner Oretha F. Spinney and it sailed here from Gloucester, Mass., through the Panama canal last year. Spencer Tracy, Harry Carey, Lionel Barrymore, Freddie Bartholomew, and Mickey Rooney are in this story of Grand Banks fishermen. The name of the Spinney has been changed to the We're Here for the picture and Olaf Olsson of the Spinney's original Atlantic coast crew has been instructing Tracy and his colleagues how to read a compass, set a course, chop bait, bait a trawl, launch a dory, furl sail, and heave the lead. Olsson got a lot of fun out of it. Tracey got only blisters.

Metro studio, like Paramount, had to procure an additional vessel for use as a companion ship partly to appear in the picture and partly to convey camera and technical men and supplies. The second ship of the Metro fleet is John Barrymore's former racing yacht, Mariner, aboard which John once shipped as a member of his own crew when the Mariner set a racing record of 11 days 23 hours from San Pedro to Honolulu. The Mariner, under Capt. Arthur Kollberg, carries a crew of fourteen. The larger Spinney, under Capt. J. M. Hersey, carries a crew of 27.

Two other sailing ships appear in current films. One is the former Nanook used in the Peter Freuchen-W. S. Van Dyke picture, "Eskimo," and which recently reappeared in films as H. M. S. Pandora with Capt. Bligh aboard in "Mutiny on the Bounty."

Nanook, an old whaler, became a replica of a British frigate for a scene in "Maid of Salem." The scene showed the Boston docks in 1692 with Fred MacMurray, Hallowell Hobbes, and Farrell MacDonald fighting against British sailors who were shanghaiing a colonist.

Maid of Orleans, 150 foot two-masted schooner from Vancouver, has been bought by Trem Carr, independent producer, and is to be sailed here for use in a feature titled "Adventure's End" starring John Wayne. This picture will be shot near Esenada, Mexico.

"Souls at Sea" and "Captains Courageous" are being shot in Catalina channel and down the Mexican west coast.

"Coast Patrol," a story of modern United States coast guardsmen, co-features Preston Foster, a very good sailor and owner of his own yacht, and Victor MacLaglen, who gets seasick. This film is being shot near San Pedro and Newport Beach harbors, much to McLaglen's relief.

The last of the movie "navy" to heave anchor for the autumn ocean maneuvers will be Director Tay Garnett's boat for "The Last Slaver" for Twentieth Century-Fox.

The picture was delayed a bit while Garnett, who recently made a trip around the world aboard his own yacht, shopped for a windjammer that would do for a "blackbirder" vessel. Garnett had intended to stay in England and direct films, but the offer from Twentieth Century was so profitable and persuasive that he rejoined the Hollywood film colony over whose deep sea film spectacles he had ruled for many years.

The movie studios are enabled to go on with their nautical ventures in spite of the strike because the sailing vessels do not engage in commerce.

Incident—
Introduction—
Hollywood—
Sport Sandwich.

A SURPRISING little incident happened recently in a Chicago business office. When her employer told his secretary he did not wish to see the man whose card she had brought in, she explained to the visitor the employer was out. The visitor asked if he might have his card back, and when she went to her employer's office to get it she found he had torn it up. Returning, she explained that she had accidentally torn the card.

"That calling card cost me 5 cents," said the waiting gentleman indignantly.

The secretary went back to her employer, who gave her 10 cents to give the man for his card. He accepted it, and in return handed her two more of his cards.

"They cost me 5 cents apiece or three for ten," he explained gravely as he turned to leave.

WITH the approach of Thanksgiving and the recurrent popularity of turkey we remind holiday speechmakers of the toastmaster who got up to introduce an after dinner speaker, a noted professor.

"Gentlemen," he said, "you have just been giving your attention to a turkey stuffed with sage, and now will you please give your attention to a sage stuffed with turkey."

A NEW tale that illustrates how they do things in Hollywood was told by Colleen Moore the other day. Miss Moore recently decided to rent her Hollywood home, as she has been traveling with her doll house, now being shown in Chicago, for fifteen months, and intends to show it in metropolitan centers throughout the country for the next three years. Louis B. Mayer, film executive, heard one morning her place was for rent, had rented it by noon, and by 1 o'clock had a dozen house boys moving in his furniture and his gardeners at work on the grounds. These men worked all afternoon and all night, the gardeners working with flashlights. At 8 the following morning Mr. Mayer walked in, had his breakfast, and took over the establishment.

WHEN Jean Delacour, the Frenchman famous for raising rare birds, was in Chicago recently, he expressed a desire to eat the popular American sandwiches sold at roadside stands.

"Now what is it you call this?" he inquired, biting into a hamburger sandwich. "A sporting sandwich?"

He explained that he thought they were called sporting sandwiches because they were eaten at sports events.

Boys, If You Love a Girl, Tell Her So!

Otherwise She Will Not State Own Feelings.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I am in love with a girl," Pete writes, "and she never has turned down a date I've asked for yet. She tells me, when I ask her if she likes me, that I seem like a friend to her. What does a fellow do to get a girl to say that she means more than that?"

He probably treats her like a sweetheart, Pete. Doesn't ask the girl if she likes him. He asks if she loves him. The girl is no mind reader and she might like a number of men but until one of them began persuading her that she's the diamond in the rainbow, the pearl of his dreams, the sapphire in his eyes, or some other such idiotic [but sound] love logic, it might never occur to her what she was doing to he man's emotions. You must let he girl in on the secret, wholeheartedly. No just hinting or conniving o get the truth out by asking for t.

Not all women have the accredited sight, foresight, hindsight with hich poetic license has so bountifully endowed them. Some of them ave to be told in good plain language that life without them would be heese without the apple pie.

Then, too, some of the girls are bit leery of men who keep their ecret huggd closely to their breasts. They don't want to expose their and without the accepted idea of a ampaign for winning the girl's hand. robably you never thought, Pete, bout flowers being a bright little nessenger of love. Even in a hard-boiled today they're still used to arry messages for the tongue-tied and others, too. Indeed, we're told that the flower language is being evived, at men's request, the better o let the lady know how the heart pining.

Perhaps you never thought that e girl might have a sweet tooth d the kind of figure that survives andy consumption without strain. Anyway, get away from the casual iendship by letting the girl know eyond the shadow of a doubt how he stands with you. You'll get an answer, one way or the other.

Marriage of Goodrich to Mrs. Beatrice Pruyn Is Revealed

New York, Nov. 19.—[Special.]—The marriage of David M. Goodrich, chairman of the board of the B. F. Goodrich company, and his former sister-in-law, Mrs. Beatrice Morgan Pruyn, was announced formally at Mount Kisco today.

The Rev. George M. Duff, pastor of the Riverdale Presbyterian church, officiated. Only members of the immediate families attended.

Mrs. Goodrich was divorced this fall from Frederick Pruyn of New York, to whom she had been married for twenty-nine years.

Mr. Goodrich was divorced from Mrs. Ruth Pruyn Goodrich, a sister of Mr. Pruyn, in Reno, Nev., on Nov. 9, after having been married thirty-three years.

Dinner Parties Will Precede Bachelor Ball

William B. Cudahys to Be Among Hosts.

Tieken will be married on Dec. 3 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Babson.

Miss Virginia Preston is giving a dinner at the Congress hotel tonight for both of the brides-to-be, and tomorrow night Miss Mary Harrington will give a dinner at the Blackstone hotel. Miss Harrington, Miss Babson, and Miss Fortune were introduced to society at a ball during the Christmas holidays two years ago.

Tomorrow afternoon Mrs. Ralph Chatillon will give a cocktail party and liquor shower for Miss Babson and Mr. Tieken, and on Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tieken will given a cocktail party and buffet supper for their brother and his fiancée. The party will be a housewarming for the hosts who live in Libertyville.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Nolan will entertain at cocktails next Tuesday preceding a dinner that the junior William Lawlors, John L. Fortune Jr., and Peter Fortune will give for their sister and Mr. Cary at the Palmer house. Mrs. Francis R. Stanton will give a tea and kitchen shower for Miss Fortune next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton will give a cocktail party for Miss Babson on the day after Thanksgiving, and the next night Miss Frances Jeffery will give a dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Willett N. Gorham will give a breakfast party Sunday the 29th for Miss Babson and Mr. Tieken. That afternoon Mrs. Edward M. Love will entertain at cocktails in Riverside to be followed by a supper party at which Mrs. Thomas Merritt will be hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Babson will give the bridal dinner at home. They also will give a reception at the Casino at 5 o'clock following the home ceremony.

Miss Barbara Eldridge Has Guests from Cleveland.

Miss Peggy Eaton and Miss Anne Halle of Cleveland, who were abroad with Miss Barbara Eldridge last winter, are visiting her this week. They were among the guests last evening at a dinner-dance Edward S. French, Miss Eaton's half brother, and Mrs. French gave at the restaurant at 180 East Delaware place for 72 of their friends.

Tomorrow evening Miss Eldridge is entertaining at dinner for them and is taking them afterward to the polo game sponsored by the Frontier Nursing service at the 124th Field Artillery armory.

McNally Wedding in New York Today.

Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Simeon B. Chapin Jr., Harry Clow, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Teegen will be among the guests at the wedding of Andrew McNally III. and Miss Margaret Clark-MacMillin today in New York. The wedding will be a small one at 4 o'clock at the Ritz, with a large reception following.

Andrew McNally will be his son's best man, and the eleven ushers include four Chicagoans, the bridegroom's brothers, Ward, a student at Yale, and Frederick G. McNally, a student at Hamilton college; Royal C. Vilas Jr. and John M. Trainer Jr.

Miss Eleanor McNally, the bridegroom's sister; Miss Helen E. Shumway of Greenwich, Conn., and Miss Peggy Sykes of New York will be bridesmaids. After their wedding trip Mr. McNally and his bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Marion H. MacMillin of Greenwich, will make their home in New York. The senior Mr. and Mrs. McNally will return from the east the end of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin C. Allen are expected at home today from New York, where Mrs. Allen arrived Wednesday on the Queen Mary after a visit of several months in England with her daughters, Mrs. Hugh M. Groves and Mrs. Oliver C. Bryson. Mr. Allen went east to meet her.

Student of League to Open Lecture Series.

The trustees of the Library of International Relations have invitations out for the first of a series of talks on international affairs at the library rooms in the John Crerar library next Tuesday evening at 8:15 o'clock.

Prof. H. Noel Fieldhouse, head of the department of history of the University of Manitoba, will talk on "The Future of the League—a British Viewpoint." Prof. Fieldhouse, a member of the Royal Institute of International Affairs, participated in the series of round table discussions on "the future of the league" held under the auspices of the Royal institute last summer at Chatham house in London.

Victor Elting is president of the library, of which Miss Eloise ReQua is director. Trustees include Mrs. William B. Hale, who is vice president; Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, Mrs. Edward W. Everett, Henry Field, Mrs. William G. Hibbard, Mrs. Frank P. Hixon, Morton D. Hull, Mrs. William M. McGovern, Bernadotte Schmitt, George Voevodsky, Mrs. John Paul Welling, and Quincy Wright.

The Chicago Council on Foreign Relations announces a luncheon address by Emil Ludwig, German biographer, who will talk on "Living Makers of History" at 12:30 o'clock next Wednesday in the ballroom of the Palmer house.

The Alliance Française is giving a luncheon in the English room of the Blackstone hotel Saturday, Nov. 28, at 1:15 o'clock for Bernard Fay, historian and professor of the College of France.

Alumnæ of the Loring school will gather this afternoon to commemorate the 60th anniversary of its founding. Mrs. Donald McGibney, Miss Anita Blair, Mrs. Warren Everett, and Mrs. Goodspeed will discuss informally their girlhood reminiscences of the school, and tea will be served. Mrs. William F. Petersen, Mrs. Arthur Hewitt, and Mrs. John Grant McDonald are officers of the alumnæ association.

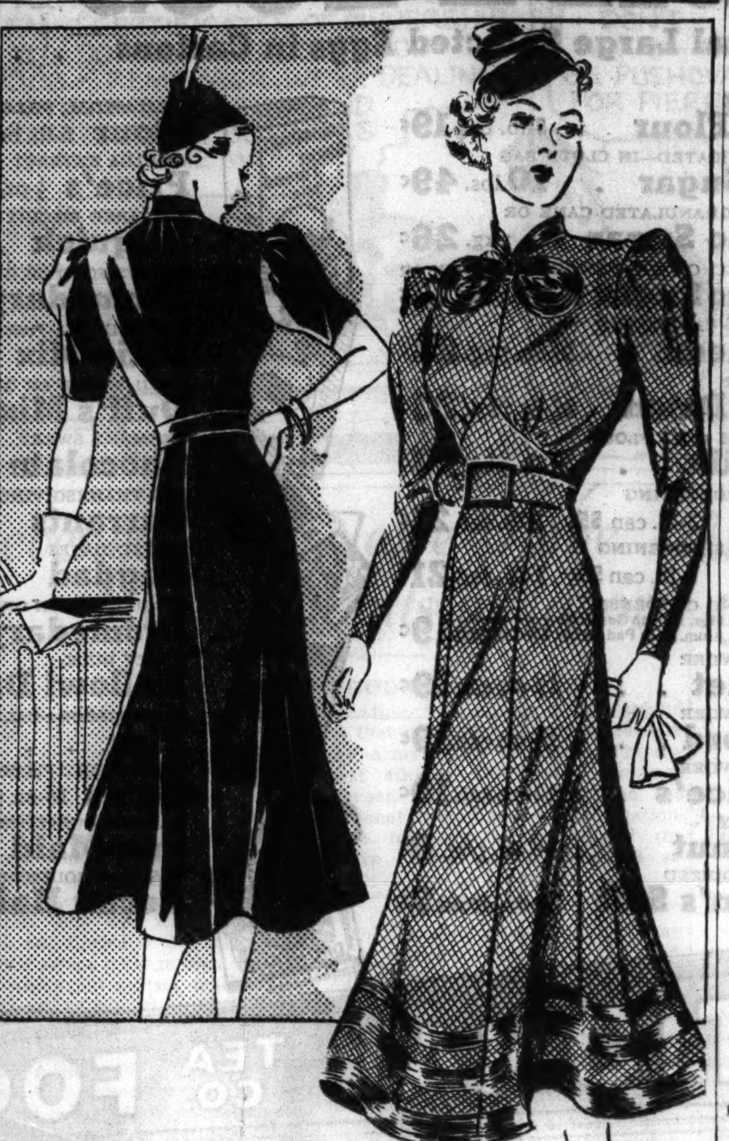
Cire Braid and Swing Lines



WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Cire braid holds the limelight in many of the fashionable frocks this season. A close runner-up in current favor is the swing skirt. This attractive dress has a lion's share of both styles. The braid trims the neckline in a distinctive manner, forming a clever standup collar and a prim, though large, double bow. The cire also does triple duty at the hemline, lending its lustrous beauty to a skirt which is generously full. The shoulders of this dressy frock are high, wide, and handsome, while the lower part of the sleeves is straight and fitted. The bodice avoids the monotony of straight lines by being divided by three seams which form a triangular piece at the waistline.

The original made from this pattern is created in black satin-back crêpe with a subdued check in its weave. The braid, of course, is black. Any fabric which you might select would be pretty for this frock, as long as the color is solid.

Style No. 3202 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 4⅜ yards of 39 inch material.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

What with all these man-on-the-run, man-in-the-barber-chair, and even man-in-for-99-years microphonings it's a wonder more profanity doesn't get out on the airways. There have been a few lapses lately and it has been NBC's misfortune to have them on its networks. On the new Ed Wynn show Saturday a voice apparently not intended for the mike observed, as Wynn strayed from his script for an impromptu gag, "All right, the hell with you then."

Then on Tuesday night Leo Reisman's singers slipped in a couple of "helluvas" instead of the approved "heckava."

So Maj. Lohr laid down this law [r]: Follow your script and swear no more!

◆

Radio is such fun! Other day Tom, Dick, and Harry burlesqued Bob Elson's State street interview program by putting on a "Man in the Alley" broadcast. Elson promptly retaliated by interviewing a stooge who was presented as the Tom, Dick, and Harry manager.

"Do you pay those boys much money?" Elson inquired.

"I toss them a herring now and then," replied the "manager," who turned out to be Gus Van. Elson had snared him on his way to a theater where he was appearing with the Weener radio minstrel troupe.

But then it's all done in the public "interest, convenience, and necessity!"

◆

Alec Templeton, blind British pianist and impressionist, will make a guest appearance on Richard Himber's program Monday, Nov. 30. He will play in Chicago studios. . . . Pat O'Malley, another former Jack Hylton associate, will do a guest turn on W-G-N's Mardi Gras of Melody on Wednesday, Dec. 2. . . . Xavier Cugat's orchestra is to have a busy week, beginning today, playing at the Chicago theater as well as at the Stevens hotel and doing their regular radio broadcast. Cugat will leave the hotel spot in favor of Frankie Masters next Friday. Cugat expects to play at Grosvenor house in London during the pre-coronation festivities. Sophie Tucker is there now and Jackie Heller will depart for an engagement there after appearing on Ben Bernie's program next Tuesday.

◆

Raymond Johnson of "Lights Out" and "A Tale of Today" at NBC is directing "The Liar," to be presented under auspices of the Italy-American society at the Drake hotel on Dec. 3. . . . Durelle Alexander, Paul Whiteman's baby star, is the leader of a new all-girl orchestra. . . . When Helen Hayes sang on her "Bambi" dramatic broadcast the other evening many a listener was surprised. Nevertheless she made her Broadway debut singing in a Victor Herbert operetta as a child and on that occasion Herbert himself led the

MAROONS WHIP HAWKS, 4-0, FOR 1ST VICTORY

RALLIES AFTER BEING FIVE DOWN TO W. GOGGIN

Wood Beats Cooper, 2 and 1.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Folks from the Ozark country aren't much for talking. They cotton more to doing, and Horton Smith, one of their smartest sons, did a right pert job today as he led seven other golfers into the quarter-finals of the National Professional Golfers association's tourney at the Pinehurst Country club's No. 2 course.

Horton, who first whisked across golf's money trails seven years ago as the Joplin, Mo., ghost, was his old astral self today as he defeated round faced Willie Goggin of San Bruno, Cal., 2 and 1, in one of sixteen 36 hole third round matches.

Horton Bears Down.

Smith, now representing the Oak Park Country club, and the last survivor of the Chicago district delegation in the tourney after Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., eliminated Harry Cooper, 2 and 1, found Goggin more than annoying. The coast star, who was runner-up in the 1933 P. G. A. meet, was a positive pest. He fired a blistering 33, three under par, at Smith to be five up at the intermission. Smith was still that much in arrears through the 22d.

The tall Missourian then began to do a job of doing. He sliced into Goggin's lead until he was only two behind at the 27th. He squared the match at the 31st, won the 32d with a par, and climaxed one of the most remarkable comebacks in P. G. A. history by holing a 40 foot chip shot from off the fringe at the 33d green. His halves in par on the next two holes were routine.

Meets Shute Today.

Tomorrow Smith meets Denny Shute of West Newton, Mass., one of the scoring lights of the tourney. Shute, 1933 British Open champion and runner-up in the 1931 P. G. A., was carried to the 35th green by Billy Burke of Cleveland, former national open champion, before a dead stymie shut out Burke.

In the first of tomorrow's quarter-final battles Harold [Jug] McSpaden of Winchester, Mass., will meet Jimmy Thomson of Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa., the game's longest hitter.

McSpaden today turned back the challenge of Leo Walper of Bethseda, Md., the one unknown to survive the first two rounds. McSpaden yesterday conquered the defending champion, Johnny Revolta of Chicago, 4 and 3. Thomson put out one of the tournament favorites, Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., who had been three under fours for nine competitive rounds at Pinehurst. Thomson's long drives and improved short game were too much for Picard by a score of 4 and 2.

Wood Plays Manero.

Wood's opponent tomorrow will be Tony Manero of Greensboro, N. C., 1936 national open winner, who defeated Bobby Cruickshank of Richmond, Va., 4 and 3, today. The other opponents of the day will be Wild Bill Mehlhorn of Louisville, Ky., making his best P. G. A. showing in eleven years, and Jimmy Hines of Garden City, N. Y., one of last winter's money winning stars Mehlhorn today disposed of Ed Dudley of Philadelphia, 6 and 4, the largest margin of the day, while Hines was up throughout his match with Victor Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., finally winning, 4 and 3.

Smith could not get going on the morning nine, taking five straight fives, but Goggin had his troubles in woods and traps and they came to the tenth tee all square. Smith was trapped at the 11th, and then Goggin knocked down three birdies from the 13th through the 16th, finally finishing with a 33, three under par.

Smith Gets Hot.

Smith's thrilling comeback did not begin until the fifth hole, where he holed out a five foot putt for a birdie four to bring himself only four down. He laid Goggin a dead stymie at the sixth and Willie aided the Smith cause by opping his second shot to the 8th. Smith holed a neat 15 footer for a half at the 12th, and then won the three holes that gave him the match. He smacked a beautiful iron to within eight inches of the 13th flag, won the 14th with a par when Goggin was short, and then climaxed the day by dropping a 40 foot chip shot at the 15th for a deuce. They halved the last two in par. Cards:

Revenge? No! Notre Dame Merely Wants a Victory

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 19.—Revenge is not the word. It might have been ten years ago; yes, even five years ago.

Otherwise, one would write that Notre Dame's football eleven, victor in major contests against Ohio State and Army, was eagerly awaiting arrival of Northwestern's Wildcats, undisputed Big Ten champions, unbeaten and untied so far this season, to inflict sweet revenge upon the only team which put a black mark on the 1935 record of the Irish.

Do not infer there will be any less thrilling contest in a series long noted for its thrills, any less rugged offense and defense, any less keen desire to win before an anticipated crowd of 56,000 here Saturday afternoon.

Desire to Increase Prestige.

But it is not revenge in its sinister meaning that will actuate these pupils of Coach Elmer Layden. These fighting Irish [and other nationalities] will be motivated more by a primary desire to increase their own prestige by downing the Big Ten champions than by primary desire to humiliate a now respected rival on its way, perhaps, to establish a record as Northwestern's first unbeaten, untied eleven of football history.

Perhaps this writer, naturally inclined to constructive rather than destructive views of sports, is overzealous in taking revenge from the Northwestern-Notre Dame lexicon. Yet this differentiation in purpose between now and a decade ago appears to us, at least, as the brightest development of the series.

Northwestern now is the leading midwestern team on Notre Dame's schedule. This rivalry is only second to that of Army in the east because the Army series, inaugurated in the first athletic directorship of Jesse Harper, placed Notre Dame on the national football map, brought nationwide followers which induced the Notre Dame-Southern California series.

Everything Serene Now.

The present serenity in Wildcat-Irish relations, except on the gridiron, succeeds truculency, both on and off the gridiron. In fact, it was doubtful at one time whether, if there was a suspension for two seasons, the series would not perish. It was hard fought and keenly contested, as now, when it was revived in 1924. But the aftermath seldom was pleasant.

Private charges of dirty playing, public statements thinly veiled hinted intentional roughness and several called penalties, one for slugging, all indicated feeling between combatants.

Part of this early feeling may have been engendered by the report that Notre Dame once made overtures for membership in the Big Ten, with overtures rejected on the real or professed plea that the conference already was too large. Rumors, no doubt unfounded, also stirred conference foes. So it was Notre Dame against the conference when it played Northwestern. Now the Irish have all the conference games their schedule warants.

Irish String Halted.

Notre Dame kept on beating Northwestern through the years, often with teams which in advance looked no better than even chances and sometimes slightly underdog, until last

BADGER FANS CLING TO HOPE IT'S THEIR TURN

They've Waited 4 Years to Beat Gophers.

BY FRENCH LANE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 19.—Full of madcap mischief and carrying a small bag of hope that miracles do happen now and then, even in Wisconsin, the advance guard of 36,000 rooters coming for the annual Wisconsin-Minnesota football struggle on Saturday afternoon arrived here tonight.

And should the often pushed around Badgers climb to new heights to slap the Golden Gophers from Minnesota flat, every one is fearful that the celebration which will follow will make the burning of Rome appear like the mere twinkling of a firefly.

Ready to Blow Off Steam.

For four long years these Wisconsin rooters have waited in vain for a team of Badgers to come along and slice the Gophers into ribbons. If they don't do it against seemingly impossible odds on Saturday that means another year or perhaps another half dozen years of waiting.

These Wisconsin rooters can store up just so much silent enthusiasm. They are at capacity in enthusiasm right now. Steam must blow off soon. Everything will be all right if the Badgers can knock the nation's football dopesters jittery with an unexpected victory over the Gophers come Saturday afternoon.

They are not betting this will happen. They're simply praying and wishing. This morning all sorts of Minnesota money was offered that the Gophers would win by 24 points. In midafternoon the Gopher backers were willing to spot the Badgers 28 points. Tonight they had hoisted the score to 32 points.

Want Their Shirts Back.

There's a motive in the Gopher betting madness. Last week these same Gopher rooters believed they were betting on a sure thing when they wagered their money that the Gophers would beat University of Texas by 39 points. If you'll recall it was 47 to 19—you will readily understand that the Gopher backers lost not only their shirts but their pants as well.

They evidently expect the Wisconsin rooters to replace those Gopher shirts and pants which Jack Chevigny's Texas boys carried back with them to the Lone Star state.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon Harry Stuhldreher, the new Wisconsin coach, patted his Badgers one after another on the back and told them the practice grind for the year was over. Stuhldreher seemed to be pleased with the work the lads have done for him this year even though they have won only two games during the season and have been beaten by every Big Ten rival they have encountered.

Badgers Not Downcast.

Neither were the Badger players downcast. They displayed a spirit that was so remarkable one Badger follower was forced to remark, "such magnificent spirit after a mediocre season when they are face to face with one of the strongest teams in the country should be rewarded."

Yet, he doesn't think it will be rewarded on the football field on Saturday afternoon. Neither do any of the other students of football in this region except Coach Stuhldreher and his players.

The coach says the Badgers might win if all the breaks go in their favor and he further says he hasn't met up with that fellow "breaks" for so long he actually doesn't remember what he looks like. The Badger players all think they are going to whip the Gophers.

Picks Probable Lineup.

The Wisconsin coach made it fairly certain that the Badger starting lineup against Minnesota will include Leonard Lovshin and Vernon Peak at ends, Capt. Golemgeske and Paul Jensen at tackles, Walter Cole and George Lanphear at guards, Joe

MAROONS SEEK 'CHAMPIONSHIP' OF 2D DIVISION

Intent on capturing the "championship" of the Big Ten's second division, Chicago's Maroons yesterday paced through their last heavy practice of the season in preparation for the invasion of Stagg field by the Illini tomorrow. The game will be the forty-first in the Illinois-Chicago series with honors about even.

Tomorrow's winner at the Midway will finish in sixth place in the conference. On the basis of comparative scores against Ohio State in the last two weeks, Illinois should be the winner, but Coach Francis Schmidt of the Buckeyes is reported to have predicted a Maroon victory.

Maroon players wound up their three day siege of defensive maneuvers yesterday and switched to the business of polishing their own plays. Coach Shaughnessy used all of his available backs in a dummy scrimmage on attack, but spent most of his efforts on the quartet that started against Indiana last week: Morton Goodstein, Sollie Sherman, Omar Fareed, and Warren Skoning.

Midway undergraduates, despite what Michigan players have said about the ineffectiveness of such shenanigans, completed preparations yesterday for a demonstration. The buildup for the game and for homecoming is to be complete with beauty queen, snake dance, and bonfire.

ILLINI MAY START COLE.

Cole played the entire game against Ohio State last year. Cy Mazieka, sophomore from Calumet High school, Chicago, is another possibility for the left half back position and is certain to see action.

Illinois was to take a final practice in the stadium, last of the season, before leaving for Chicago tomorrow morning. The squad which will make the trip included the following:

ENDS—Bell, Castelo, Reeves, Johnson, Nelson, and Cantwell.
TACKLES—Dykstra, Berner, Gloseckl, Morris, Lasater, and McDonald.
GUARDS—Knox, Kuhn, Heaphy, Fay, Porter, and Surdyk.
CENTERS—Sayre, Polaski, and Hutson.
QUARTER BACKS—Bishop, Charle, Strong, and Wardley.
HALF BACKS—Henry, Cole, Mazeika, Stasica, Grieve, Spurgeon, Wehrli, and Burris.
FULL BACKS—Wilson, Zimmerman, and Pozzoli.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Columbus, O., Nov. 19.—For some reason which Columbus fans can't understand, while Ohio State is preparing for its annual battle with Michigan Saturday which is expected to give the Buckeyes a share of second place in the western conference, outlander critics have questioned retention of the Ohio State coach, Francis Schmidt.

To these self-appointed censors and in particular to those Detroit detractors who are fanning the old flame of Ohio State-Michigan rivalry with barbed phrases, Ohio State, through the medium of its own commentators, returns this answer: Ohio State is eminently satisfied with Francis Schmidt and his men and Ohio State hopes that the Buckeyes will show no mercy to the Wolverines.

Fans Refute Charge.

Coach Schmidt's sobriquet, "Close the Gates of Mercy," is the reportorial barb that rankles. It is rivaled by the allegedly spurious charge that unless an Ohio State coach wins all eight games he is treading on the brink of dismissal.

Buckeye fans refute both. Persistent agitation, it is pointed out, led to discharge of Schmidt's predecessor, Sam Willaman, at the conclusion of the 1933 campaign in which Ohio State lost only one contest, not because the Buckeyes were defeated by Michigan, but because it was decided a more positive personality was needed to direct the football teams.

Coach Schmidt today said he had "been approached by an alumnus of the University of Texas at Austin," who asked his reaction toward a possible offer to become football coach of the Longhorns next fall. The approach was by letter. Schmidt said that he did not give the Texas alumnus much encouragement, stating that he was "well satisfied at Ohio." Schmidt's three year "gentleman's agreement" contract with Ohio ends this season.

Not since 1916 has Ohio State had an undefeated, untied gridiron record. And that is the only unblemished achievement in Buckeye history. Success is not imperative, the fans say, and they assert that this evidence contravenes this charge.

Catch Line Grows.

Columbus essayists also assert that the evidence Schmidt and the Buckeyes have mercilessly declined to pull their punches is equally misleading. When Ohio State overwhelmed Western Reserve, 76 to 0, in Schmidt's first year; walloped Drake, 85 to 7, last fall, and opened the current campaign with a 60 to 0 score against New York university, the catch line "Close the Gates of Mercy" was born and grew by reiteration.

That these scores were intended is contradicted by the fact that every player on the Ohio State squad participated in the game with New York university. That the talent on the squad is exceptional is also evidenced by the fact that forty-four men played against Indiana [defeated 7 to 0] and thirty-six participated in the Pittsburgh battle when the Buckeyes lost, 6 to 0.

55,000 Fans Expected.

Fifty-five thousand are expected to attend the season's final game, which will be marked by homecoming festivities and the traditional flaming pyre at tomorrow's pep session.

Pete Gales, senior varsity tackle, is the only member on the hospital list who definitly will not play Saturday. Sophomore Alex Schoenbaum of Cleveland will continue to start in his position.

By no deduction can Michigan be named Saturday's victor. However, a conquest over the once proud rulers of the west still is coin at the Buckeye bank. Should the Buckeyes fail to win, and there's always this possibility, the complacent attitude of Columbus fans would dissolve, no doubt in an eruption of vociferous criticism. Coach Schmidt might be asked to pack his luggage.

MICHIGAN NAMES SQUAD

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Coach Harry G. Kipke today named a squad of 36 players for the trip to Columbus where Michigan on Saturday renews its Big Ten rivalry with Ohio State. It was the largest squad named for a road trip this season.

The Wolverines went through a light workout, trying out new plays, before they entrained for Springfield, O., where they will remain until the day of the game.

Five of the group are seniors and three of these are certain to start against the Buckeyes. Cedric Sweet of Fremont, Mich., 200 pound full back; Capt. Matt Patanelli of Elkhart, Ind., who is playing his third year at left end, and Jesse Garber of Brookline, Mass., a guard, will start.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Montreal Maroons hadn't won a hocky game all this fall. Neither had the Blackhawks. They met at Chicago Stadium last night before a crowd of 9,000. The Maroons gave the Hawks a fine 4 to 0 tanning. The Hawks have no idea what team they're going to lick, when and if. The Maroons went away very happy, but not surprised.

The Maroons had two victory spasms, scoring a pair of goals in a span of 50 seconds midway in the first period and another pair in a span of 45 seconds, two-thirds of the way through the final period.

Gus Marker, Herb Cain and Bob Gracie grabbed all of the goal and assist points after Earl Robinson, assisted by Lionel Conacher, had rung up the first and victory tabulation in 9:25 of the first period. Marker, assisted by Cain and Gracie, scored the second goal; Cain, assisted by Marker and Gracie, scored the third goal, and Gracie put over a solo in 16:20 of the final period.

Police Come in Body.

The Hawks played an aggressive game and opened up a sparkling passing attack. Many of the passes went to the Maroons, however, a matter which seemed to upset the Chicagoans' carefully planned slyness, as you can well imagine.

A truce has been effected between the Stadium and the Chicago police department. But the restored detail had no riots to quell. They could have done some good if they had pinched Marker, Gracie and Cain as they came into the building, but even so the Hawks would have lost on that goal of Robinson's.

Things went along quite placidly until the first half of the opening period was almost over. No penalties had been assessed and the Hawks were working patiently on some tricky passes that had been thought up since they last played.

Maroons Go to Work.

Then Harold Jackson, rookie Hawk defense man, who was making his Chicago debut, got bounced off the ice for holding. Immediately the Maroons moved five performers forward. There was a face off near the Hawks' left boards in the Chicago defense zone. The puck scooted obliquely across the rink to Conacher, who nudged it to a point about eight feet in front of the Hawk cage. Robinson, quicker than anything, swept in, picked up the still rubber, and whanged it home. Conacher was credited with an assist.

It took the Maroons less than a minute to increase their lead. Cain took the puck into the Chicago defense zone and took a shot for himself. Karakas made the stop, but Cain, Marker, and Gracie followed up and after skirmishing briefly off Karakas' boots, Marker tallied. Cain and Gracie each got assist points.

Maroons Increase Lead.

There was plenty hard playing by each side in the second period. But every effort was stopped short of the cages.

The Hawks had several swell openings, when Ward and Blinco both were off the ice, while the Hawks maintained a full force.

Trottier had 1 minute and 25 seconds of his penalty to serve as the third period started. Again, however, the Hawks were unable to take advantage of their numerical strength. For the first ten minutes of the third period the Hawks were unable to penetrate the Maroon defense and seldom got play within the Montreal blue line.

On the other hand, the Maroons were playing cautiously and made few dashes into Hawk territory. The Hawks had four forwards on the rink and were playing five men down the ice in a power house attack when the Maroons caught them all out of the defense zone and scored their third goal in 15:35, Cain getting the marker and Marker and Gracie getting assists. Less than a minute later Gracie again caught the Hawks off guard and scored unassisted in 16:20.

MARSHALL AND ALI BABA CLASH ON MAT TONIGHT

Bout Given Title Approval by Commission.

Tonight's Card

Lee Wyckoff vs. George Mansor, one fall or 30 minutes.
Walter Roxy vs. Rudy Kay, one fall or 30 minutes.
Nanjo Singh vs. Red Vagnonne, one fall, or 30 minutes.

A new troupe of wrestlers, so-called members of the junior circuit, will make its debut at Chicago Stadium tonight.

Everett Marshall, recognized as heavyweight champion in some states, and Ali Baba, who heads the outfit, will meet in the scheduled 90 minute bout which has been given title status by the Illinois athletic commission.

To insure against the match ending in a draw Chairman Joe Triner of the commission will appoint three mat referees, two of whom will serve as judges, to vote on the winner in case neither scores a fall within the specified time.

The survivor then must defend the crown against Jim McMillen, representative of the opposite faction, known as the senior circuit, within 60 days.

First Mat Card in Months.

This is the first mat presentation at the west side building since Feb. 12 when Danno O'Mahoney defeated the late Jim Browning. Fred Kohler, who is making his debut as a big time promoter, anticipates a crowd of more than 10,000. An attendance that size would gross approximately $9,000.

In the last Stadium appearance of Marshall, former member of the senior league, he went 90 minutes to a draw with Jim Londos before 8,978 spectators. Gross receipts were $15,506.

Strong Supporting Card.

A strong supporting card has been arranged. Lee Wyckoff, Columbus, O., considered by many as one of the best of the younger crop of heavyweights, will clash with George Mansor of Toronto, Ont., in the semi-final, booked for 30 minutes. Oki Shikina, Japanese jiu jitsu performer, is matched with Mike Kilonis, Schenectady, N. Y., in one of four preliminary bouts.

Frankie Sagilio yesterday was given his first layoff in three weeks from training for a ten round match with Harry Dublinsky at Marigold Gardens Monday. Manager Jack Hurley ordered the rest when the Cicero slugger appeared weighing 143 pounds, four under the agreed poundage. Sagilio will resume drills at Trafton's gymnasium this afternoon.

Amateur shows will be held tonight at Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street, and Northwest stadium annex, Irving Park boulevard and Kilpatrick avenue. Two contests at five rounds will top the program at Northwest, Ralph Waharado meeting Georgie White and Marty Cherkosky clashing with Frank Loser. Jackie Reed and Sherman Edwards, middleweight fighters, will appear in a five round attraction at the Madison club, a feature which will be augmented by four intercity encounters between boxers representing Kankakee and Chicago. The Kankakee boxers include George Dion, 147 pounds, and Gil Longton and Verle Davis, both lightweights. Dion faces Owen Woods, Longton is paired with Pete Ferrand, and Davis will meet Horace Claude.

Garden May Share in Louis, Braddock Bout

New York, Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Developments today in the proposed heavyweight fight between James J. Braddock, champion, and Joe Louis indicated a probability that the Madison Square Garden corporation will participate in the promotion. Mike Jacobs, who holds the contract for Louis' services, and Herman Taylor, who has offered Braddock a guarantee of $300,000 to meet Louis in Atlantic City in a twelve round no decision bout on Feb. 22, made that fact known after a conference.

Jacobs declared that he had invited the Garden to share in the promotion of the fight, for a share of one-third of the profits. Col. John Reed Kilpatrick, president of the Garden corporation, did not definitly reject the offer, according to Jacobs, but instead seemed to consider the proposition favorably.

Will Think It Over.

"Col. Kilpatrick said neither yes nor no to our suggestion," Jacobs explained, "but he did say that he would think the matter over, and perhaps confer with some of his directors."

Success in their efforts to get Col. Kilpatrick on their side would be a master stroke for Jacobs and Taylor, for the Garden has Braddock signed for the first defense of his title, and could place many legal obstacles in the path of the bout if it were so inclined.

DE PAUL ELEVEN AND TEXAS TECH CLASH TONIGHT

Lubbock, Tex., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—De Paul university's eleven arrived here today for its intersectional game with Texas Tech tomorrow night. Tech probably will enter the game the favorite by virtue of its triumphs over Texas Christian and Centenary.

Nine of the Chicagoans will be playing in their last collegiate game. The De Paul seniors are Capt. Hal Carlson, Maurice Washburne, and Bill Kelly, tackles; Frank Lorge, guard; Bill Muellner, end; Bill Phillips, Johnny Fay, Julian Heim, and Wally Hehn, half backs.

McLarnin Made Favorite to Beat Ambers Tonight

New York, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Jimmy McLarnin of Vancouver, former welterweight champion, will make the second start in his comeback campaign tomorrow night when he fights Lou Ambers, king of the lightweights, in a ten round bout in Madison Square Garden.

McLarnin's experience, superior punching, and a ten pound weight advantage have made him an 8 to 5 favorite with the money players, with plenty of Ambers takers.

It will be Ambers' second start since winning the crown from Tony Canzoneri in September. Three weeks ago he dropped an over-the-weight decision to Eddie Cool in Philadelphia.

McLarnin has been idle since he decisively defeated Canzoneri last month. He looked good doing that and has shown even more impressively in his drills for Ambers. He is boxing well and his timing is good.

Barney Ross, welterweight champion, who defends his title against Izzy Jannazzo Nov. 27, has signed an agreement with Madison Square Garden to meet the McLarnin-Ambers winner, regardless of the result of the Jannazzo bout.

Tomorrow night's semi-final will be a ten rounder between Enrico Venturi, Italian lightweight, and Davey Day of Chicago, a stable-mate of Ross.

TWOHIG LEAVES $350 FOR NEEDY MAROON ATHLETE

James Twohig, who was for 34 years the groundkeeper at Stagg field at the University of Chicago, left $350 to the university's athletic director for the use of a needy football player. This was revealed yesterday when Mr. Twohig's will, disposing of an estate of more than $4,000, was filed with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court. Mr. Twohig died on Nov. 13 at the age of 86 years.

Personal bequests in the will include one of $2,000 to Daniel McCarthy, 7241 St. Lawrence avenue, and another of $1,180 to Mr. Twohig's grand niece, Elizabeth Hudner. Other charitable bequests include one of $500 to St. Thomas the Apostle school, and one of $120 to the Little Sisters of the Poor. The residue is left to a sister, Mrs. H. Lehane, and four brothers, John, Patrick, Daniel, and David.

Rangers Halt Red Wings in 1 to 0 Battle

New York, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The Detroit Red Wings' undefeated record in the National Hocky league was halted tonight when the New York Rangers blanked the world champions, 1 to 0, before 10,000.

Cecil Dillon made the goal late in the opening period. Frank Boucher and Lynn Patrick earned assists on the play.

The victory placed the Rangers in a tie with the Wings for leadership of the American section of the league.

CANADIENS, 3; AMERICANS, 2

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The Montreal Canadiens handed the New York Americans their first defeat tonight, coming from behind twice to win, 3 to 2.

A third period goal by Johnny Gagnon broke the tie. Joe Lamb was in the penalty box when George Mantha gave Gagnon a pass just inside the blue line and Johnny's shot found a corner of the cage.

Allan Shields, on a long shot after faking a pass, and Hal Cotton, whose drive bounced off Goalie Wilf Cude's shoulder, gave the Americans the lead in each of the first two periods, but Aurel Joliat and Blake came through each time. Lineup:

Shore Is Left Behind; Nurses Injury to Nerve

Boston, Mass., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Eddie Shore, outstanding defense star, remained behind tonight when the Boston Bruins' hocky club entrained for Toronto. Shore is nursing a nerve injury in his right leg and will be out of action for a week or ten days. With Shore unavailable for the road trip, which will end in Chicago Sunday night, General Manager Art Ross was forced to drop Back Hooley Smith to the defense and sign Nels Stewart.

HORTON SMITH RALLIES TO WIN IN P. G. A. MEET

Defeats Goggin; Wood Whips Cooper.

up and down battle through the first nine in the morning, Jug finally going one up at the ninth. Walper squared it at the 12th, where McSpaden was trapped. Traps and timid irons cost Walper four of the last nine holes and when he went to lunch he was four down.

McSpaden went five up at the first afternoon hole, where Walper was short, but gave that back by losing a ball at the 5th. Walper missed his approach to the seventh, but McSpaden was over the ninth green. He was only three up after the tenth, needing three to get down from the edge of the green. Leo lost the 13th to a trap and McSpaden repeated the error on the next hole. McSpaden then holed a 25 foot birdie putt at the 14th. They halved the 15th. Cards:

Thomson won the first two holes of his match with Picard, but Henry holed a 30 footer for an eagle at the fifth and won the sixth when Jimmy took two shots to escape a trap. They reached the turn even. Picard was one up after the 10th, chipping stiff for a birdie, but was short at the 12th and 13th. He trapped his drive at the short 17th and lost the 18th to Thomson's 15 foot putt for a birdie.

Thomson missed a 7 footer for a half at the second in the afternoon and then matched Picard's birdies at the 4th and 5th. Jimmy chipped dead for a birdie at the seventh and turned in 34, four up. Picard laid him a dead stymie at the 12th and, after halving the next three, Picard conceded a ten foot putt and the match on the 16th green. The cards:

The Cooper-Wood morning round was a tight battle all the way, due largely to Wood's splendid recoveries and the fact that he used only 15 putts on the last 12 holes. They were even at the 9th, and after they had shared the 13th, where Wood was trapped, and the 14th, where Cooper missed the green, they halved the remaining four.

Cooper earned a good half at the afternoon second, holing a six footer after being in three traps. Wood then went one up with a 7 foot putt for a birdie at the third. Cooper lost the 6th and 7th to traps, but Craig was bunkered at the 8th. Cooper regained a hole at the 10th, by dropping a 20 footer for a birdie.

On the 13th, both were trapped, their seconds, and Wood's explosion shot landed four feet from the cup and three feet inside of Cooper's. The latter hit his oponent's ball and was two down, but got one back on the 14th when Wood drove a bunker and was short coming out. Cooper then three putted the 15th, missing a three footer, and they halved the last two. Their cards:

Morning Round.

Cooper—Out	544	543	443—36
Wood—Out	555	443	442—36

Manero didn't go to work on Cruickshank until after the first nine, which he rounded 1 up. He played the first 8 holes coming home in par, and then dropped a 12 footer at the 18th for a birdie and a 35.

Cruickshank made a great rally in the afternoon, but was still three down at the turn. They exchanged the first two holes, each missing his tee shot. Bobby took the next three with birdies, but Tony won the sixth with a three foot deuce and ran down an 8 footer at the eighth. He was trapped at the ninth. Cruickshank jumped a five foot stymie for a half at the 11th, and they halved the rest to the 15th, where Manero holed his 40 footer for a deuce and victory.

Burke's outgoing 38 was good enough for a one hole edge on Shute, but the former British champion rallied on the return trip, chipping dead for a birdie at the tenth and adding eight more pars.

Burke had evened the match at the turn in the afternoon, the draw coming at the 8th where Shute laid himself a stymie. They halved the next seven holes, and Shute went one up by sinking a 12 footer for a birdie at the 16th after coming out of a trap. On the 17th Shute laid Burke a stymie that Billy couldn't negotiate.

Mehlhorn had a comfortable two up lead on Dudley at the morning turn, and was three up at the intermission despite Dudley's eagle at the 16th, where his second was two feet from the pin, and a seven foot deuce at the 17th.

Mehlhorn lost the first hole to Dudley by falling short of the green, but Ed found a trap on the second. Dudley three putted the 8th, and Melhorn was trapped off the 9th, leaving himself still three up. Dudley lost a ball at the 12th, and was short at the 13th. Mehlhorn ended the match by sinking a 15 putt for a deuce at the 15th.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

WILDCATS VS. IRISH.

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Nov. 19.—Football relations between Northwestern and Notre Dame began away back in 1889, when the Irish traveled to Evanston for a 9 to 0 victory. It was the only recorded game of the season for Notre Dame, then in its third year of gridiron experience.

Notre Dame's points were acquired by a field goal, then counting five points, by Desra Cartier, and a touchdown by Ed Coady. S. Fleming faked a run and was followed by Northwestern defense men while Coady pushed across for a touchdown, then counting four points. In the second half Cartier traveled twenty-five yards behind a "human wedge," which probably was a variation of the noted "flying wedge" formally introduced by Harvard in 1892, later legislated out of the code because of danger of injuries.

Then as now Notre Dame's undergraduate body was drawn from widely separated communities. Here's the roster of the 1889 team: Desra Cartier, Ludington, Mich.; Edward H. Coady, Pana, Ill.; Thomas H. Coady, Pana, Ill.; Stafford Campbell, Chicago; Sydney J. Dickerson, Denver; Stephen B. Fleming, Fort Wayne; Charles R. Flynn, Denver; James R. Fitzgibbon, Newark, O.; Frank Fehr, Louisville, Ky.; Joseph L. Hepburn, El Paso, Tex.; Thomas J. McKeon, Howard, S. D.; Edw. C. Prudhomme [captain], Bermuda, La.

The Wake regrets that our authentic data on Northwestern does not precede 1890.

* *

Other Contests.

Since that first game back in 1889 no Northwestern-Notre Dame contest, no matter what the score, has lacked one or more thrills. Those that stand out in our memory are 1924, 1925, 1926, 1930, 1931, and 1935.

1924—Northwestern established a 6-0 margin over the Four Horsemen through two drop kicks by Moon Baker. In the second period Harry Stuhldreher scooted for a touchdown to gain a 7-6 lead at the half. Elmer Layden, present Notre Dame coach, intercepted a forward pass for a final 13-6 count. Notre Dame had a sequence of ten victories that season.

1925—Coach Rockne started his shock troops and Northwestern amassed a 10-0 lead on Tiny Lewis' place kick and recovery of a fumble by Tim Lowry, who crawled over the line for a touchdown. In the second half Christy Flanagan, Rex Enright, and Tom Hearndon led marches for two touchdowns without once losing the ball, with a final score of 13 to 10.

1930—Twice in the first half Northwestern fumbled within Notre Dame's 5 yard line. Marchy Schwartz's great punting, often to the "coffin corner," was a great factor thereafter. In the fourth period, with the score tied, a slugging penalty against Northwestern gave Notre Dame a break. Soon afterward Schwartz broke through tackle for a score. Dan Hanley afterward scored the second touchdown for 14-0 as an indirect result of Purple efforts through passes to tie the count. Northwestern, unbeaten except by Notre Dame, was conference co-champion with Michigan. Notre Dame won ten and lost none.

1931—Played before 65,000 at Soldier's field, with $100,000 from Northwestern's share of the gate going to charity. Northwestern was held for downs at Notre Dame's 4 yard line in the second quarter. Notre Dame blew two scoring chances, resulting from an intercepted pass and a blocked punt. Result: scoreless tie on a muddy field. Northwestern shared the conference title with Purdue and Michigan. Notre Dame lost that famous 16-14 game to Southern California, decided by Johnny Baker's place kick in the final minutes, and also to Army, 12-0.

1935—Notre Dame, on the way to an undefeated season, was beaten 14-7, details of which are still within vivid public memory. Notre Dame won seven others, including Pittsburgh [9-6], but was tied by Army, 6-6. Northwestern in the first year under Coach Waldorf won four, lost three, and tied one.

Do You Remember 'Way Back When:

We went skating, we sat on the snow on the bank of the pond and dug out the hole in the heel of our boot so we could turn the screw on the heel of our skate in it to help hold on the skate [1886]?—T. R. R., Galesburg, Ill.

fall. Then Northwestern won, 14 to 7, for the first time, ties intervening, since 1901.

There was not a whimper or avalanche of "ifs" from the coaching staf or real alumni. Instead, one semi-official Notre Dame spokesman expressed what appeared to be general sentiment when he said, "We are sorry and disappointed. There's no denying that. But if we must lose to some one, we'd rather it was to Northwestern than to any other eleven on our schedule. We've had our breaks against them. Perhaps they had the breaks this time. At any rate, we accord them full credit for their victory."

Rise of such sentiment through the last several years is why this writer takes revenge out of the dictionary of this particular series. We like it better that way.

A Few Seats Available.

So important is Saturday's game, so promising of a keen spectacular fray, that a capacity crowd is now expected. Sales already have reached 52,000 tickets, leaving 4,000 which may be obtained here and in Chicago. Notre Dame's stadium is of a bowl type construction so every reserved space, even back of the goal posts, affords a good view.

BAR SCRIMMAGE AT INDIANA FOR PURDUE CLASH

Athletes Avoid Injury to Insure Full Squad.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—For the fourth time this week, scrimmage was excluded from the practice schedule as Indiana university's football squad rushed preparations for the Old Oaken Bucket battle at Purdue Saturday. Fearing additional injuries, Coach Bo McMillin has concentrated on polishing and timing of offensive formations and the mastering of defensive assignment, but has not scrimmaged the team all week. The squad will taper off in a light drill tomorrow.

Freshmen players, emulating Purdue's eleven looked impressive against the Crimson varsity. McMillin has not decided definitly on a starting lineup for the contest, although it seems almost certain that the regular line, including Kenderdine and Beasley, ends; Livingston and Zoll, tackles; Sirtosky and Dileo, guards, and Miller, center, would take the field. Vernon Huffman, Indiana's candidate for all-American honors, will start at quarter back with the other backs to be selected from Harry Cherry, Frank Filchock, Roy Eads, G. L. Fowler, and Paul Graham.

BATTLE FOR RUNNER-UP.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Purdue's preparations for the traditional football finale with Indiana, which this year had added significance as the Hoosier rivals battle for runner-up honors in the Big Ten race, were practically completed here this afternoon with an intensive drill of defensive formations. Only a skull session tomorrow afternoon before retiring to the Lafayette Country club for the night remains before the game which will attract 30,000 people.

With only 600 reserved seats still available at the close of the ticket office, this evening, seats between the goal lines were prized possessions with late fans scurrying around in a frantic effort to assure themselves a seat.

Possible methods of stopping the scoring antics of Vernon Huffman, Indiana's all around back field star, occupied the main attention of the coaching staf as the planned defensive formations were carefully reviewed.

RESTRICT AUTOS, SAVE BEAUTY IN FOREST PRESERVE

Hike, Not Drive, Is Latest Official Rule.

BY BOB BECKER.

The automobilist and the flower picker have left their marks on the forest preserves of Cook county. Fortunately there are restrictions and road changes now in effect in the preserves which make it impossible for the motorist to damage the shrubs, seedlings and other small growth in the timbered areas because the authorities in charge of the preserves keep the motorist from rambling around through the woods on many roads.

When we visited several of the smaller preserve areas a few days ago we noticed that there were plenty of chances for us to turn off the main highway into the preserve and then park our car in a neat, new parking lot. But from this spot the invitation was to hike and not drive through the timbered areas. In the larger tracts of timber the motorist may drive to the heart of the woods over an improved road to a parking lot.

To Prevent Vandalism.

There is a reason for this regulation against touring in the woods. Caretakers on the preserves found that drivers would turn around where they pleased, thus killing wild flowers, small shrubs, and seedlings. Other drivers boldly blazed their own roads when it was possible to drive off the established routes, thus damaging the forest. Some who got stuck in the woods would demolish a picnic table to get boards to put under the spinning car wheels. These are just a few of the ways the thoughtless or careless driver damaged the forest preserves. This situation fortunately has been changed in the wooded areas within the preserves, although we prowled around on a tract of woods in a preserve above Glencoe where cars are permitted to drive a short distance beyond a parking area into the woods.

More Policing Needed.

One corner of this preserve above Glencoe offered a perfect illustration of how the public manages to destroy property in the forest preserves. And the situation also suggests the need for more adequate policing of some preserve areas.

Approaching one of the picnic grounds we saw a sagging table, one end of which was supported by the trunk of a tree. This picnic table looked as if it had taken a lot of punishment this summer. On the ground near it was the top of another long picnic table . . . all that was left of it after some picnic party had broken it up to get wood for a fire.

We could see parts of this table in the cold ashes of an old campfire. A few newspapers on the ground and a couple of deep chuck holes in the ungraveled road nearby didn't add much to this picture of a recreational area.

Woods Are Flourishing.

But in the dense growth of timber beyond this picnic ground we found preservation instead of destruction. The woods, a mixed growth of oak, elm, ash, haws, and smaller shrubs and trees, are in good condition. Thousands of young trees form a thick stand beneath the towering tops of the tall oaks.

REFUSE $30,000 FOR WINNER OF JUVENILE STAKE

Arlington Downs, Tex., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Satisfied he has just the "kind of horse we've been trying to get for years," E. Paul Waggoner of the Three D's Stock farm today refused $30,000 for Heelfly and eagerly looked toward the Kentucky Derby.

Heelfly, nervous brown 2 year old son of Royal Ford and Canfli, won the 6½ furlong Arlington Juvenile stakes yesterday in 1:17 2-5, just 1 1-5 seconds off Gallant Knight's world record, made in 1931 at Churchill Downs.

Tony Pelleteri, New Orleans sportsman, offered $30,000 for him today. A. A. Baroni, owner of Top Row, and Norman Hernandez had offered $20,000 and $15,000, respectively, before the race.

Time, 1:13 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Rough Party, $15.40 straight, $5.40 place, $4.60 show; My Surprise, $5.60 place, $3.10 show; Dancing Doll, $2.80 show. Winner, ch. f., 4, by Strolling-Player, Celebration. Owner, J. Y. Christmas. Trainer, same. Went to post at 2:06. Off at 2:06½. Start good. Won driving, place same.

ROUGH PARTY was lucky. She got through on inside entering stretch when field went wide and, closing gamely, just lasted to win. MY SURPRISE was under restraint to final furlong, where he closed fast and would have won with a stronger finish. DANCING DOLL on the outside all the way and closed fast. MINEY MYERSON displayed good speed and held on gamely. ELWAWA had speed for three furlongs, then quit.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Two year olds. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

They've Waited 4 Years to Beat Gophers.

Seven of these eleven players will be playing their last games as Wisconsin standard bearers. The four who will be back next year are Windward, Peak, Clauss, and Bellin.

More than 4,000 extra bleacher seats were put up on Camp Randall field today. They went on sale tonight. There was a brisk demand for them, but the Badger ticket authorities were of the opinion that this supply will not be exhausted until the hour of the game arrives.

GOPHER STARS AVAILABLE.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Co-Capt. Ed Widseth, tackle and Bud Wilkinson, quarter back, will be ready to take their usual places in the starting Minnesota line-up as they play their final collegiate game in the season's windup game at Wisconsin Saturday. Dr. George Hauser, team physician and line coach, made that announcement today as the Gophers held their semi-final practice.

Widseth was injured Saturday on the first play but did not divulge it until after the game. Wilkinson suffered an injury to a chronic charley horse late yesterday and spent the night in the health service to receive heat applications, just as has Widseth. Today the pair appeared in excellent shape.

The largest squad ever to make a trip in Minnesota football history will go to Madison. Only 36 of them will be allowed to don suits. The others will be taken along as a reward.

Centers—Svendsen, Stan Hanson, Elmer and Kulbitski.
Guards—Weld, Schultz, Bell, Twedell, Barle, and Allan Rork.
Tackles—Widseth, Midler, Johnson, Kilbourne, Hoel, and Marvin Levoir.
Ends—King, Antil, Reed, Krezowski, Warner, and Berryman.
Quarter backs—Wilkinson, Hunt, Ring, and Faust.
Full backs—Buhler, Spadaccini, and Whitman Rork.
Right half backs—Alfonse, Gmitro, Moore, and Bates.

The team will go directly to Milwaukee tomorrow, arriving there after dinner. They will not leave for Madison until Saturday morning, reaching the site of the game in time to run through a drill before the kickoff. The game marks the final appearance of 15 squad members.

CARDINALS FIT FOR GAME WITH CHAMPION LIONS

After four days of overtime practice the Chicago Cardinals are ready for one of the most important games on their 1936 schedule against the Detroit Lions, 1935 National league champions, at Wrigley field Sunday afternoon.

Coaches Milan Creighton, Paddy Driscoll, and Phil Handler, who, along with the players have been working overtime preparing for the game, believe the squad is fit for the battle. Catching the Cardinals crippled and without reserves, the Lions ran up a decisive victory in Detroit early in the season. Since then the Cardinals have improved immeasurably.

George Grosvenor, the brilliant and fast running half back who came to the Cards in midseason, is a great asset to the club. He was the outstanding player in both the Philadelphia and Pirate games, and if the Cardinal line holds up Grosvenor is likely to give the Lions considerable trouble.

Tough for Lions Last Season.

Last season the Cardinals held the Detroit team to a 10 to 10 tie at Detroit and then lost, 7 to 6, on a muddy field here.

The Cardinals hope to seek revenge for the 39 to 0 defeat the Lions handed them last September. If they win Sunday the 1935 champions will be knocked out of the running for the 1936 title.

Release Bill McWilliams.

The three Lions the Red Birds must keep an eye on are Earl [Dutch] Clark, Ernie Caddel, and Glenn Presnell. The trio has been a National league threat for many seasons.

Bill McWilliams, former De Paul half back, was released by the Cardinals yesterday, cutting their roster down to the league limit. This was done to keep Coach Creighton on the eligible list.

THREE LION STARS OUT.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 18. — (AP) — George [Potsy] Clark, coach of the Detroit Lions, said today his three cripples, Frank Christensen, Ox Emerson, and Ace Gutowsky, would not play against the Cardinals at Wrigley Field in Chicago Sunday.

They will be kept on the sidelines until the Lions play the Chicago Bears here Thanksgiving day, Clark said. He added that Clare Randolph, 200 pound center who is undergoing treatment for a charley horse, will see little action Sunday against the Cardinals, being used only as relief for Del Ritchhart who ran 92 yards with an intercepted pass against New York last week.

Record List of 1,416 Dogs Enters Show

A record list of 1,416 entries has been received for the twenty-sixth annual dog show of the Western Specialty Clubs association which will be held tomorrow and Sunday in the Coliseum.

This does not mean that 1,416 individual dogs will compete, since in many cases one dog has been entered in two or more classes. The number of dogs to be benched probably totals about 1,250.

Cocker spaniels lead the list with 159 entries. Dobermann-Pinschers are second with 117, and Boston terriers are third with 115. Other breeds which will compete are: Bull terriers, 92; wire and smooth fox terriers, 92; collies, 72; Pekingese, 67; chow chows, 66; Scottish terriers, 63; German shepherds, 61; springer spaniels, 57; Great Danes, 55; bull dogs, 47; Irish terriers, 47; standard schnauzers, 46; Dachshunds, 40; Airedale terriers, 36; English setters, 36; chihuahuas, 33; Irish setters, 18; Pomeranians, 26, and Kerry blue terriers, 19.

Judging will start at 10 a. m. both tomorrow and Sunday, and will probably last until at least 10 p. m. both days.

A feature of Sunday's schedule is the children's handling classes sponsored by THE TRIBUNE. Boys and girls under 16 years of age will compete in four groups starting at 1 o'clock, with three trophies being awarded in each of the four groups. Children may enter any time tomorrow or Sunday until the judging starts.

Thrilling Bouts Mark C. Y. O. North Side Quarter Finals

Joe Du Pont and Jack McDonald were outstanding in north section quarter final round bouts of the annual C. Y. O. boxing tournament last night at Loyola university gymnasium. A crowd of 1,200 applauded them and the fourteen other winners, who will join the south, west, and suburban section victors in the tournament semi-finals Monday and Tuesday night at the C. Y. O. center gym.

Du Pont's three round decision over Frank La Porta, 126 pound entrant from St. Angela's parish, was the high light of last night's card. Du Pont, a 19 year old French-Mexican lad from St. Margaret Mary's parish, fought La Porta even for the first two rounds and in the third unleashed a two fisted attack that earned the judges' decision.

Sharing honors with the Du Pont-La Porta contest in the opening division was the welterweight clash between Jack McDonald and John Krebs in the novice division. McDonald, from St. Vincent's parish, found Krebs a tough opponent, and it wasn't until the last few seconds of a fast match that he gained an edge.

Other impressive winners were Ted Hemstead, lightweight novice; Chester Pawlicz, middleweight novice, and Al Oddo, open division lightweight.

Results:

Stanford Fire Starts on Time; Thwart Bomb

Palo Alto, Cal., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—With school authorities' threats of cancelation ringing in their ears in case of violence, the University of California and Stanford campuses today seethed with explosive emotions in advance of the football game which on Saturday will add another chapter to the longest and most historic athletic rivalry in the far west.

While students at the Berkeley school continued to squirm under memory of a Stanford raid that resulted in California's mountain side Big C being painted bright red after midnight Tuesday, Stanford freshmen working on the annual bonfire pile discovered a time bomb in the débris. This pyre which burst into flames tonight at 8 o'clock, concluding Stanford's pre-game activities, had been eyed by California.

According to student officers, the bomb was found in a large packing case by Phil Kellerman, Douglas Bryan, and Al Agnew. Suspicious when they found the case packed with excelsior, the youths dug down into the box and nailed to the bottom they found an alarm closet set for 5:15. From the clock were wires leading to the dry cell batteries that were connected to a magneto. Hooked to the end was a cloth that held flashlight powder.

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford, enlarged upon his statement yesterday in which he said he might be forced to take steps to cancel the game.

"Stanford and California upon resumption of athletic relations in 1919," said Dr. Wilbur, "agreed that in case members of the student body of either university trespassed upon and damaged campus property the president of the university so intruded upon should be empowered to cancel the game."

SHAPIRO WHIPS SCHIMMEL AT FRANKLIN PARK

Eddie Shapiro defeated Dave Schimmel in three rounds in the finals of the Franklin park amateur boxing tournament at the park gymnasium last night to win the open division bantamweight championship. Sixteen other championships were awarded, eleven in the novice class and five in the open. Milt Aron, Harold Brown, and Phil Rosenberg, all of whom are Golden Gloves graduates, refereed. Open division results:

Guard Position Is Yale Problem in Harvard Game

HARVARD CONFIDENT.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Harvard wound up Yale game preparations, with the entire squad confident and in perfect physical condition. A half hour signal drill and a long workout on running attack, defense and kicking featured the crimson's final practice session of the season.

DARTMOUTH ENDS WORK.

ARMY IN LONG DRILL.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 19.—(AP)—Army held a long session in its work for the Navy game, taking on the plebe eleven in a defensive drill, and the "B" squad in an offensive scrimmage. The "B" eleven put on Navy uniforms and used Navy formations, some of which gave the varsity considerable trouble on the defensive.

PREP TITLE GAMES ARE EXPECTED TO DRAW 100,000

City Final, Nov. 28, May Attract 70,000.

Prep football's three outstanding games of the season will lure more than 100,000 to Soldiers' field within a week, it was estimated yesterday by officials of the Catholic and public school leagues and Mayor Edward J. Kelly's Christmas Benefit fund committee.

The parade to the lake front stadium will start tomorrow afternoon when approximately 20,000 will gather to watch Tilden Tech and Austin battle for the Chicago public school championship. Another 20,000 spectators are expected to see Fenwick of Oak Park and Leo play for the Catholic league title on Sunday afternoon.

This big week of high school football will come to a close when the champions of the two conferences meet for the all-city title a week from tomorrow. According to officials of the benefit fund, receipts already total $55,000 and the attendance at the contest will approximate $70,000.

Goal Is $100,000.

The benefit fund committee has set a goal of $100,000 and ticket sales indicate that amount will be reached by next Thursday. The receipts of last year's contest were more than $86,000. All remaining seats are on sale at all Catholic and public schools, the fund's offices, 33 North La Salle street, and Spaulding's, 211 South State street.

Another $275,000, according to officials, will be added to the fund's total when Mayor Kelly's committee presents the "Night of Stars" program at the Chicago Stadium Dec. 16. The committee this Christmas expects to provide food and clothing for 65,000 underprivileged children. In 1935, the combined receipts of the football game and the Stadium show were $317,000.

The four finalists for the league titles were hard at work yesterday for the two games over the week-end. Three teams will be at full strength for the contests, while Tilden Tech will be without the services of one veteran, Ed Waszak, star tackle, who helped defeat Fenger, 13 to 7, in the semi-final round last Friday.

Waszak Not Eligible.

Waszak was ruled ineligible for further prep competition when it was discovered that the tackle was a nine semester man. Fenger yesterday protested to the board of education, claiming Tilden should not be allowed to participate in the finals since Waszak was in the lineup when the team triumphed.

However, A. H. Pritzlaff, physical education director of the Chicago Public High school league, read the league rule which affects the player and not the school. Coach Chuck Palmer of Fenger made the protest. Coach Charles Harvey represented Tilden at the meeting.

SOAKS "STARCH" OUT OF WHISKERS
. . . say these famous Athletes

LOUIS MEYER, winner of the 1936 Indianapolis 500-mile race and the only driver to win 3 times, says this about Williams: "Listen, boys, when it comes to picking a shaving cream that really does a job on tough whiskers like mine, I'll take Williams."

"BRONKO" NAGURSKI, star fullback of the Chicago Bears, says: "My beard's a tough baby to soften. Williams 'Twin-Action' Cream softens each hair to the base—leaves it limp, easy to cut."

NAT HOLMAN, brilliant forward of the original Celtics, now famous coach of C. C. N. Y., says: "I shave with Williams every day. It soaks my heavy whiskers down to the base. After rinsing off the rich, thick lather, I like to finish up with a cooling dash of Aqua Velva."

3-LETTER MAN. Dartmouth's Roald Morton, who starred on the Big Green's football, baseball and hockey teams, says: "My face often felt sore and irritated from shaving until I started using Williams."

"BIG BILL" TILDEN, 7 times United States Tennis Champion and the greatest player in tennis annals, finds: "Williams 'Twin-Action' Shaving Cream wilts the 'starch' right out of my whiskers. My face feels a lot cleaner and cooler, too, when I use a dash of Aqua Velva after shaving."

Williams is "TWIN-ACTION" . . . Softens Skin . . . Wilts Whiskers Down to Base

IS your beard rough, unkempt by 5 o'clock? Then your razor is not cutting close enough. Does shaving make your face feel raw, tender? That's because your whiskers are not properly softened.

First, Williams' thick, wet lather penetrates through the oily film on each whisker, quickly takes the "starch" out of the 40,000 spiny hairs on your face.

Second, it soaks and softens the scaly outer skin on your face . . . allows your blade edge to reach right down to the base of each hair.

Soaks Whiskers Softer
Made by a special homogenizing process, Williams Shaving Cream has a greater capacity to hold water than ordinary creams.
1. It soaks the "starch" out of whiskers quicker than any other popular cream, tests show. 2. Instantly softens the scaly outer skin on your face—allows blade to shave off each hair at the base without irritation. Try a tube.

*New 1936 high.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 19.—The persistent demand for high grade bonds was again demonstrated today on the New York Stock exchange. Interest continued to center on those issues while many of the recent speculative favorites in the corporate section were allowed to drift aimlessly to moderately lower levels.

United States government obligations again established new high marks on a turnover of less than $1,000,000. Net gains ranged from 1-32 to 10-32 of a point with both direct treasury issues and guaranteed loans participating in the advance.

Volume of Trading Shrinks.

The trading pace generally, however, slackened somewhat as total sales amounted to $12,033,000, compared with $15,095,000 on the preceding day.

Trading in the domestic corporation list again lacked a uniform trend. A notable feature, however, was strength in the bonds of sugar companies. Manati issues rose 3⅛ to 3⅝ points, and Francisco 7½s advanced 3⅝ to 4½ points. Botany Mill 6½s also responded to a brisk demand with gains of 2½ to 2¾ points.

The main body of secondary railroad, industrial, and utility issues, however, tended toward slightly lower levels in moderate trading volume.

Foreign Bonds Firmer.

Foreign dollar obligations were firm to somewhat higher today with the bonds of Czechoslovakia leading the advance with gains of 3 to 3½ points. Other European loans were firm.

The successful distribution of the new issue of Argentine government 4½s today tended to enliven the market for outstanding South American issues, which were generally higher. The new Argentine 4½s, placed on the market at 92½, quickly went to a premium and were quoted late in the day at 94¾ bid, 95 asked.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Cotton seed oil was easier today under liquidation and southern selling prompted by easiness of lard and corn. Final prices were 4 to 5 points net lower. Federal Screw Works.

Investors' Guide: Kindly inform me on the financial standing of Federal Screw company.—J. W. P.

Though normally geared to activities in the automobile industry, the company has not been able to climb out of the red during the boom in automobile production since 1934.

Unsatisfactory price conditions and unfavorable operation at the Cleveland plant prior to concentration of activities in Detroit were blamed for the increase in net loss from $29,000 in 1934 to $123,000 in 1935. Losses were $149,000 in 1933, $415,000 in 1932, and $309,000 in 1931.

In the first nine months of this year net loss was cut to $14,000, compared with $106,000 in the corresponding 1935 period.

Current assets were $517,000 and current liabilities were $142,000 at the end of 1935. A balance sheet deficit of $539,000 was wiped out by reducing par value of stock from $5 to $1 in March, 1936.

Capitalization consists of 199,350 shares of common stock and $1,737,000 of 6½ per cent convertible income notes due Sept. 1, 1939. No dividends have been paid on the stock since Jan. 2, 1931, and no interest has been paid on the notes since March 1, 1932.

E. J. Brach & Sons.

Investors' Guide: Will you kindly inform me as to E. J. Brach and Sons?—A. E.

Answer: This company manufactures popular priced candies in its Chicago plant, which has a capacity of 2,000,000 pounds weekly.

	Sales.	Net income.	Income per share.
1935	$6,465,000	$330,000	$1.93
1934	5,804,000	317,000	1.79
1933	4,272,000	174,000	1.00
1932	3,763,000	2,600	.01
1931	5,143,000	152,000	.76

The company said profits and sales in the first half of 1936 both were running slightly ahead of last year.

Sole outstanding capitalization consists of 176,500 shares of no par common stock. There is no funded debt.

Dividends are being paid at the rate of 30 cents a share quarterly. A total of $1 a share was paid in 1934 and $1.25 in 1935, including extras.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was firm and unchanged today for spots at 3.70c per lb, while 1937 quota sugar advanced 5 points. Sales reported today included 10,000 bags of Porto Ricos for December shipment at 3.68c, 20,000 Porto Ricos, 27,000 Philippines and 25,000 Cubas for January to March shipment at 3.70c and 25,000 Porto Ricos for July shipment at 3.75c. Responding to continued firmness in the spot market futures were higher with new crop positions at new high levels for the season on further trade and Wall street commission house buying. There was considerable hedging by producing interests, but offerings were readily absorbed and final prices were at about the best and 3 points to 4 points net higher. Sales, 27,000 tons.

TWO UTILITIES PROPOSE VAST NEW FINANCING

Pennsylvania Power May Refund 121 Millions.

Formulation of plans for the biggest single refunding operation yet undertaken by an electric utility was disclosed yesterday, and another utility, Consumers Power company, received authorization from the Michigan public utilities commission to sell 75 million dollars of new preferred stock.

The Pennsylvania Power and Light company, a unit of National Power and Light company, is understood to be planning to call its outstanding $121,000,000 first mortgage 4½ per cent bonds due in 1981.

Since the next interest date is April 1, 1937, and the bonds are subject to call on such dates, it is considered likely the actual calling of the bonds for redemption may be delayed until after the turn of the year.

Details Incomplete.

It is undersaod that bankers already have been consulted about the proposed new issue which would replace the outstanding 4½s, though as yet it is unlikely that anything definite in the way of terms has been worked out.

Consumers Power was authorized to call the outstanding $70,682,823 of preferred stocks and to sell a new issue of $75,000,000 of $4.50 dividend no par preferred stock at an annual saving of about $850,000.

Registration of the new issue with the Securities and Exchange commission is now in course of preparation and the sale of the stock will follow the public offering of $12,000,000 of first mortgage 3¼ per cent bonds early in December to fund capital expenditures, the bonds having been registered with the SEC on Nov. 13.

Preferred Stock Outstanding.

Present preferred stocks of the company consist of $32,365,500 of 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock, $16,847,900 of 6.6 per cent cumulative preferred stock, $2,778,400 of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock, and 191,924 shares of no par $5 dividend cumulative preferred stock, all callable at 105 and accrued dividends.

Funded debt now outstanding comprises $8,168,000 of 4s, $18,549,000 of 3¾s, $18,925,000 of 3½s, due 1965; $55,709,000 of 3½s, due 1970, and $271,000 divisional bonds to be retired at maturity on April 1, 1937.

MARSHALL FIELD TO MAKE BROAD CAPITAL CHANGE

Clear Up Dividends, Reduce Charges.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Pursuing the corporate reorganization program begun a year ago directors of Marshall Field & Co. yesterday voted a sweeping recapitalization plan under which accumulated unpaid dividends on the preferred stock will be cleared up and fixed charges substantially reduced.

J. O. McKINSEY.

These changes, together with the current improvement in earnings, are calculated to place the company in an impregnable position and pave the way for resumption of common dividends later on. A special stockholders' meeting has been called for Dec. 26 to vote on the plan proposed by the directors.

Follows Earlier Changes.

Announcement of the recapitalization plan late yesterday by James O. McKinsey, chairman, followed by only a few weeks the sale of the Davis store to Goldblatt Bros., Inc., and is part of the program begun last year, when Marshall Field & Co. discontinued its wholesale division.

The plan approved yesterday by the directors falls into two main divisions:

1. The redemption of the company's $7,986,500 outstanding 4½ per cent debentures, the new funds to be provided partly by a new 5 million dollar bank loan, maturing serially at the rate of $1,000,000 a year for five years.

2. Exchange of new 6 per cent cumulative preferred shares—convertible into common stock—plus some common stock for outstanding 7 per cent preferred stock on which accumulated unpaid dividends on Sept. 30 amounted to $31.50 per share.

Preferred Stock Closely Held.

Most of the preferred shares are held by interests identified with the management. There are at present 32 preferred shareholders, thirteen of whom own all but 1,500 of the 296,190 shares outstanding. Ninety per cent of the preferred is held by the Marshall Field estate, the Joseph Field estate, Stanley Field, and the Shedd estate. In addition, 40 per cent of the outstanding common stock is owned by groups having individuals on the board of directors.

Upon consummation of the program announced yesterday the company's indebtedness would amount to $19,000,000, consisting of the new $5,000,000 bank loan, plus $14,000,000 of first mortgage bonds, maturing serially at the rate of $1,000,000 per year after five years. The $14,000,000 of first mortgage bonds include the $10,000,000 to be issued to the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, as announced in Marshall Field & Co.'s last quarterly report.

Interest Average 3½ Per Cent.

The rate of interest on the company's debt as it will be set up on completion of the refinancing plan will vary from 1½ per cent to 4 per cent. The average rate of interest during the next five years will be approximately 3½ per cent.

On its debt refunding alone the company will save $481,000 in 1937 compared with 1936 and the yearly amortization charge will be reduced from $1,500,000 to $1,000,000. In addition, the revised setup for the preferred stock will save $296,190 per year in preferred stock dividends.

The program approved by the board yesterday calls for the payment of a cash dividend on the present preferred stock of $11.50 a share, and, therefore, the exchange for each share of the present preferred and remaining unpaid accumulated dividends the following:

One share of new 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock, callable at $110 per share and convertible for ten years at the option of the holder into common stock at the rate of three shares of common for each share of the new preferred, plus five-sixths of a share of common stock.

Division of Stock Shown.

Upon completion of the proposed program the company will have outstanding 296,190 shares of six per cent preferred stock and 1,631,547 shares of common stock. The common stock closed yesterday at $24.50 per share on the Chicago Stock exchange, within 50 cents of its high for the year of $25. The low quotation for this year on the Chicago exchange was $11.25.

Chairman McKinsey said after the directors' meeting yesterday that present prospects indicated an "exceptionally heavy" volume of business between now and Christmas.

Mr. McKinsey presented a tabulated showing that in the twenty years ended Dec. 21, 1930, Marshall Field &Co., earned $160,538,666, an annual average of $8,026,933. Depression losses from 1930 to the beginning of 1936 cut total profits for the 25 years ended Dec. 31, 1935, to $147,537,557, or an annual average of $5,901,502.

The company's profits dropped from $10,297,462 in 1928 to $9,535,904 in 1929 and $4,980,806 in 1930. Thereafter followed losses of $5,144,369 in 1931 and $7,987,226 in 1932. A profit of $97,605 in 1933 was followed by a loss of $166,295 in 1934 and then a profit of $199,176 in 1935.

U.S. Officials Plan Checks on Inflation

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Immediate future policies of treasury operations, including Dec. 15 financing, the credit situation complicated by rapid inflow of foreign funds, high excess reserves of member banks, and plans to meet a possible dangerous inflationary boom were considered by Secretary Morgenthau and federal reserve officials today.

Secretary Morgenthau met the executive committee of the open market committee of the federal reserve system relative to the type of obligations, interest rates, and maturities to be offered Dec. 15.

Treasury experts, headed by Morgenthau, planned to meet Gov. Eccles of the federal reserve board and Chairman Landis of the Securities and Exchange commission in a study of the rapid inflow of foreign capital.

Discuss Credit Situation.

The federal reserve open market committee conferred with the board on the general credit situation and the growth in excess reserves, which have reached about $2,200,000,000 to form what some experts feared was a potential source of inflation.

Morgenthau asserted he would advocate extension of the lending powers of the Reconstruction Finance corporation for one year provided congress asked his advice.

A flat denial was issued by Morgenthau that his attention had been brought to any proposal for reopening of the French debt payment, rumors of which were circulated in Paris.

No hint was given by Morgenthau or the open market committee as to the probable character of the December financing when $357,921,200 in 2¾ per cent notes and $450,000,000 in discountable bills will be retired.

Confer on Foreign Investment.

Morgenthau said he had talked over the telephone with Gov. Eccles and Chairman Landis relative to the study of foreign capital in this country, estimated at about $7,000,000,000 in long and short term investments. The short term investments were said to amount to about half of the total holdings. A sudden liquidation of this short term credit and its removal from the United States would have a pronounced effect in cutting the excess reserves. However, officials said, there is no immediate prospect of such a development.

Morgenthau expects to confer with federal reserve and securities exchange officials before Thanksgiving on the foreign capital situation.

INQUIRY ON RAIL AND WATER RATES ORDERED BY I. C. C.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—(AP)—A broad investigation of railroad and waterway freight rates throughout the country was ordered today by the interstate commerce commission. The first hearing will be held here Jan. 6.

The commission acted as a result of a petition by the principal carriers seeking to retain a portion of the temporary rate increases authorized last year and due to expire at the end of this year. The commission decided to reopen the original case in which it had authorized the railroads and waterways to apply "surcharges" of varying sums and percentages to rates.

The carriers had filed their petition Oct. 23. Immediately approximately 300 shippers and shippers' organizations objected. The commission reopened the original case in order to enable shippers and carriers to proceed without having to present again much evidence that previously had been laid before it in the hearings held during 1934.

Pick Hotel Corporation Moves Offices to Chicago

The Pick Hotel corporation, which operates a chain of 15 hotels in eight states, including the Great Northern in Chicago, yesterday announced the removal of its main offices from Dayton, O., to Chicago. A staf of 20 employés in charge of L. E. Bone, assistant general manager, and O. E. Tronnes, advertising sales manager, has been transferred to the office here.

Pipeline Gas Rate Cut Sought; Move to 'Protect' Consumers

James M. Slattery, commission chairman, in making the announcement of the citation, said the commission's action was another step in connection with its efforts to "protect gas consumers in Chicago as a result of the gas company's application for a $3,000,000 annual rate increase."

The gas company inaugurated a higher rate schedule last month under an injunction issued by Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski, but was forced to drop the higher rate when the commission and the attorney general obtained a writ of supersedeas in the Appellate court. Arguments on the appeal will be heard Monday.

Charge Excessive Profits.

According to Harry R. Booth, commission attorney, the state regulatory body plans to show that the pipeline company and its affiliated concerns are making excessive profits on gas sold at wholesale to the Peoples Gas company. If this can be proven, he said, it will assist the commission in establishing that the company is not in need of higher rates. Booth recommended the citation to the commission. John M. Woodford, accountant for the commission, asserted that excess payments by the Peoples Gas to the pipeline company in 1935 were approximately $1,500,000. Hearing on the citation was set for Dec. 15.

The citation order states that Peoples Gas pays over $10,000,000 annually to the pipeline company for natural gas, which the local utility mixes with manufactured gas.

Peoples Gas Owns Interest.

According to the citation, Peoples Gas, along with Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and Western United Gas and Electric company are affiliated with the pipe line.

In 1933 the commission issued an order reducing rates of the pipeline company. The action was blocked by an injunction, but last January a modification of the contracts under which natural gas is sold here effected an annual savings of $1,000,000 annually to Peoples Gas.

Peoples Gas has petitioned the commerce commission for authority to increase its household rates by $3,000,000 annually. Pending completion of the rate case now in progress, the company through court action has attempted to put the increase into effect temporarily.

Utlities Fight Wanes on New Law, Says SEC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—The Securities and Exchange commission today hailed a decision of Robert F. Pack, president of the Northern States Power company, a 252 million dollar Minnesota concern, to register under the public utility holding company act of 1935, as "the first break" in the united front of the utilities against the New Deal's "death sentence" statute.

ROBERT F. PACK.

Although 65 utility companies complied with the law on registration, 125 holding companies had not only held aloof from registering since December, 1935, when they were required to do so, but have been vigorously fighting the constitutionality of the act in the federal courts. Pack's company was of the militant group.

Insists on Retaining Rights.

Following a conference with SEC officials Pack issued a statement saying that it was in the best interest of his company to register and that he would recommend such action to his directors. He added that he would insist, however, on retaining all constitutional rights.

It is expected that if Pack's advice to his directors is taken Northern States Power will abandon its suit against the utility holding company act started in the federal court at Minneapolis.

John J. Burns, general counsel for the SEC, asserted that the opposition against the act was cracking. He revealed that he had received information that other companies were planning to comply with the act as soon as legal questions had been ironed out.

Admits Financing Handicaped.

The principal reason for complying, Burns admitted, was that the utility companies were unable to float stock issues on the market in order to finance expansion and for other purposes when they were not registered.

A hint of the "break" was seen 10 days ago when H. M. Byllesby & Co. of Chicago filed a statement with the SEC declaring that it was not a holding company because it had relinquished holdings of stock that gave it control over numerous companies. Byllesby was the top holding company of the structure of which Northern States Power, was a member.

BANK CLEARINGS SOAR TO NEW 5 YEAR PEAK; RUN FAR ABOVE 1935

New York, Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Bank clearings in the twenty-two leading cities in the week ended yesterday soared to $7,358,694,000, the highest since the first week in October, 1931, a survey showed today. In comparison with the corresponding week of 1935, the gain was more than two billions of dollars, or 32 per cent.

At New York City clearings amounted to $4,710,071,000, a gain of 38.2 per cent over those of the corresponding week a year ago, making the highest total for the city since the week ended last March 18.

The volume at outside centers aggregated $2,648,623,000, a gain of 22.1 per cent. The totals for all centers exceeded 1935 figures by 5.9 per cent at Omaha up to 32.9 per cent at Pittsburgh.

Clearings at Chicago totaled $396,500,000, an increase of 29.0 per cent over $307,300,000 a year ago.

SMALL LOAN FIRM PLANS CHANGES IN CAPITALIZATION

Household Finance corporation yesterday called a special meeting of stockholders for Dec. 11 to approve changes in the capital structure which would substitute a simple preferred stock for the present participating preference stock and create one class of common stock by eliminating the present B shares.

It is expected, the company said, that an offer will be made to the present holders of participating preference stock to exchange their shares for other securities of the company. Shares not turned in under this plan would be redeemed for cash. New preferred would be offered to raise additional capital.

It is also proposed to increase common stock to 1,600,000, all of which would be of one class. The present common consists of 580,000 shares of class A and 520,000 shares of class B. The elimination of the B stock would be followed by a new stock purchase plan for officials and workers.

LEADING FOREIGN CURRENCIES GAIN AGAINST DOLLAR

Leading foreign currencies gained slightly against the dollar yesterday. At the same time the weekly statement of the Bank of France was issued, showing no change in gold reserves.

The French franc in New York rose ⅛ point to 4.65⅛ cents, and the pound sterling gained 1-16 cent to $4.89. The Dutch guilder, Belgian belga, and Swiss franc also advanced moderately.

The price of foreign bar silver was reduced ¼ cent in New York to 45¼ cents an ounce by Handy & Harmon, principal silver brokers, after a drop of ⅛ penny to 21 pence an ounce in London [equivalent to 46.21 cents].

DICTOGRAPH PLEA TO PREVENT SEC PROBE IS DENIED

New York, Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Federal Judge Julian W. Mack today denied the motion of Dictograph Products, Inc., for an injunction to restrain the securities and exchange commission's investigation of transactions in the stock and other activities which the company charges amount to persecution.

Judge Mack said he would "deny the motion solely on the ground that the court has no power merely on a motion of the defendant to restrain the plaintif from doing the things it is charged it is doing. This is without prejudice to your filing of a cross bill asking for the relief here sought."

Advertisers Told New Frontiers Await Conqueror

The modern frontiers of knowledge, ideas, and invention provide greater opportunities for progress than the physical frontiers of previous generations, Stanley Resor, president of the advertising firm of J. Walter Thompson, told members of the Chicago Federated Advertising club at a luncheon meeting yesterday. The new frontiers, Resor said, will never be entirely conquered. Meanwhile advertising has the job, he said, of interpreting the new discoveries.

Carbonic Net Profits Rise in Last Year

As other companies announced improved earnings for recent months, the Liquid Carbonic corporation yesterday issued its annual report for the year ended Sept. 30, showing a sharp increase in profits.

Liquid Carbonic's net profit for the year was $1,106,823, or $3.16 a share on the 350,000 shares of capital stock outstanding, compared with $903,273 or $2.58 a share in the year ended Sept. 30, 1935. Net sales rose to $13,705,977 last year, 24.4 per cent above the figure of $11,012,808 in the preceding 12 months.

"Without venturing any forecast as to the future," said W. K. McIntosh, chairman, in his report to stockholders, "it is encouraging to report that unfilled orders and incoming orders and shipments so far in the fiscal year are substantially higher than a year ago.

Utility Earns More.

Kentucky Utilities company, a subsidiary of Middle West corporation, reported net income of $329,092 in the three months ended Sept. 30, 1936, compared with $228,814 in the corresponding 1935 quarter. Operating revenues were up to $1,774,985 from $1,591,967. For the first nine months of the year, operating revenues were $4,992,270, against $4,605,347 in the corresponding 1935 period, and net income was $875,365, compared with $719,351.

The consolidated statement for Kentucky Utilities and its subsidiaries shows operating revenues of $2,312,196 for the three months ended Sept. 30, compared with $2,041,367 in the corresponding 1935 period. Net income on the consolidated basis was $424,422 against $273,586. Nine months figures showed net income of $1,052,096 this year, compared with $847,933 during the 1935 period.

Subsidiary Has Gain.

Lexington Utilities company, a subsidiary of Kentucky Utilities, reported consolidated net income of $118,910 in the third quarter, compared with $95,344 in the corresponding 1935 period. Operating revenues were $506,500 against $450,372. For the first nine months this year operating revenues were $1,356,913 and net income was $291,259, compared with $1,278,130 operating revenues and $262,988 net income in the corresponding 1935 months.

REALTORS URGE TAXES BE BASED ON INCOME VALUE

New Orleans, La., Nov. 19.—[Special.]—General revision of realty tax methods to provide for levies on a basis of income value of property was proposed today by the National Association of Real Estate Boards to replace "the false and artificial tax bases now used in the various states."

Delegates attending the annual convention adopted a resolution presented by the taxation committee calling for amendment of state laws to end "the many conflicting theories of reproduction value, sales value or computations of public officials based on their financial need," which were held to be adversely affecting sales and building activity.

The members of the committee in their report contended that the United States and Canada were "the only civilized nations" not using income as a basis for property taxes.

Scott Stores to Open 18th Unit in Chicago Area Today

Scott Stores, a variety chain subsidiary of Butler Brothers, will open its eighteenth unit in the Chicago metropolitan area today in a new building just completed at 55-41-43 Belmont avenue. This raises to 133 the number of stores operating in the Scott chain.

SWIFT, OTHER LEADING FIRMS DECLARE EXTRAS

Yule Total Now Tops Half Billion.

The dividend mill continued grinding yesterday, bringing total output for the week above 200 million dollars, and placing the Christmas dividend total well above 500 million, best since 1929.

Principal interest centered in Swift & Co., with a special dividend of 30 cents and an increase in the quarterly rate from 25 to 30 cents; Inland Steel with a special of $1.50; Abbott Laboratories with an extra of 50 cents; and Anaconda Copper Mining with an extra of 25 cents.

The Swift dividends mean a disbursement of approximately $3,538,638. The preceding special paid by the big meat packing company was 25 cents on Feb. 15, 1936.

Payment Date Set Forward.

Because of the federal tax on undistributed earnings the company changed the dates of dividend payments on this occasion. The regular quarterly dividend heretofore had been paid on Jan. 1, and in recent years, when earnings for the year permitted, a special dividend was declared in December, payable on the 15th of the following February. This year the distribution will be made Dec. 21.

The Inland Steel dividend totals more than $2,200,000. The company recently declared an extra of 25 cents in addition to the quarterly of 75 cents which are to be paid Dec. 1.

An extra of 50 cents by Abbott Laboratories was in addition to the regular quarterly of 30 cents bringing the total disbursement to $532,000.

Anaconda Votes Extra.

Anaconda Copper poured out a total of $4,337,000 in dividends through its extra of 25 cents and regular quarterly of the same amount. It will be shared by 110,000 stockholders.

Commercial Credit company, instalment finance concern, announced a special dividend of $2 a share, or $2,699,074, in addition to the regular quarterly of $1, to 14,500 stockholders. This also included the regular quarterly of $1.06¼ on the 4¼ per cent cumulative preferred.

Directors of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company added $1,675,000 to the flood of year end dividends by voting an extra of $1.50 a share.

National Dairy Products corporation announced a dividend of 30 cents on the common stock. This, the fifth dividend of 30 cents declared this year and means a distribution of $1,876,359 for the 71,000 stockholders.

Special Payment Ordered.

Directors of Noblitt-Sparks Industries, Inc., declared a special dividend consisting, at the option of the stockholder, of $1.50 per share in cash, or 1-20th share of additional stock for each share now held, and a regular quarterly of 50 cents. Stockholders are given until Dec. 12 to give notice of their election. Failure to give notice will be considered an election to receive stock instead of cash.

Directors of the National Cash Register company ordered the payment of 50 cents a common share. The dividend amounts to $804,000 and will be distributed among 16,000 shareholders. The company has paid four quarterly dividends of 12½ cents each this year.

Ford of Canada Votes 25c.

Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., placed its class A and B stock on a basis of $1 yearly by voting 25 cents a share, designated as a quarterly dividend. The total disbursement will exceed $400,000.

Directors of Commercial Investment Trust corporation voted an extra of $1.25 a share on the common stock in addition to the regular quarterly of $1.

Murray Corporation of America announced a 50 cent dividend on its common stock, the first such payment since 1929.

Baldwin to Build Thirty Engines for Milwaukee

New York, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Baldwin Locomotive company was the successful bidder today for 30 freight locomotives for the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad. American Locomotive company was awarded an order for one streamlined high speed passenger locomotive. The St. Paul had previously purchased three from the same company.

More Firms Boost Wages, Vote Bonuses

Wage increases and bonuses for employés of American corporations continued to be ordered yesterday, leading to the belief that, on the basis of such action this fall, pay rolls will be swelled by 150 million dollars annually, in addition to the 50 million dollars in Christmas bonuses for this year.

Among the wage increases yesterday was that of the Niagara Hudson system, amounting to 5 per cent, beginning Nov. 30, for the 11,000 employés receiving less than $2,600 annually.

Abbott Laboratories, Inc., North Chicago, announced that on Oct. 1 minimum wages were increased 15 per cent and that an employés' participation plan for next year was being considered.

Vote $400,000.

Commercial Credit company of Baltimore voted a bonus of nearly $400,000 to 3,400 employés on Dec. 15. All officers and employés as of Jan. 1, 1936, will receive extra compensation of one month's salary. Others will receive a flat extra compensation of $25.

About 2,000 employés of the Pet Milk company and subsidiaries will receive an extra week's wages Dec. 15, amounting to about $50,000.

American Rolling Mill company announced a wage increase of $1,750,000 annually, retroactive to Nov. 15. The company employs about 12,000 persons.

The Zion Coöperative Mercantile Institution, Salt Lake City, Utah, established in 1868 by Brigham Young and his Mormon pioneers, announced a $155,000 Christmas bonus and dividend. R. W. Madsen, general manager, said directors have declared a special dividend totaling $105,000, and an employés' bonus of $50,000.

Fansteel Boosts Wages.

Fansteel Metallurgical corporation, North Chicago, and its affiliate, Vascoloy-Ramet corporation, announced a wage increase of 5 cents an hour for all hourly workers and an equivalent increase for all piece workers, effective Nov. 16. The increase applies to about 300 employés and does not include clerical or other employés. The boost means an increase of $30,000 a year in pay rolls, or an average increase of $100 annually per man.

Eaton Manufacturing company, Detroit, announced that on Dec. 16 it will distribute a cash bonus to about 6,000 employés in its Michigan and Ohio plants of $30 each.

Directors of Noblitt-Sparks Industries, Inc., authorized a bonus in stock to employés other than officials of approximately 2,500 shares.

Shirt Concern Acts.

The New Era Shirt company of St. Louis, Mo., will pay a bonus of one week's salary Dec. 10 to its 500 employés, amounting to between $20,000 and $25,000.

Campbell, Wyant & Cannon Foundry company will pay a bonus of approximately $85,000 to employés.

E. F. Houghton & Co., oil and lether manufacturers of Philadelphia, announced payment of a bonus to office and factory employés in Philadelphia, Chicago, and Detroit and all sales offices, amounting to $8.25 per year up to ten years, for all employés making less than $2,500 a year. Those with fifteen years or more of service will receive the maximum of $110. This is the second bonus paid this year by the company.

Murray Corporation of America announced distribution of bonuses totaling more than $165,000 to 5,500 workers, the individual workers to receive amounts of $25 to $35.

ILL. CENTRAL ASKS APPROVAL OF TEN MILLION RFC LOAN

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—(AP)—The Illinois Central railway applied to the interstate commerce commission today for permission to borrow $10,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The railway wishes the money by next May 31 and will use it to meet, in part, maturity of $12,500,000 of its three year 6 per cent notes.

The carrier said in its application it was unable to borrow the funds through its banking connections. The road already owes $25,195,000 to RFC.

The Chesapeake and Ohio railroad asked the commission for authority to issue $15,315,500 of preference stock at $100 par value to be distributed pro rata to its common stock holders as a stock dividend.

DRIVE LAUNCHED TO CURB STOCK SPECULATION

Reserve Board Seeks Stringent Margins.

The federal reserve board yesterday took definite action toward curbing speculation on stock exchanges when it announced a proposed amendment to the present margin regulations which is designed to eliminate the "shoestring" speculator who operates on little or no margin.

The amendment supplements the present margin regulations which require traders to post 55 per cent margin on the market commitments. It is designed to plug a loophole in the present ruling which allows the professional "in and out" trader to escape putting up the required collateral on many of his transactions.

Submitted to Regional Boards.

The amendment was submitted by the reserve board to the twelve regional reserve banks and representatives of the security exchanges for consideration and suggestions. Replies are requested by Dec. 7, after which the board is expected to put the new rule into effect.

The present regulation governing margins, the reserve board said, allows a certain number of days within which the required margin may be provided after a purchase is made.

"A practice has developed," the board asserted, "which was not intended under this provision whereby purchasers of securities on margin sell within a period of three or four days, and by this means avoid having to furnish the required margin.

"This practice, when repeated by what is commonly known as 'in-and-out' trading, permits a continued avoidance of the furnishing of margin proscribed by the board under the law. The development of this practice has emphasized a weakness in the regulation which it is believed should be remedied in the public interest.

Proposed Amendment.

"The proposed amendment would cause the broker to require that any customer shall provide the required margin in advance of the purchase—or in any event, except in the case of purchases and sales made the same day, not later than the end of the day on which the purchase is made."

To eliminate the loophole in the present regulation the amendment changes the wording in several places and defines the terms "unrestricted" and "restricted" accounts as used in the present ruling.

As set forth in the tentative draft "the term 'unrestricted account' means an account in which the adjusted debit balance equals or is less than the maximum loan value of the securities held in the account."

The term "restricted account" is defined as follows: "An account in which the adjusted debit balance exceeds the maximum loan value of the securities in the account."

SECURITIES HELD ABROAD TAKEN OVER BY NAZIS

BERLIN, Nov. 19.—All German holders of foreign securities must deposit them with banks acting for the government, it was decreed officially today. This action, it was explained, serves the two-fold purpose of discouraging the flight of German capital, and of mobilizing the nation's reserve of foreign investments for purchase by the government if expedient.

Buying and selling of foreign bonds and shares will continue, but they must remain on deposit regardless of the change in ownership.

A list of the specific securities affected is expected to be published tomorrow. It will include not only shares of foreign companies but of some German companies preferred by investors because of their properties or affiliations abroad.

Recent hints of some such action as was taken today sent prices of foreign bonds and shares, which had been selling far above their outside value, tumbling in the boerse. The decree, it was said, resulted from the government's desire to force all funds into domestic employment.

STOCKS RECEDE; EUROPE'S CRISIS CAUSES CAUTION

Trading Volume Shrinks as Prices Decline.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 19.—Sinking into a deep trading rut, the stock market turned in a drab performance today, with most issues shading their previous closing. Losses in the list generally were small, but some shares receded as much as 2 points.

Volume declined with the recession in prices and sales for the five hours amounted to only 2,435,712 shares. Considerable evening up by professional element was reported, with the general run of traders clinging to the sidelines to await developments.

Earnings, Dividends Lose Force.

Corporation earnings and dividend payments continued favorable, yet the extra declarations were said to be largely in line with expectations and as a consequence not much attention was paid to them.

Stocks were weakest in early trading and again in the final minutes of the session. Many of the key stocks were off 1 to 2 points in the forenoon, and, although the list made a brave attempt to rally as the session progressed, it lacked the power to do little more than cut down losses.

As usual, however, there were scattered strong spots. Included in this group were Phillip Morris, which rose more than 3 points; Coca Cola, up 1⅝; Cuban American Sugar preferred, up 3; Giantanamo Sugar preferred, up more than 3 to a new high; American Agricultural, up 5, and Colgate, up 1⅝.

Several Groups Are Weak.

Largest losers in the list were the farm implements, rails, steels, motors, and silver mining issues. Amusement shares again turned out to be among the most active, but could do little in the face of persistent profit taking. The rise in the mercantile shares was halted.

Aviations, under the stimulus of large military orders, threatened to do something worthwhile, but pulled up with losses. Boeing managed to retain a fraction of an early lead of over a point. Wright Aero lost 2⅛.

Pivotal shares lost fractions to 2 points. American Can, Westinghouse Electric, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Allied Chemical, American Telephone, General Electric, and Johns Manville finished on the wrong side of the ledger.

CHICAGO STOCKS ARE EASIER IN BROAD TRADING

Stocks were lower yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange in broad trading of 146 issues and 94,000 shares. Seventy issues declined, 31 advanced and 45 remained unchanged.

Butler Brothers common accounted for heaviest trading for the second successive day, sales totaling 12,750 shares. The stock sold between 15¾ and 16⅞, a new high for the year, and closed at 16½, up ½. The 6 per cent preferred of Kentucky Utilities dropped 4 points and Central Illinois Public Service preferred was off 2 points.

U. S. GOLD SETS NEW PEAK; BANK RESERVES RISE

Business Loans Are Up in East, but Lower Here.

A further increase in the country's monetary gold supply, accompanied by an expansion in the reserves of the banking system, was reported yesterday by the federal reserve board in its weekly statement of the reserve system.

Gold stocks, which have been growing steadily for months, jumped $22,000,000 in the week ended Wednesday, the board reported. The increase brought the total to $11,127,000,000, a new peak.

Total bank reserves of the member banks of the system rose $26,000,000, while excess reserves were $10,000,000 above the preceding week.

Loans to Brokers Decline.

Commercial bank loans expanded sharply during the week in New York, according to the report on the member banks in that center. Compared with the preceding week an increase of $28,000,000 was shown, bringing the total to $1,458,000,000. Commercial loans of Chicago banks dropped $2,000,000.

A decline of $22,000,000 in loans to brokers and dealers was reported by New York banks. Other changes included a decline of $19,000,000 in government bond holdings and a shrinkage of $6,000,000 in investments other than government bonds.

Chicago banks increased their holdings of government bonds by $6,000,000 and reduced other investments by $1,000,000.

URGES U. S. BUILD MORE SHIPS TO FOSTER EXPORTS

Pearsall Says This Nation Is Behind Others.

An adequate merchant marine as an aid to American importers and exporters in competition for world trade was urged here yesterday by Charles H. C. Pearsall, president of the Colombian Line.

Pearsall addressed the annual meeting of the national foreign trade convention now in session at the Stevens hotel. Delegates from twenty-five countries are attending the conferences in an effort to work out means for expanding international trade. The convention will end today.

United States shipowners, said Pearsall, must build ships of competitive size, speed, accommodations, and impressiveness to meet the competition of maritime nations.

U. S. Marine in Fifth Place.

He said the United States is outranked five to one by Great Britain in ships with speed of 12 knots or more and stands fifth among the six leading maritime countries of the world. He expressed the hope that the new maritime act and the maritime commission will make it possible for American companies to construct much needed tonnage.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull in a message to the convention expressed the hope that American foreign trade policies would lead to "peace and prosperity for all."

"I may point to the definitly encouraging trend of our international commerce as an indication that we have made a successful beginning of our program of trade restoration," his message said.

"The tendency toward decreased trade has been stopped; in many instances reversed. Both exports and imports show consistent gains. We have embarked on a policy of commercial peace."

Strawn Urges Coöperation.

Financial and economic coöperation with foreign countries rather than political coöperation was urged by Silas H. Strawn, Chicago attorney and former president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He spoke at the evening session last night.

"While our prosperity demands a favorable balance of trade, "Strawn said, "it is equally true that the maintenance of a large volume of imports is as essential to our progress as is the maintenance of a large volume of exports.'

EGGS, POTATOES REACH NEW PEAKS, REACT LATER

Egg futures advanced ½ cent early yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange, December contracts touching 29¾ cents a dozen, the highest level since December, 1929. Heavy profit taking developed on the bulge and a reaction followed with the close unchanged to ⅛ cent higher, with December at 29½ cents. Sales of futures aggregated 251 cars.

A new peak for potato futures was established on March contracts which sold at $3.43 per 100 pounds, but profit taking caused a reaction.

Butter closed ¼ cent higher, with the deferred deliveries at a new high for the season. Sales were 351 cars. Prices follow:

WARNS OF UNDUE OPTIMISM OVER BUSINESS FUTURE

Thorp Reports Signs of "Boom Psychology."

Willard L. Thorp, director of economic research of Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., said yesterday that the country appears to be entering a period of "optimistic error."

"Already, I find evidence in isolated spots," he said, "of the appearance of a 'boom psychology.' With expanding consumer purchasing power, interest rates low and six years of enforced consumer economy behind us, some are seeing no limit to the current upswing."

Thorpe spoke at the final session of a two day convention of the American Finance conference at the Hotel Sherman. The association is a trade organization of finance companies dealing in instalment paper.

Fears New Depression.

"If depression is around the corner behind us, it is also bound to be round the next corner in the future," Thorpe said. "The problems of prosperity are more difficult than those of depression. I know of no condition which is more dangerous for a business than a period of sustained high profits."

He said there was a need for "economic leadership" to meet the "problems of prosperity." Chief of these problems, he said, are the "character of the current upswing" and the "long-run trend of increasing government participation in economic activity."

Burocracy Steadily Growing.

There may be some slackening, he said, of government participation in economic activity during periods of prosperity, but the long run trend has been one of steady expansion.

"The trend must be recognized," he said. "Frankly, no honest man can be content with our economic system as it attempts to function today."

E. H. McDermott, Chicago attorney, told the conference that the undistributed earnings tax enacted by the last congress is an example of the new policy of imposing taxes to bring about social changes rather than for the purpose of raising revenue. The levy, he said, tends to drive business to the capital market for new funds because it cannot finance itself out of earnings without a heavy tax.

FEEBLE RALLY IN GRAIN LOST; CLOSE IS LOWER

Liquidation of December Futures Responsible.

The grain markets made a feeble attempt to advance early yesterday, but the upturn was short lived. Liquidation by holders of December contracts developed and prices gradually worked to lower levels. Closing prices on grain futures were the lowest of the day. Wheat was a cent lower to ⅛ cent a bushel higher, corn declined ⅜ to 1⅜ cents, oats lost a small fraction and rye futures dropped 1⅜ to 2⅛ cents. Soy bean futures gained ½ to ¾ cent a bushel after being as much as 3 cents higher.

Easiness in wheat and corn was due largely to selling of December grain contracts by speculators who were buying May futures.

Open Interest Moderate.

Nov. 30 will be the first day for the issuance of notice of intention to deliver cash grain on December contracts. At the opening of business yesterday there was a total of 36,754,000 bushels of uncompleted December wheat contracts and 21,631,000 bushels of December corn.

	Yest.	Wed.	Wk. ago.	Mo. ago.
Wheat	$1.16½	$1.17½	$1.15⅝	$1.15
Corn	1.04¼	1.05⅜	1.02⅛	.94½
Oats	.44⅛	.44⅞	.43⅛	.41⅛
Rye	.92⅛	.93⅞	.87⅛	.83
Soy beans	1.31⅛	1.31	1.25⅜	1.24⅛

July wheat again showed relative strength compared with December and May, both in Chicago and Kansas City. This was attributed to continued dry weather in the western sections of the winter wheat belt and to buying of July, a new crop future, against sales of December and May, which represent the 1936 harvest.

Argentine Corn Arrives.

A steamship with 95,000 bushels of Argentine corn was unloaded at Chicago Wednesday. Argentine corn for March shipment was offered at 95½ cents a bushel, delivered at Chicago, duty paid. The price was 2 cents a bushel below the closing level of old May corn contracts.

Cash corn prices in Chicago yesterday were as much as 3 cents a bushel lower. Offerings for deferred shipment from the country were again reported light.

PRICE OF HOGS DECLINES HERE; PORK HIGHER

Hog prices were steady to 10 cents lower here yesterday on the heaviest Thursday receipts since the drouth run of December, 1934. The decline occurred despite a rise in fresh pork prices and another decrease in slaughter supplies at other leading packing centers. Yesterday's Chicago run was estimated at 36,000 head, more than double the supply handled on the same day last year. Both the top and average price declined 5 cents to $9.75 and $9.45, respectively.

The largest Thursday sheep receipts since March sent lamb prices tumbling 25 to 50 cents. A few lots reached $9.25 in the forenoon and packers paid as high as $9, but at the close the latter interests were demanding close sorts on top grades of stock at $8.75.

Demand for cattle swung into cheaper grade steers as buyers endeavored to check rising live costs yesterday. Most steers valued at $9 or less met lively competition at steady to strong prices, but others, particularly stock with weight, were extremely slow and were ruled weak to 25 cents lower.

CLOSING COTTON TRADES UNEVEN; SPOT ADVANCES

A liberal part of yesterday's trading in cotton futures was selling of December contracts by speculative holders who replaced their lines with purchases of the deferred months. Trade interests bought the December. An announcement that the government had let contracts for over 6,000,000 yards of cloth to supply WPA needs brought in some buying orders.

Closing cotton trades in Chicago were 7 points lower to 2 points higher. Other American markets closed unchanged to 5 points higher. [A point equals 1-100 cent a pound or 5 cents a bale.]

Spot cotton closed unchanged to 5 points higher, with New Orleans and New York at 12.25 cents; Houston, 12 cents, and Galveston at 11.90 cents a pound. Prices follow:

"THE ONLY REAL FUN IS HARD WORK"

A friend of mine recently saw this statement on the wall in Dr. Mayo's office at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. This is a true statement.

In our organization we have many men who are having real fun working hard at their job. They are able to buy new cars, refurnish their homes, and educate their children as well as have many other pleasures that money helps them get. Why not go to work for yourself? Become interested making money and get the pleasures out of life that men are entitled to have that are willing to work. We consign your merchandise [a new type of electric unit], put you in business, and assist you in getting started. You receive a dealer's percentage about $40 to $50 per week at the start. No investment required. Permanent employment. Opportunity for advancement. Every applicant will be granted a personal interview. Apply 203 N. Wabash, ROOM 618.

AMBITIOUS MEN.

1. A rising Real Estate market. More buyers today than in the past 6 years.
2. FHA approval of our property, the kind that is in demand. More than 200 homes already built. Others under construction. You need make no vague promises about our property. All you have to do is show what is actually happening, the rapid development, the paved streets, park, school, church, golf course, business center, all the features people want when they buy for homes or investment.
3. Organization: This firm leading its field is well established and financially able to give you the fullest co-operation; live leads; expense money and comm.; transportation, and skilled executives to help you close your deals.

No experience necessary. If you are honest, over 25, and willing to work, apply in person, Room 425. ROBT. BARTLETT REALTY CO. 111 W. WASHINGTON-STREET.

Announcing

the most revolutionary loan plan ever offered.

Promise-to-Pay PLAN

No Security—No Endorsers.
No Wage Assignments.

Just Your Plain Note

Now you can get a loan on just your Promise-to-Pay. If you can make regular payments, sign only a plain note and nothing else. It is just like borrowing from a friend on a simple I. O. U.—no endorsers, no wage assignments, co-makers, furniture, real estate, stocks, bonds, diamonds, or other security required. We take you at your word and give you the money you need on just your Promise-to-Pay. Unbelievably simple, yet there is no catch to this offer. Your honesty, integrity, and ability to pay are absolutely the sole requirements for a loan on the New Promise-to-Pay Plan.

Reduced Rates

Monthly charges are 3% on balances up to $100 and only 2% on balances above $100. Also all other types of loans at the same reduced cost. For full particulars, telephone, write, or stop in the office nearest you.

COMMONWEALTH LOAN CO.
BUSINESS ESTABLISHED 1887.

BORROW at HOUSEHOLD
on your OWN Signature
REDUCED RATES
ON ALL LOANS ABOVE $100.
HOW YOU CAN BORROW.

1. If you can make monthly payments you can qualify for a loan.
2. You do not need co-makers or endorsers.
3. No inquiries made of employer or friends.

HOW YOU CAN REPAY.

1. Payments on all loans are small. For example payments on a $200 loan are $10 per month plus interest charges on a 20 month schedule.
2. Monthly rate is 2% on the balance above $100, 3% on $100 or less. On $200 repaid in 20 months this is substantially less than the lawful maximum on loans over $100.

No Endorsers.

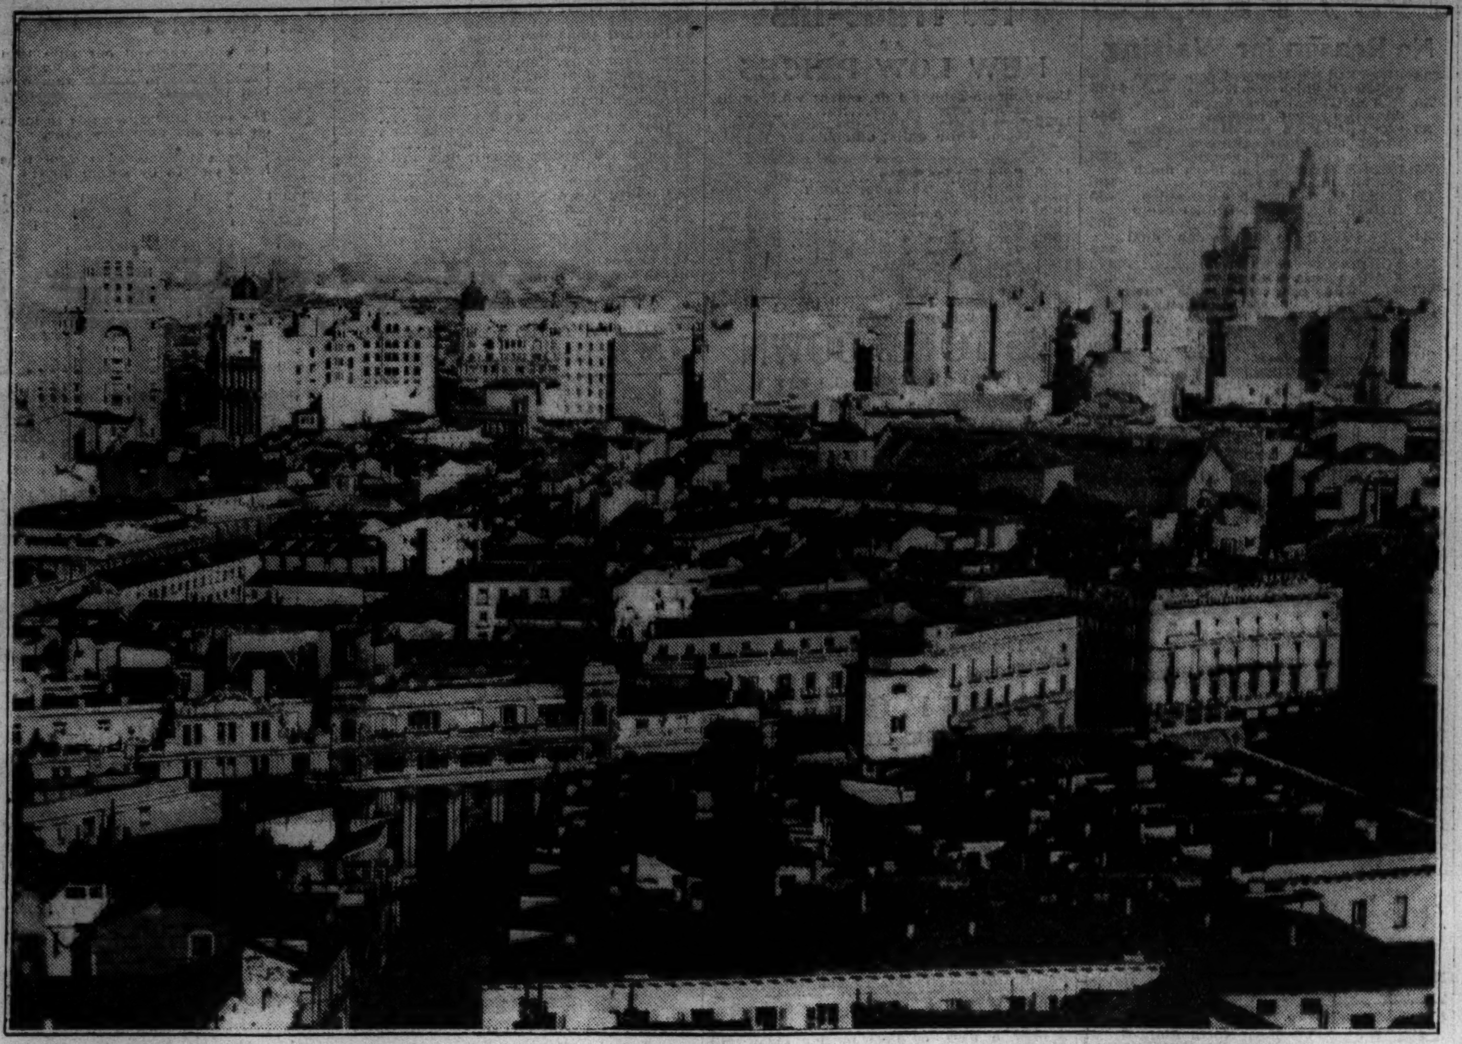
Spanish Rebel Planes Rain Death and Destruction on Heart of Madrid—Britain Hits Rebel Blockade



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

FASCIST SOLDIERS ON THE MARCH INTO OUTSKIRTS OF SPANISH CAPITAL—Carrying the insurgent flag at the head of the column, these rebel soldiers are shown marching in broken ranks as they advance on Madrid to battle loyal defenders. Despite death dealing air raids, the Fascists have so far been unable to penetrate farther than the outskirts of the city, so desperate has been the resistance of civilian defenders. (Story on page 2.)

[Associated Press Wirephotos.]

BENDIX WORKERS ENTERTAIN SELVES WHILE WAITING PEACE MOVES—Employes in the brake assembly department of the closed plant in South Bend, Ind., listening to music provided by improvised band of two accordions and two oil barrels for drums. The plant was closed because of labor controversy. (Story on page 1.)

PERCH FROM WHICH WORKMAN FELL
WHERE FALL WAS CHECKED AND RESCUE MADE
WORKMAN BEING LOWERED TO SAFETY

RESCUED FROM PERILOUS PERCH—Bob Verieter, St. Louis steeplejack, being lowered to safety from chimney at Granite City, Ill., yesterday after being caught in guy wire when he fell from his perch near top of stack.
